

Ex-UNC star Jimmy Jerome killed in crash

Former UNC football star Jimmy Jerome was killed Wednesday in a head-on automobile accident in Malibu, California. After being cut by the Charlotte Hornets of the World Football League in late summer, Jerome had been back in Chapel Hill periodically before last week's trip to California.

Jerome played high school ball at Wallace-Rose Hill High in Rose Hill, N.C. During his senior year, the All-America tailback scored 29 touchdowns and threw for eight more, leading his team to a second straight undefeated regular season. At UNC, he was shifted to wingback, where he set a school record for receiving yards in a season (837 last fall) and a conference mark for most career touchdowns (12) en route to being named to the 1974 All-Atlantic Coast Conference team.

Cavs, Heels seek 1st ACC win

by Susan Shackelford
Sports Editor

For two college teams with one of the oldest rivalries in the South, their Bible-belt meeting this Saturday should be more than a friendly afternoon of fried chicken and football.

Both the University of North Carolina and the University of Virginia, which have a 1:30 p.m. kickoff in Charlottesville, Va., are 0-1 in Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) play and have been tabbed to finish in the lower half of the seven-team ACC race. Both need the win for an early season lift.

Hence, this 80th game between Carolina and Virginia could be more of a Southern brawl. Each has beaten a Southern conference team for a single win, dropped a contest to a Yankee-dominated squad last week, and now wants to dominate an old-fashioned big game rivalry for respectability.

Both head coaches are also intense competitors. For example, UVA's Sonny Randle said this week he didn't think the Tar Heels had "ever respected Virginia and maybe they never will." Meanwhile, UNC's Dooley, who has never battled a Randle-coached squad on its home field, Scott Stadium noted "We need a victory this week very badly."

The Tar Heels have dropped their last two games by big margins. Last week they traveled to Columbus, Ohio for a respectable showing (32-7 loss) against the bulldozer-like Buckeyes of Ohio State, ranked no. 1 this week by United Press International. The previous week, Carolina fell at home in Chapel Hill to Maryland, 34-7.

Virginia last week picked up its first conference loss against Duke (26-11), after edging VMI and losing to Navy. Carolina's only win was 33-7 opener over William and Mary.

The series between the two schools favors Carolina, 43-33-3, but Virginia should be especially ready for this 1975 game because of Carolina's lackluster 24-10 home win last season over the Cavs, who played without their outstanding quarterback Scott Gardner because of an injury.

I'm not about to get stuck in the bottom place!

Gardner leads the offense, having completed 41 passes for 441 yards and three touchdowns. Billy Copeland is the top rusher, averaging 92 yards a game.

The Cavs, however, are without their regular field goal kicker, Joe Jenkins. He had kicked four for four field goals this season until last week when he suffered a severe knee injury against Duke.

In total offense, Virginia has a slim lead with 311 yards a game while Carolina, is averaging 257. This statistic is misleading, however, since Carolina got only 109 rushing yards last week against Ohio State for the worst rushing mark in 24 regular season games.

Betterson had his best day this year against Ohio State getting 106 of those 109 yards, but was without fellow running back

Mike Voight, who is expected to play against Virginia.

Overall, if the UNC young offensive line dominates the young Virginia defense and quarterback Bill Paschall puts consistency in his passing game, the Cavs might get its sixth loss to the Heels in seven seasons.

Another consistency problem for UNC is its defense. Last week it held Ohio State scoreless for over 20 minutes, playing perhaps its best half of the season, but stumbled in the second half with missed tackles and assignments. The defense, led by end Bill Perdue, cornerback Russ Conley and linebackers Billy Murphy and Bobby Gay, knows its main task against Virginia is stopping Gardner.

Both teams have only one senior on defense. The one that maintains its poise amid this early season pressure of traditional rivalry and conference competition should have the advantage.

Netters breeze 9-0; test Miss. here today

by Kevin Barris
Staff Writer

After breezing to two shutouts so far this season, UNC's women netters get their first tough test today when they host Mississippi University for Women (MUW) in a 3 p.m. match.

The Tar Heels collected their 28th win in their last 29 matches Thursday in beating UNC-G, 9-0. It was the sixth consecutive triumph for UNC, and the third straight shutout. Of the 28 wins, half have been shutouts.

Harriers travel to Maryland

North Carolina's cross country team travels to College Park, Md. Saturday to face the University of Maryland Terrapins in a dual meet. The Tar Heels will be without the services of team captain and number two runner Dave Hamilton, who will miss the race because of dental boards.

Maryland, defending Atlantic Coast Conference cross country champs, are led by impressive freshman Pete Gleason and top returning letterman Jeff Smith. The meet will be held on the same course that is the site of this year's ACC championships.

Coach Bill Lam believes the Terps are the toughest team, other than rival Duke, that his harriers will face. Lam said he expects the meet to be extremely close. "Maryland ran a good meet against Duke (the Terps lost 24-32)," he said. "Their top two should be right up there with our top two and then they have a drop to the next four like we do. It's gonna be a tough meet because it's on their course, and Hamilton being out gives Maryland a slight edge."

One place where Maryland will not have the edge is in the battle for the individual victory. There, UNC's Ralph King is expected to take his second consecutive win of the season after winning easily last week at Virginia. Other key Carolina performers should be Kent Taylor, William Southerland, Henry Jones and Tommy Ward.

Lam said that running the Terrapins at Maryland should help his team familiarize themselves with the course before the ACC Championships on Nov. 1. "Of course we want to win all the dual meets we compete in but we realize that the one that establishes the conference champion is the one at the end of the season."

— Bill Moss

Jayvee grid team faces State

The UNC and N.C. State junior varsity football teams will meet in a 1:30 p.m. game this afternoon in Kenan Stadium. Both teams have 1-0 records.

The Tar Babies, 42-19 winners over Instituto Politecnico Nacional from Mexico City, will have freshman P.J. Gay at quarterback and Terrence Burrell at tailback.

The Wolflets, 36-12 winners over Chowan, will have Caesar Campana at quarterback and numerous freshmen in the lineup.

The Wolflets won last year's game, 14-13.

UNC women golfers in challenging opener

The University of North Carolina's women's golf team will face a major challenge when it begins its third season Saturday in the Mary Baldwin Invitational Golf Tournament in Staunton, Va. An impressive field of teams from North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia will provide the Tar Heels with a stern opening test.

UNC, under the direction of Mike McLeod and assistant Dot Gunnells, will attempt to match last season's 9-0 record. The Tar Heels won the first North Carolina Women's State Golf Championship and finished 18th in the nation.

Both coaches are optimistic about the Tar

The UNC soccer team meets Rollins College of Winter Park, Florida today at 4 p.m. on Fetzer Field.

Psychologically, today's game may be the most important of the season for the Tar Heels. Wins over tough Rollins and East Carolina University on Tuesday would give the squad a 4-1 record and needed momentum for upcoming conference matches.

Despite its youth, Rollins fields a strong

Heels' chances in their first year working with the women's golf program. Coach Gunnells feels that this team has the potential to equal the record of the 1974-75 squad. "Sally Austin, who held down the number one position on last year's team, entered several tournaments this summer which helped her improve tremendously," she said. "We are also expecting a fine effort from some of our new players."

Senior Mindy Moore also returns to give the Tar Heels some much-needed experience. Among the newcomers who are expected to share the load are junior Susan Dillingham, freshman Sue Ward and junior transfer Betsy Waynick. McLeod and Gunnells are especially enthusiastic about Waynick, who shot a 74-71 when she and her partner won the Carolina Four-Ball championship this summer in Morganton.

The golf team will once again be playing a split schedule, with matches in the fall and spring. In addition to the tournament this weekend, two matches with UNC-Greensboro are set for October 17 and 22. The October 17 match is set for Finley Golf Course.

— Alan Ford

UNC Coach Frances Hogan has not decided on the remainder of the lineup, either singles or doubles. The lineup for the Tar Heels on the last four singles courts will probably be Susie Black, Nina Cloaninger, Rebecca Garcia and Linda Matthews.

When its too far, too hot (or cold), and too expensive to go off campus.. on campus Student Stores. At the hub of campus life.

Bull's Head Bookshop
Art. Dept.
Textbook Dept.
Caduceus medical books & supplies (Med. school)
Nine good reasons why...
Shop STUDENT STORES

Student Services
— check cashing
gift wrapping, etc.

Snack Bars

Pit Stop
Ice Cream Shop

School Supplies
on campus

Tar Heel booters host Rollins

by Mike Egan
Staff Writer

team. Its only loss this season was in overtime to Federal City, one of the top teams in the South. They also boast a 2-1 victory over the touring University of Dublin team. In the small school poll, Rollins is, presently ranked no. 4 in the South.

Head Coach Gordy Howell's Rollins squad will face the usual UNC starting lineup with one change. Freshman Ed Fennimore was added to the squad this week and has been playing the outside fullback position. This will enable Ed Baroff to move to halfback giving the Heels needed depth at that position. Martin Trimble, who Coach

The Village Squire Restaurant

Now offering the regular menu plus the addition of the "Squire's" nationally renowned STEAKS:

• #1 - SQUIRE'S FAVORITE	$4.65
8 oz. heart of rib .....
• #2 - SQUIRE'S DELIGHT	$3.80
6 oz. heart of rib .....
• #3 - PAUPER'S SALVATION	$2.95
4 oz. heart of rib .....
(strictly for those with a flat purse)
All of the above include: Squire's garden fresh salad (your choice of dressings), steak house french fries, hot bread, onion ring, apple ring, and tea or coffee.
• #4 - SQUIRE'S STEAK SANDWICH	$1.75
Ribeye on bun .....

All USDA Choice aged-Midwest Cornfed Beef
— Broiled to Perfection —

173 E. Franklin St.
— Next to the Post Office —
Open 11 a.m.-3 p.m., 5 p.m.-12 midnight
***** Checks accepted *****

DOONESBURY

PEANUTS
NEEDLES
SORRY, DOG... MY MOTHER SAYS WE'D TAKE YOU HOME WITH US, BUT YOU DON'T LOOK LIKE YOU'D BE MUCH OF A WATCHDOG...
SHE'S RIGHT
WHILE I WAS TALKING TO HER, SOMEONE STOLE MY SIGN!
I DUNNO, STEVE. THIS TUNE ISN'T WORKING OUT... IT DOESN'T FEEL RIGHT...
HEY, WHAT DO YOU WANT FROM ME, JIM?! YOU GOT THE BEST SIDEMEN IN THE BUSINESS, ZA TRACKS TO PLAY WITH, AND...
I COULD USE A FRIEND, STEVE...
HEY, NOW DON'T START ON... I'LL BE YOUR FRIEND, JIMMY!
WHO'S THAT?
UH... NAME'S ZONKER! WANT TO CATCH A FLICK LATER?
HEY, THAT'D BE GREAT, MAN! SEEN 'JAMES' YET?