

Surveyed on impeachment

N.C. representatives hesitant

by Robert McDonald
Staff Writer

WASHINGTON—The way N.C. Congressmen vote on the issue of impeachment will be primarily determined by the contents of the forthcoming House Judiciary Committee report. None of them have yet come out either for or against impeachment, though several are against impeachment on the basis of what is now publicly known about the actions of President Nixon.

The general feeling in the N.C. congressional delegation was one of caution and uncertainty about the issue of impeachment. One congressional aide said most congressmen would be very happy if the issue never came to a vote.

The key to all the uncertainty is the Judiciary Committee report. As of now it is a giant question mark. No one is willing to take any stand because no one has any real idea what the report will show.

News Analysis

One critical area in which most N.C. Congressmen are indecisive is the question of what constitutes an impeachable offense. Jones was the only congressman who attempted to define an impeachable offense.

"I think the constitution is very specific," Jones said. "A violation of trust in office, violation of the oath of office, and high crimes and misdemeanors (would be impeachable)."

The congressmen agreed, that indictable crimes are impeachable. But whether evidence of a "gross abuse of office," which the Justice Department has said is impeachable, would warrant impeachment, no one would say for sure.

Larry Bowles, a legislative assistant to Rep. James A. Martin (R.), said he thinks people are being misdirected by that debate. "There are plenty of allegations (about criminal activity)," he said.

Bill Russo, a legislative aide to Rep. James Broyhill, R-Tenth District, also said he thinks the debate is misleading to the extent that "it's hard to imagine a gross abuse of office that wouldn't involve criminal activity."

While no N.C. Congressman has openly admitted that his final vote will be based on anything other than the evidence, some of the aides contacted said there will inevitably be a political component to each congressman's decision, since congressmen are politicians.

"I'm sure that many of them will be affected by political considerations, but many will also be sensitive to being jurors," Tom Lambeth, administrative assistant to Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-Sixth District, said.

"It's impossible to assume that every member will look at it judicially. Obviously we operate in a political arena—there are those who feel political considerations should play a part," Charles Whitley, administrative assistant to Rep. David Henderson, D-Third District, said.

Most of those contacted said they felt Watergate is not the political dynamite it once was and that it is no longer the foremost issue in the minds of voters. But in several districts—those of Broyhill and Henderson—voters are reportedly outraged over the alleged tax evasion by President Nixon.

The congressional report on the President's taxes which is expected in about a month, coupled with the Judiciary Committee report on impeachment, expected by July, could once again anger voters about the issues and spell headaches for congressmen, most of whom will apparently try to be impartial and at the same time be re-elected.

YM-YWCA to hold Walk for Humanity

by Jim Bule
Staff Writer

The Chapel Hill-Carrboro YM-YWCA will hold its 25 mile annual "Walk for Humanity" this Saturday.

The walk is held to raise funds for local and international development projects. It will begin at 8 a.m. at Carmichael Auditorium and will follow a circular pattern through the Chapel Hill and Carrboro area.

Bill Liles, a student coordinator, said people are still needed to walk and sponsor walkers.

A sponsor may be any individual, organization or business who agrees to contribute a certain amount per mile the walker completes.

Liles said people are also needed to donate food and serve lunch at the Church of Reconciliation near Eastgate.

In the past, the walk has raised between $10,000 and $15,000. The average number of walkers has been 500. Liles noted that last year there were 350 participants in rainy weather.

This year, funds from the walk will be donated to several local and international efforts. Forty per cent will be given to the Inter-Church Council for training and loans to needy families and individuals in the Chapel Hill area. The Ridgefield Day Care Center will receive 10 per cent of the gross, while the Orange County Welfare Union and the Twin Streams educational center will receive two and one half per cent each.

Internationally, 15 per cent of the total will go to the American Friends Service Committee for relief work to North and South Vietnam, and 15 per cent will go to the World University Service to provide aid to students of foreign schools and to relieve refugees in the drought stricken Sahel region of West Africa.

People interested in helping or participating in the walk should meet at Carmichael Auditorium between 7 and 7:45 a.m. Saturday or call the YM-YWCA at 933-7535. Checks should be made payable to the "YM-YWCA Walk."

Staff photo by John Locher

Advertiser parades campus

Carolina Symposium presents

Pulitzer Prize winning journalist
Peter Arnett

Southeast Asia: Evolution & Revolution

Sunday, March 24th
Gerrard Hall 8:00 p.m.

SELL BUY TRADE ALBUMS, BOOKS, TAPES

TOWN HALL EVERY SATURDAY 11 to 6

Chinese Dinner

Eggroll, eggdrop soup, sweet and sour pork, chicken almond, fried rice, tea and cookie—all for $2.50 for adults, $1.00 for children. Saturday, March 23, 4-9 p.m. at the Wesley Foundation, 214 Pittsboro. Proceeds to Community School for People Under Six. Tickets available at Hillel, 210 W. Cameron or at the door.

Campus Calendar

Today's Activities

The report of the Task Force on Handicapped Students' Needs and Problems, to the Faculty Council, at its meeting today, at 4 p.m. in Hamilton Hall.

There will be interviews for Student Body Treasurer in Suite C of the Student Union today from 12 noon until 4 p.m. Persons interested should call the secretary at 933-5291 or come by.

Come and have good Southern cooking and meet folks from Surban Partners, a Christian collective in Durham, tonight, at 8:30, at the Wesley Foundation. Call 942-2152 for reservations. Cost: $1.50. All profits go to Surban Partners.

Nursing Research Symposium. Topic: "Resolving Dilemmas in Practice Research: Decisions for Practice." Place: 15 Carrington Hall. For further information call Anne Burns, 933-1411, Ext. 286. Time: 9 p.m.

There will be a meeting of the health and behavioral science group at 12 noon in room 249 of the School of Public Health.

Today at 4 p.m. there will be a lecture by Gary Snyder in room 101 Greenlaw. The topic will be Zen Buddhism and Pleistocene Man.

Coming Events

There will be supper at the Battle House (Rappier Campus Ministry) at 6 p.m. Sunday, followed by a program featuring James Reason speaking on the "Second Standard for Impeachment." There will also be a special program on Death and Dying at 7 p.m., Monday.

The Rugby Team will play N.C. State on the field below the Forestry School on the State Campus at 12 noon on Saturday. Bash following.

Anyone interested in joining a Jewish Scrabble game come to a meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday or 3 p.m. Sunday in the Frank Porter Graham Lounge of the Student Union.

Chapel Hill Friends of the United Farmworkers will again picket the Town and Country A&P store on the corner of Airport Road and Hillsborough Street on Saturday from 12 noon to 2 p.m. All interested people are invited to come by and NOT shop.

Chapel Hill Bible Church is holding a "coffee house" at the Cocheast, 321 Country Road, Saturday evening at 7. Fellowship, food, fun.

Applications for residence in the International Housing Projects are available for any student at the International Student Center at Carr Dorn and at the University Housing Office in Brynum Hall. Students may apply to live in either Carr Dorn (man's residence hall) or Third Floor Blicher Dorn (women's residence hall). Final deadline for turning in applications is Sunday. Applications may be turned in to Steve Porter in 210 Carr Dorn. Call him at 933-7855 for information.

The Collegiate Christian Club will meet in the South Gallery, Student Union, Monday at 7:30 p.m. Plans for the Apple Cider Blue-A-Then will be discussed.

Gay Awareness Rap Group will meet Monday at 7 p.m., at 210 Pittsboro Street.

Professor Martin C. Neffler, University of New Mexico, will speak on "The Evaluation of the Military Role in Politics," Monday at 10 a.m. Room 103 in Hanes Hall.

The Order of the Grail will sponsor a medicine seminar Monday, from 8-10 p.m. in the Frank Porter Graham Lounge of the Carolina Union. Four local distinguished physicians representing various medical disciplines will answer questions and discuss various aspects of contemporary health-care delivery. The seminar is open to all students.

Frederick Wiseman, filmmaker and former professor of law at Boston College, will speak on "Eying American Institutions through Documentary Films," at 8 p.m. Monday in Gross Chemistry Auditorium at Duke University.

The Film Committee will be holding interviews for next year's membership Monday through Friday March 26-30. Applications and sign-up sheet are available at the Union desk.

Dr. William Wilson will speak Monday at 12 noon at the Faculty Luncheon in Chase Cafeteria. All faculty members are invited.

Duke Power control contested

by Jim Roberts
Staff Writer

The Orange County Citizens for Alternative Power are planning to block Duke Power's purchase of the University utilities when the case comes up before the utilities commission.

Bob McMahon, a member of the ad hoc citizens committee said "many steps are required before Duke can take over the utilities, and we plan to try and block each step."

The first step is that a franchise must be granted to Duke by the local government.

In order to prevent the franchise being given to Duke, a good deal of citizen support would have to be enlisted, McMahon said.

McMahon said he believes that public ownership of the University utilities would keep rates lower than they would be with Duke.

"Citizens should have some control over industries that come to Chapel Hill," McMahon said.

McMahon also noted that the current energy crisis also necessitates public ownership of power utilities. With prices going up and availability of power going down, only the people who use the energy should decide how it is used, McMahon said.

Racial suits that have been brought against Duke power are another reason McMahon cites in defense of public ownership: "These suits might indicate employment practices of Duke which would not benefit the citizens of Chapel Hill who would work for Duke."

The Orange County Citizens for Alternative Power has been an informal group, in operation only a few months.

At a meeting Thursday night the group formalized its structure in order to increase its effectiveness in organizing public opinion against Duke and in hopes of influencing the utilities commission.

The group has not needed the help of a lawyer yet, and McMahon does not expect to in the future. McMahon said the group does wish student help for the project, and that those students who want to help can call Bob Hall at 942-1218.

"Public ownership of utilities is very timely for the town. It is one of the bigger decisions that will affect the people this year," McMahon said.

Law School tours

Women-in-Law are sponsoring a recruitment week-end today and Saturday. Women interested in the UNC Law School are invited to visit law classes today and attend panel discussions Saturday.

Registration is 8:30-5:00 today in the lobby of the law school. The schedule of events includes:

Friday: 9-2:30, classes; 4:30, welcome and arrangements for transportation and housing in room 5; 5:30, picnic with law students and faculty.

Saturday: 9:00, address on "Mechanics of Admission" from Dean Gelblum, room 2; 9:30, panel of women law students, room 5; 1:00, panel on career opportunities, room 2; 1:00, buffet lunch.

The panel on career opportunities will include Gretchen Dunn, Chapel Hill attorney; Reita Pendry, legal aid lawyer from Winston-Salem; Elizabeth Peterson, Durham attorney; Jean Boyles, Chapel Hill police attorney; Gail Richmond, UNC law professor; and Ann Beddingfield, former assistant city attorney in Raleigh.

THE GREAT AMERICAN FOLK WINE GREAT AMERICAN POSTER OFFER.

Pass the Jug. Pour the Jug. Jug-a-lug. Jug is the Great American Folk Wine. In Apple or Strawberry Glen. Full of the crisp cold bite of fresh-picked country apples or sweet juicy strawberries.

When you finish a jug of Jug, you can put a candle or daisies in it for a romantic meal. Or blow your favorite tune on it.

Enough sell. You want a Great American Poster? Send us just $1.00. Our Great American Poster measures 24" x 26". Resplendent in full color. Complete with painted-on frame.

If you're decorating your room in American Gothic, it will fit right in. Get yours fast for a mere $1.00 (no stamps please) before we run out.

JUG GREAT AMERICAN POSTER
12 E. Grand Ave. Room AA
Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Please send me _____ posters, for which I have enclosed $ _____
Send my poster to:

Name _____ please print

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Offer good until February 1st, 1975. Void if restricted or forbidden by law. Available only in U.S.A. Please allow 4 weeks for delivery. Poster Guarantee: If you receive a damaged poster, simply return it to the above address and you will receive a new one.

Crossword Puzzle

- | | |
|------------------------|-------------------------|
| ACROSS | DOWN |
| 1 Hits lightly | 1 Hurl |
| 5 Male swan | 2 Singing voice |
| 8 Comfort | 3 Stab |
| 12 Exchange premium | 4 Planter |
| 13 Anglo-Saxon money | 5 Food fish |
| 14 Mountains of Europe | 6 Conjunction |
| 15 Cooked slowly | 7 Cry of sheep |
| 17 Points of view | 8 King of birds |
| 19 Painful spots | 9 Refer to |
| 20 Escape | 10 Hurried |
| 21 Steep, rugged rock | 11 Actual being |
| 22 Vanished tree | 16 Brother of Jacob |
| 24 Imitate | 18 Girl's name |
| 25 Asian sheep | 22 Avarice |
| 26 Be mistaken | 23 Abstains from food |
| 31 Compass point | 24 Hard-wood |
| 32 Dawn goddess | 25 Edible seed |
| 33 Three-toed sloth | 27 Island in Aegean Sea |
| 34 Ugly, old woman | 29 Hurried |
| 36 Remains at ease | 30 Inlet |
| 38 The urial | 35 Classifies |
| 39 Electric catfish | |
| 41 Classify | |
| 43 Outspoken | |
| 45 Emporium | |
| 46 Climbing device | |
| 50 Sell to consumer | |
| 51 Arrow poison | |
| 52 Time gone by | |
| 54 Aleutian Island | |
| 56 Soviet news agency | |
| 57 Merry | |
| 58 Final | |

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle

ELI LEAST PAW
RAN ALTER ALA
APT MITRE RED
ERE EVERT
SERE ASE AIDE
TAN PT DICED
GAIN PANIC
METER DEN POP
ODIN HEW DAYS
OTHER HOT
DON ELIDE IRE
IRA ROVER OUR GAL STEED NEE

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12				13				14
15			16				17	18
19							20
21
22
23
24	25		26		27			28	29	30
31										33
34	35		36				37		38
39
40
41							41	42
43	44								46	47
48							49	50
51						52	53		54
55
56						56			57	