

Jackson: Schlesinger removed

WASHINGTON—Sen. Henry A. Jackson, D-Wash., said Sunday he has learned from sources within the administration that James Schlesinger has been removed as Secretary of Defense.

Jackson called Schlesinger a man of "courage, integrity and honor," in a statement and said:

"His abrupt removal indicates that the administration cannot tolerate differing views and honest advice on the most serious issues of national security."

In Jacksonville, Fla., President Ford sidestepped questions on reports that Schlesinger had resigned and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger had given up his White House position as National Security Affairs adviser.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nesson told reporters he was aware of the reports and had informed Ford of the story.

"I don't have anything on it," Nesson said. He refused to confirm or deny the report. The clash between Schlesinger and Kissinger has been growing for some time, with their disagreements over the SALT talks breaking into the open.

Jackson had no word on whether the Kissinger part of the report was true, and it was not immediately confirmed from official sources.

Schlesinger, 46, took over at the Pentagon from Elliot Richardson in July, 1973, when Richardson became attorney general as the Watergate scandal was unfolding.

In related action, Director William E. Colby will give up his job and be replaced by George Bush, head of the U.S. Liaison office in Peking, according to Newsweek magazine's current issue.

Newsweek said the shift was part of an administration shakeup of SSSS security operations. A magazine spokesman said the report would appear in later editions of the magazine.

Newsweek said the shakeup also involved the departure of Schlesinger and Kissinger being asked by President Ford to give up his second job as head of the National Security Council.

It said Kissinger would be succeeded by his NSC deputy, Air Force Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft.

Colby, 55, has headed the CIA since September 1973.

Bush, 51, has been the U.S. chief representative in Peking since 1974. He previously served as a Congressman, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations and chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Humphrey not a candidate

WASHINGTON — Three-time presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey said Sunday he will not seek the presidency in 1976 but would accept the nomination—and win the election—if the Democrats turned to him at the convention.

"I am not a candidate for the presidency," Humphrey said. "I will not seek that office. That is my statement."

But the former vice president, who lost the presidency by less than one half of one percent to Richard M. Nixon in 1968, added: "I have also said that if the convention perchance should turn to me—which I think is highly improbable, but if it should—that I will be ready to accept the challenge and I will go out and conduct a campaign that will be worthy of the Democratic Party and I would win."

"I have no intention to enter any primaries. I will enter no primaries. I am not a candidate for President and I authorize no group to work in my behalf," Humphrey said in a television interview on NBC-TV's Meet the Press show.

Morocco marches into Sahara

TAN TAN, Morocco—Moroccan military forces marched into the Spanish Sahara Sunday only hours after Spain warned it would use force to repel any attempt to invade the desert colony, government and military sources said.

The sources said Moroccan troops crossed the Saharan border at dawn and occupied an area recently evacuated by Spanish troops.

The occupied area faces the border with Algeria and cuts an infiltration route used by the Polisario Front, an Algerian-backed Spanish Saharan independence organization.

The Moroccan move came in the face of a United Nations call for restraint by all nations in the dispute over the Spanish colony.

Morocco's King Hassan II plans to lead a march of 350,000 unarmed volunteers into the territory this week—a takeover move opposed by Algeria.

Meanwhile, acting Chief of State Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon publicly asserted his leadership for the first time Sunday, flying to the disputed Spanish Sahara to rally his troops with promises he will not capitulate to Moroccan pressure.

Juan Carlos stepped out of the shadow of the gravely ill Generalissimo Francisco Franco to make the surprise one-day trip.

His brief absence apparently meant that Franco, 82, was in no imminent danger of dying.

Walk for Humanity: interviews held today

The YMCA is currently seeking volunteers to help with its annual Walk for Humanity scheduled for April 3.

Interviews will be held from 12:45 to 4:30 p.m. today in the YMCA building for anyone interested in helping to organize, publicize or recruit walkers for the charity event.

Volunteers are asked to come by the YMCA office for an appointment. Anyone unavailable for an interview today or needing more information should contact Martha Lindsey at 967-6418 or Fred Diggs at 929-7863.

The Walk for Humanity is a fund-raising project for local and international charities.

Participants in the walk follow a prescribed route and collect money from sponsors who pledge a specific amount of money for each mile completed.

The YMCA is looking for committee chairpersons for publicity, recruitment and arrangements committees.

Volunteers are needed to help recruit and organize walkers, provide publicity, man checkpoints along the walk path and help serve lunches to the walkers.

Last year's proceeds from the walk went to the Interchurch Council Loan and Grant Fund, the Chapel Hill Daycare Coalition, the World University Service, American Friends Service committee, and Africare.

McIntosh MI 3, WILD/Heerbrugg M5.

The Wild-Heerbrugg research microscope will be used for detecting stylus wear and proper alignment. This $3200 microscope lets us and you see clearly and easily stylus wear; the worn spot measures in fractions of a thousandth of an inch. Even this much wear will do irreparable damage to your records. (The pressure of the stylus on the record wall measures on the order of 60 tons per square inch!) The Wild-Heerbrugg M5 will also measure the accuracy with which the diamond is attached to the cantilever armature of the cartridge. And we can see the actual alignment of your needle in a record. It should lie exactly across the grooves at right angles to the direction the record moves. A total of 8 tests will be performed on your turntable. Experts from several manufacturers will be on hand. A wait of 10-20 minutes is common. Call 942-3162 (Chapel Hill), for a reservation.

VOTE FOR Bill Thorpe

FOR ALDERMAN
NOVEMBER 4, 1975

Bill Thorpe has attended 80% of the Chapel Hill Alderman's meetings in the past two years & now wants a seat of the Board.

Listen to Bill Thorpe on communication by government officials:

"Before you can have effective citizen involvement in government, communication between town officials and taxpayers must be characterized by the non-political statement... there is very little in local government which should be embellished, understated or partially concealed. Students and faculty, being particularly perceptive, should neither tolerate, nor temper the repercussions for, a politician for the purpose of getting university votes, does as he likes and speaks as he is told."
