CAROLINA CRUNCH—James Betterson (above) gained only 317 yards...

Terps mash Tar Heels, 34-7

Maryland made the trip Manges-less and mangled but still took home first prize. The defending Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) football champions maneuvered for a 34-7 mashing of North Carolina Saturday in Kenan Stadium, where the weather conditions already had provided a hot and sticky atmosphere for hometown rooters. Led by Larry Dick, who replaced injured Mark Manges at quarterback, Maryland capitalized on Carolina's inability to move the ball in the second half. The Tar Heels, now 1-1, didn't penetrate deeper than the Maryland 45 in the last half, but the pivotal point occurred immediately following halftime. After a 61-yard drive to the Maryland 4-yard line, UNC quarterback Bill Paschall threw a pass that was picked off in the end zone by a ready and waiting Kenny Roy. Maryland Head Coach Jerry Claiborne admitted his team had studied the bootleg left play in films of the UNC-William and Mary game, and the pass, which was intended for UNC's Mike Corbin, was like aing an already-announced quiz. If the Tar Heels had scored, they would have gone ahead 14-13, grabbing the momentum from the not-too-spectacular Terps, who only moved the ball reasonably well against a good Carolina defense, led by middle guard Roger Shonosky and tackle Rod Broadway. But instead, Dick and his offensive forces, who have been weakened by recent injuries, cashed in on a 49-yard pass to fullback Kim Hoover 6½ minutes after the homework-detected interception. That scoring series, 61 yards in only three plays, gave Maryland a two-touchdown lead, 21-7.

Early in the last period, Carolina still couldn't muster a sustained drive, as UNC tailback Mike Voight was stopped by Leroy Hughes on a fourth-and-one play at the Carolina 43. A later fourth down attempt for three yards also failed with 6:59 remaining. Maryland, meanwhile, put up two scores and one extra point, and the second half of Tar Heel setbacks suggested that the visiting Terps had mopped up all afternoon as opposed to only the last two periods.

A jolting Carolina touchdown inaugurated this steamy ACC opener for the two schools. Maryland's Jamie Franklin fumbled on the opening play from scrimmage and 1:18 later blue and white jerseys of UNC teammates were embracing Charlie Williams, who scored on a 20-yard pass from Paschall.

On the ensuing kickoff, Maryland responded with a 92-yard midfield return by John Shultz to set up a tying touchdown three plays later, 7-7.

Carolina, aggravated by a Voight fumble, the onset of a game-long plague of illegal procedure penalties, and another interception thrown by Paschall, had to punt four times in the first half, while Maryland got 38- and 49-yard field goals from Mike Sochko for a 13-7 halftime lead.

Carolina finished the game with 95 yards in penalties, most of which were for illegal procedure called on UNC center Deke Andrews for slightly picking up the ball before snapping it to punter Johnny Elam. UNC Head Coach Bill Dooley said the calls were extremely technical.

...and Mike Voight picked up 63 yards to lead the Carolina rushing game against a stingy Maryland defense. Last season both tailbacks gained over 1,000 yards each, but so far this season are far below that standard. After two games, Betterson, a senior from High Point, has only 73 yards and Voight, a junior from Chesapeake, Va., has picked up 131. In kick-off returns, however, Betterson has gained 200 yards.

It Sounds Incredible

BUT EVELYN WOOD GRADUATES CAN READ

THE EXORCIST IN 58 MINUTES

At That Speed, The 403 Pages Come Across
With More Impact Than The Movie.

You can do it, too. So far over 550,000 other people have done it. People who have different jobs, different IQs, different interests, different educations have completed the course. Our graduates are people from all walks of life. These people have all taken a course developed by Evelyn Wood, a prominent educator. Practically all of them at least tripled their reading speed with equal or better comprehension. Most have increased it even more. Think for a moment what that means. All of them—even the slowest—now read an average novel in less than two hours. They read an entire issue of Time or Newsweek in 35 minutes. They don't skip or skim. They read every word. They use no machines. Instead, they let the material they're reading determine how fast they read. And mark this well: they actually understand more, remember more, and enjoy more than when they read slowly. That's right! They understand more. They remember more. They enjoy more. You can do the same thing—the place to learn more about it is at a free speed reading lesson. This is the same course President Kennedy had his Joint Chiefs of Staff take. The staff of President Nixon completed this course in June 1970. The same one Senators and Congressmen have taken. Come to a Mini-Lesson and find out. It is free to you and you will leave with a better understanding of why it works. One thing that might bother you about your reading speed is that someone might find out how slow it is. The instructors at the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Free Speed Reading lesson will let you keep your secret. It's true we practice the first step to improved reading at a Mini-Lesson and we will increase your reading speed on the spot, but the results will remain your secret. Plan to attend a free Mini-Lesson and learn that it is possible to read 3-4-5 times faster, with comparable comprehension.

SCHEDULE OF FREE MINI-LESSONS

You'll increase your reading speed 50 to 100% on the spot!
