Heels seeking two wins in a row Carolina to invade Maryland

by Elliott Warnock
Sports Editor

Okay...let's try to get this straight. Duke beat Carolina; Carolina beat Wake Forest; Wake Forest beat N.C. State; State beat Virginia; but Carolina beat Virginia and the Cavs beat Duke. Hold it a second; let's try that again. Wake Forest beat Duke; but Wake and Virginia seem to be in trouble. Clemson beat Maryland, but Maryland beat State, and State beat Carolina.

Hell, now we're back where we started.

Therefore, Carolina should be the ACC champs...or Carolina should be the last place team in the conference...or Maryland should be the NCAA champs...or something like that.

Ad infinitum...ad nauseum.

So we should all quit trying to compare scores at this point and absorb a couple of facts. Maryland will play host to Carolina at 3 p.m. Saturday in College Park. Maryland will be trying to bounce back after the Terps' defeat at the paws of Clemson's Tigers, while Carolina is fresh from an ACC win over Virginia.

The Tar Heels' 85-70 victory Wednesday night was dull to watch, unless you were wearing Carolina blue, but impressive on the stat sheets. Four Carolina players scored in double figures...and we don't mean 10 points each, either.

Mitch Kupchak pumped in 27 points and snared 15 rebounds to lead both categories. Walter Davis and Phil Ford both scored 18 points. Brad Hoffman scored 14.

Carolina was shooting red-hot against Virginia in the first half, blazing away at 72.0 per cent clip to run up a 44-33 halftime lead. The Tar Heels finished the game shooting 65.2 per cent.

Virginia was out-rebounded by the Heels, 37-21.

Maryland didn't do nearly as well against Clemson. The Tigers edged the fourth-ranked Terps, 83-82 in front of a record 11,800 fans at Clemson.

"I told the team the hardest thing one had to face was prosperity," said Maryland coach Lefty Driesell after the loss. "Since we were ranked fourth in the country, people were going to be coming at us like Tigers, and that's what Clemson did to us tonight."

Maryland had been leading the ACC standings with an unblemished 3-0 record before the loss, and will probably take some advice from the Tigers when Carolina enters Cole Field House. UNC would take first place in the ACC with a win over Maryland.

You can't be sure who will finally win the ACC, but you can be positive the Terp's won't be playing like turtles Saturday afternoon.

Table tennis tournament
The Union Recreation Committee will sponsor an all-campus table tennis tournament on Saturday, February 1. Sign-up sheets for men's and women's singles doubles are available at the Union Desk. Sign-up deadline is Wed., January 29, at 12:00 noon. This tournament will be a qualifying tournament for the ACU-I regionals and the Big Four championships.

Current affairs to sponsor panel discussion
Dr. Froyen and Dr. Howell of the UNC Economics Department and Dr. Keech and Dr. Azar of the Political Science Department will participate in a panel discussion: Economy: Problems, yes; Solutions? on Tuesday, January 28. The program will be at 8:00 p.m. in Rooms 213-15, Carolina Union. A question and answer session will follow.

Richard Wolf to appear
Richard Wolf, practicing Psychic and Astrologer, will present a lecture/demonstration at 7:30 p.m. Monday, January 27, in the Great Hall of the Carolina Union. Mr. Wolf is the President of the Michigan Chapter of the National Astrological Society. He has worked extensively as a counselor and guidance support person for gestaltists and for group leaders specializing in bioenergetics, as well as for psychiatrists, physicians, psychologists and social workers seeking to integrate psychic and astrological techniques within their own disciplines.
There will also be a beginners' workshop in Psychic Development for UNC students on Friday-Sunday, February 7-9. The workshop is designed to aid individuals unfold their own natural spiritual gifts which leads to greater psychic awareness. According to Wolf, there is nothing supernatural or supernatural about psychic awareness. All people possess the capability to become aware of these latent potentials. Through a process of guided meditation and positive reinforcement, Wolf is able to aid individuals achieve greater awareness of the psychic forces which are constantly flowing through and around all life. Interested students may sign up at the Monday lecture to participate in the workshop. There will be a $10 fee charged for the weekend workshop.
In addition to the lecture, the program will include a showing of the movie, "The Ultimate Mystery," with Edgar D. Mitchell, Apollo 14 Astronaut. The film presents remarkable scientific data supporting the claims of mystics through the ages that there is a oneness to all living things.

Duplicate bridge tournament
The Union will sponsor a duplicate bridge tournament at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, January 26, in Rooms 207-09. The tournament is open to full-time graduate and undergraduate students at UNC. Winners will represent Carolina at the Regional Games Tournaments which will be held at V.P.I. February 14 and 15.
