

Reorganization plan passed

by Helen Ross
Staff Writer

A new assistant town manager in charge of public safety was included in the governmental reorganization proposal approved by the Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen Monday night.

William D. Blake, police chief of Chapel Hill for 16 years and a 33-year veteran of the force, will become assistant town manager for public safety.

Town manager Chester Kendzior said Blake's job will be to supervise all phases—detective, traffic and administration—of police services, emergency services, animal control, civil preparedness and planning for protection of persons and property.

Kendzior said he hopes Blake will be able to develop planning and training suggestions to streamline the various departments under his supervision. A new police chief is expected to be named in six weeks, Kendzior said.

It was announced earlier that Kurt Jenne, former director of urban development, is to fill the vacant position of assistant town manager in charge of community development and services. Jenne will oversee the planning, building inspection, human services, recreation, library and transportation departments.

This reorganization of the administrative part of town government will still leave the finance director, fire chief, public works director and assistant to the town manager for employee services reporting directly to Kendzior.

Mayor Howard Lee said the reorganization plan has been under consideration for six years. Alderman R.D. Smith expressed the hope that the reorganization would delegate responsibilities more effectively to free the town manager to carry out board policies.

By a 4-2 vote the aldermen also supported the statewide constitutional amendment which would allow local governments to sell revenue bonds to private industries to finance pollution controls. Voters throughout the state will decide this issue at the polls on Nov. 5.

Alderman Gerry Cohen objected to the measure commenting that it was the only tax benefit enacted by the 1974 legislature and offered no relief for the average taxpayer. Alderman Alice Welsh voted with Cohen against the amendment.

Besse criticizes bill to delay PIRG vote

Calling the bill which may postpone the N.C. Public Interest Research Group (PIRG) referendum to spring 1975 "another blow to our credibility," Campus Governing Council (CGC) representative Dan Besse outlined his plans to block the bill at a meeting of People for PIRG Monday night.

Approved by the rules committee, the bill was scheduled to have gone before CGC Tuesday night.

"Passing the bill will demonstrate bad faith on the part of CGC," said Besse, who sponsored the original PIRG amendment.

Introduced to the CGC rules committee by Student Body President Marcus Williams, the bill will postpone the referendum scheduled for Nov. 2 until the campus elections in spring 1975.

Besse said he would oppose Williams' bill on constitutional grounds. Since the bill was not introduced to the CGC 48 hours ahead of the scheduled meeting, Besse said, it will take a two-thirds vote to get it on the floor.

Williams' bill was also late in other senses, Besse said, in that preparations for the referendum are already underway.

Williams gave two reasons for postponing the referendum. Because the PIRG referendum will be voted on in a special election, there will probably be a low, unrepresentative turnout.

Correction

A quote from Dr. Gerald Unks, coordinator of the London study-travel program offered for next summer, should have read that the tour "may be less expensive, per credit hour received, to receive six hours in four weeks in London than it is to receive six hours in six weeks in Chapel Hill." The Daily Tar Heel reported Tuesday that the tour would be "more" expensive.

Foushee gets hearing delay

A hearing for Carrboro Alderman Braxton Foushee, charged with disorderly conduct, assault and battery and resisting arrest at the UNC-Pittsburgh game Oct. 5, was postponed Tuesday until Nov. 21.

Barry Winston, Foushee's attorney, asked for a delay until he can complete his investigation of the case.

Chapel Hill Police Lt. M.M. Dawson, who arrested Foushee at the game in Kenan Stadium, said the Alderman "struck a minor and tried to throw him out of the game. I had to bodily remove him from the scene."

Winston, responding to the charge, said: "I think the proper place to try criminal warrants is in the courts and not in the newspapers. The policeman had no business saying that. I think he ought to be admonished."
