'Pack smotherers matmen; 1st ACC loss for Heels

As far as N.C. State's Ed Smith and Howard Johnson were concerned, Friday night was as good a night as any for them to collect their initial wrestling victories of the season for the Wolfpack.

The 'Pack was wrestling old foe Carolina in Raleigh and trying to avenge a 19-15 loss in mid-January to the Tar Heels. State had taken a 9-6 advantage when Smith, wrestling 158 pounds and Johnson, at 167, took consecutive decisions over Joe Ryan and Carl Hoffman to give the 'Pack a 15-6 lead the Heels could never offset.

The final was State 22, Carolina 9. The match was the Heels' fifth in the last week and that, combined with injuries last week to Chris Conkwright and Mike Benzel, were labeled as two of the main reasons for the Heels' sixth loss in sixteen attempts.

"Those four matches earlier in the week, plus two of our top individuals out," UNC Wrestling Coach Bill Lam said, "along with the fact that I just didn't get the kids up like I should have were the reasons we got beat. I've got to take some of the responsibility for the loss."

The loss was the first in Atlantic Coast Conference competition for the Heels, who are now 4-1.

Scott Conkwright gave Carolina an early

3-0 lead as he ran his individual record to 11-1 with a win at 118 over Gib Fink. Then Carolina's Curtis Rudolph, Tim Reaume and Dave Juergens fell before Tar Heel Jeff Reintgen took a 6-2 decision over Joey Whitehouse to close the State lead to 9-6. Smith then decided Ryan and Johnson scored five points early on Hoffman to take a 12-8 win.

Happy 100 for Miller

The UNC men's and women's fencing teams took time out Saturday in Woollen Gym to celebrate their 19-8 victory over Texas. It wasn't that the win over the Longhorns was so crucial to UNC's season record, but instead it was important to UNC Head Coach Ron Miller, who chalked up his 100th dual meet triumph.

After a short chorus of "Happy Hundredth to You," the teams went back to business and defeated William and Mary 22-5 and George Mason College to give Miller a good start on his way to 200 victories.

The men's team had little trouble beating William and Mary 16-11 and George Mason 22-5 after their romp over Texas.

The UNC women posted an 11-5 win over Texas and defeated William and Mary 13-1. In the only Atlantic Coast Conference action of the day, the Carolina women soundly whipped Maryland 12-4 to extend their unbeaten string to seven and ACC record to 5-0.

"I thought Allison Barrett, Garney Ingram and Cathy Swan were especially good on the women's team today although everyone fended well," Miller said.

All in all, it was a rather routine day for the Tar Heels as they substituted freely throughout the three matches. William and Mary offered the most competition of the three schools and won 11 bouts, mostly over the men's foil team.

The UNC men return to ACC competition when they travel to Duke Wednesday night. The Tar Heels share first place, now with Maryland as a result of Clemson's 15-12 upset of the Terrapins.

Uneven bars key gymnasts

The UNC women's gymnastics team overcame the jinx of Friday the 13th and soundly defeated Virginia Tech, 79.45 to 71.30, Friday in a dual meet in Carmichael Auditorium. UNC's record is now 4-3.

"We really won it on the uneven bars," said UNC Head Coach Ken Orso after the meet, referring to Terry Lodge's second place and Lynn Swisher's and Paula Kilpatrick's tie for third place in the event.

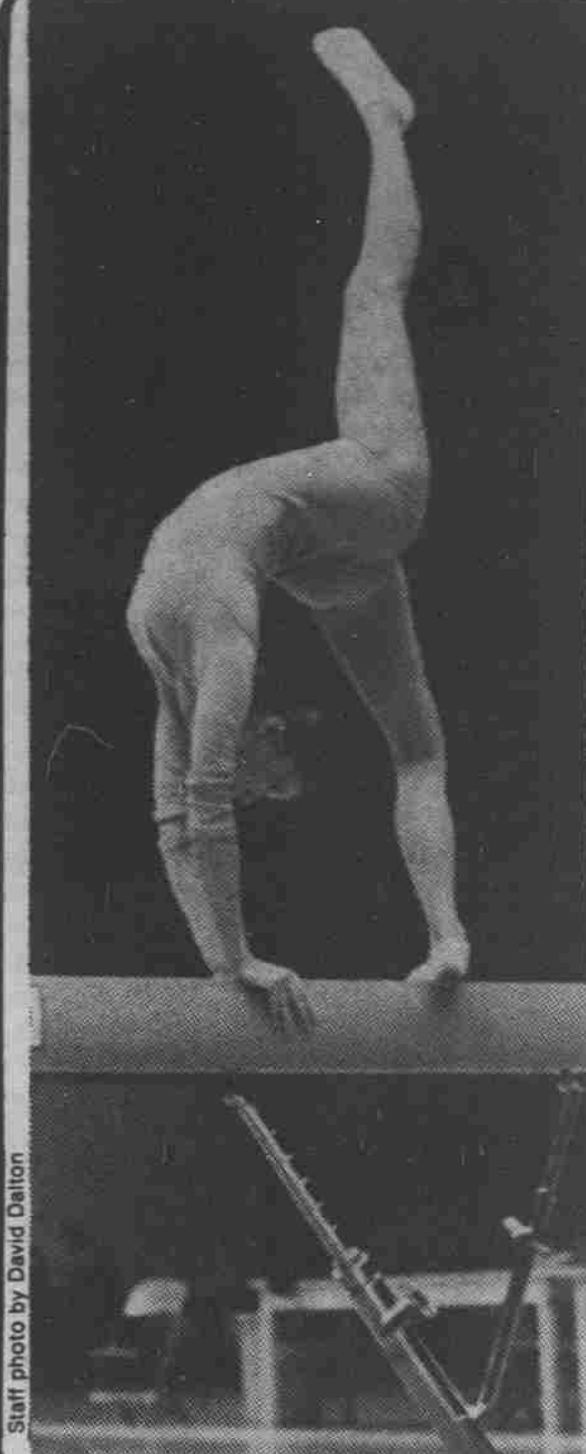

In vaulting, the event preceding the uneven bars, VPI took a slight lead as they won first and third places. Kilpatrick finished second for Carolina.

The balance beam event ended in a near tie between the two teams, so the meet wasn't resolved until the Heels swept the floor exercise. Teresa Trice, Joan Healy, and Swisher took first, second and third, respectively.

The final score of 79.45 was a new season high for the women.

Almost half the team was competing with the flu as much as they were competing with the opposition. Trice, Healy, and Mary Dashiell missed last week's practice and hadn't worked out on the balance beam since the last meet.

Joan Healy performed all her events while still weak from the flu and won the all-around competition. Swisher, the only other Tar Heel in all-around, finished second.

Women win, now 13-3

The UNC women's basketball team raised its record to 13-3 Saturday with a 63-55 victory over Old Dominion (12-7).

UNC center Cathy Shoemaker scored 22 points and pulled down 17 rebounds to key the victory. Courtney Peck and Joyce Patterson added 13 and 12 points, respectively.

The Tar Heels' next game is Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Carmichael against UNC-Greensboro in the first meeting of the year between the two state rivals. Details in Tuesday's DTH.

Carolina's men swimmers had no problem disposing of host Clemson Saturday and tallied their sixth win in eight outings, 75-38. The Heels broke out on top early and were never pressured by the Tigers.

The meet prepared Carolina for the ACC relays, which begin on Feb. 26. Before the relays, however, the Heels host N.C. State Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Bowman Gray Indoor Pool. The meet will be preceded by the women's meet at 4.

The Heels had a fine individual performance from Dick Davidson who took a solo win in the 500-yard freestyle, then teamed with Mark List, Karl Thiele and Alan Toll to take the 400 medley relay. Davidson also combined with Chris Murphy, Mark Keating, and Mike Reock to win the 400 freestyle relay.

Other winners included Steve McDonald in the 1,000 freestyle, Rich DeSelm in the 200 individual medley, Thiele in the 100 freestyle, and Robin Lungaard in the 200 breaststroke.

North Carolina's men's tennis team was defeated by Southern Cal 7-2, in the quarterfinals of the third National Intercollegiate Team Tennis Championship Friday in Madison, Wis.

Defending champion Stanford met Southern Methodist and Trinity of Texas played Southern California Sunday in the semifinal round of the tournament.

Stanford defeated Princeton, 7-2, in the quarterfinals and Trinity defeated Georgia 7-2, to advance to the semifinal round.

In the first round of play, Carolina defeated Wisconsin 6-3. Carolina and Wisconsin were even after the singles events but the Tar Heels shut out the Badgers in the doubles competition.
