

Bi-annual project to begin this week

Carolina Symposium explores East Asian culture

by Gail Bronson Feature Writer

East Asian culture is the topic for the 1974 Carolina Symposium to begin Thursday, March 21 and continue through Thursday, April 4.

The symposium, "East Asia: Perspectives and Projections," will examine religion, politics, economics, medicine, music, art and poetry.

Featured speakers include Pulitzer Prize-winner David Halberstam, author of the best-selling book The Best and the Brightest, concerning United States involvement in Vietnam and Frances Fitzgerald, author of Fire in the Lake.

Other speakers include Ross Terrill, CBS news commentator during President Nixon's trip to China and Edwin Reischauer, former ambassador to Japan.

The Symposium is a bi-annual project, alternating each year with the Fine Arts Festival. The public is admitted free to all programs except the Martial Arts Exhibition and the Peking Opera. Tickets for these events will be available at the union desk.

Symposium chairman John Crimmins, senior Asian studies major, has coordinated the project with the help of 15 students.

Crimmins said he got the idea for the program when he visited Korea, Japan and Southeast Asia two years ago.

Approximately $15,000 will be spent on this year's program. It is funded by the Campus Governing Council's $3,000 allocation and donations by various academic departments, outside foundations, private donors and fraternities and sororities.

Scheduled events are:

Entertainment Calendar

Cinema

"The Sting." Carolina Theatre. Con comedy is itself a con with some pretty moidy material being turned into excellent by some talented hands. It's too big and tends to drown in overproduction, but it's a sure fire audience pleaser. 1:50, 4:10, 6:30 & 8:50. $2. Ends Thursday. Late show: Friday and Saturday, "Where Does It Hurt?" Sunday, "The Andromeda Strain." All shows at 11:15. $1.50.

"Sounder." Varsity Theatre. 1, 3, 5, 7 & 9. $2. Ends today. A special preview of "Groove Tube," a new 90-minute movie mocking television, will be shown Thursday at 1 p.m. followed by a discussion with the director, producer and star of the film, Ken Shapiro. Free to the public. Late show: "Heat." Friday and Saturday at 11:15. $1.50.

"Bootleggers." Plaza I. Trashy, hick film. 2:40, 4:50, 7 & 9:10. $2. Ends Thursday.

"Billy Jack." Plaza II. For the teeny-boppers again and again and again. 2:45, 4:55, 7:05 & 9:15. $2.50. Ends Thursday.

"The Exorcist." Plaza III. William Friedkin brings to this devil film the same slam-bang direction he brought to "The French Connection." Some of it is effective at the moment, but the film as a whole is pure manipulative trash. Disgusting in more ways than one. 2, 4:30, 7 & 9:30. $3. Ends today.

"Rebel Without A Cause," with James Dean. Today at 6:30 & 9 in Murphy Hall Auditorium. Free.
