

Late HR nips Heels 3-2, Tigers regain ACC lead

by Lee Pace
Staff Writer

Clemson's Steve Tucker, frustrated after having gone hitless in five previous at-bats, hammered a Billy Paschall fastball for a home run with two out in the 12th inning to propel the Tigers to 3-2 victory over Carolina Sunday at Boshamer Stadium.

The win gave the Tigers a split of their two-game series with the Heels after Bernie Menapace's 10th inning single gave Carolina a 3-2 victory Saturday. "There was two out and I'd been 0-for-4, so I just figured I had to go and try for it," Tucker said of his 370-foot blast to left field. "It was a fastball. I'd been kinda frustrated, so this helps."

Carolina retaliated in the bottom of the 12th and came within a couple of steps of tying it but pinch-hitter Kevin Haeblerle was nailed at the plate after trying to score from first on Mike Fox's double to deep left.

Chuck Porter upped his mark to 8-0 by going the distance for the Tigers, allowing eight hits. Paschall, now 4-4, went all the way for the Heels, who are now 16-14 overall and 5-2 in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Clemson maintains a full game lead over the Heels in the ACC standing with a 7-2 slate, 23-12 overall.

Clemson grabbed an early 2-0 advantage when Bill Foley smacked a two-run homer to left-center in the fourth, his second round-tripper in as many days. But Carolina tallied single runs in the fifth and sixth innings to tie the count.

Jim Atkinson singled, went to second on Win Barkley's single and to third when Tucker, the Tiger center-fielder, misplayed Barkley's hit, and scored on Mike Fox's sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Steve Rackley scored the tying marker after singling, moving to third on walks to Randy Warwick and Menapace, and scored on Early James' grounder to third that the Tigers couldn't convert into a double play. Carolina could have notched two runs instead of one had Chris Knapp, who led the inning off with a safety to center, not been picked off first base by Porter.

"This was a hell of a game," Tiger Coach Bill Wilhelm said. "Both teams played tenaciously, both teams played well, Porter did not weaken; he kept throwing and hanging tough."

Wilhelm said the contest was crucial to his team's quest for the conference pennant and the right to host the league tournament April 22-25.

"Now we're 7-2. If we had lost today, we'd be 6-3 and Carolina would be 6-1. They could lose two games and still take first and have the tournament here."

"They have a good club," Tar Heel Coach Walter Rabb said. "But I think our club is equal to theirs. We're two very equal clubs."

Atkinson's towering homer to right-centerfield evened it at two after seven innings Saturday. After scoreless eighth and ninth innings, Knapp singled to center to lead off the tenth. Rackley bunted him to second, Warwick was intentionally walked, and Menapace drilled a Randy Quintrell high outside fastball just inside the third base bag to score Knapp.

Matt Wilson secured the Tar Heel victory, his first of the year against one loss, allowing eight hits in 10 innings.

Carolina resumes ACC warfare Tuesday at Duke before journeying to Wake Forest Thursday. The Heels host Maryland twice Saturday and Virginia Sunday.

Tommy Dixon was the only UNC player to lose Saturday when the Tar Heels blasted 14th-ranked Miami 8-1 on the James for their first victory ever over the Hurricanes. Dixon fell to Tavo Martinez 4-6, 4-6 on the No. 2 court.

Carolina's men netters swept a weekend of matches, including a stunning 8-1 trouncing of nationally 14th-ranked Miami Saturday on the James courts. UNC also defeated Furman (8-1) Friday and Hampton Institute (6-0) Sunday to up its record to 21-2 for the season.

Billy Brock, the Tar Heels' top singles player, led Carolina with three-set victories against each team, despite having to play with intestinal flu. Brock's win against John Eagleton of Miami clinched a Carolina victory in that match.

Against Furman, UNC won four three-set matches on the first five singles courts. Only Earl Hassler on the third court won his match in straight sets, defeating Furman's Jack Jones 7-5, 6-1. The Paladins' only win of the day came on the sixth singles court where Phil Hammond beat Bruce McNair 6-4, 6-3. Carolina easily swept the doubles.

The Tar Heels were expected to have a much tougher time against Miami, a team which beat them 7-2 a year ago. David Oberstein was the first Tar Heel to finish, as he recorded his 18th win of the year with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over the Hurricanes' Flavio Arrenzon on court four. Hassler then gave UNC a 2-0 lead with his 6-4, 6-4 win over Ron Myers.

Miami's only victory came on the second court where Tavo Martinez held off Tommy Dixon for a 6-4, 6-4 victory. Down 5-4 in the second set, Dixon staved off two match points and temporarily recovered to gain a game point, but Martinez took the match on the third match point.

Junior Chatman's 6-4, 6-4 win over Lance Dennet on the fifth court and Cliff Skakle's 6-2, 5-7, 6-3 on court six gave UNC a 4-1 lead and set up Brock's match-clinching win on the first court.

Brock took the first set against Eagleton 6-4. In the second set, the Miami player jumped to a 4-1 lead, before Brock pulled within 4-3. Eagleton then broke serve and held his own serve to even the match at one set each. Both players held serve in the third set until the sixth game when Eagleton, complaining that Brock was "lucky," lost his serve. Brock went on to take the set 6-2.

The win clinched the match for UNC, and an elated UNC Coach Don Skakle indicated the win would be a confidence builder for upcoming tournament play. "It's a great win, it's just got to help our attitude for the ACC tournament," he said.

Carolina's final match of the season will be against Duke Tuesday in Durham. Friday, UNC travels to College Park, Md. to open defense of its team title in the ACC tournament. Carolina is heavily favored to repeat as ACC champions and most, if not all, of the top seeds in the tourney in both singles and doubles will be Tar Heels.

Stratton, Voight shine in B-W

Spring football practice culminated with the annual Blue-White football game Saturday in Kenan Stadium. The blue team slipped by the white team 15-12 in a game that matched the first team offense and second team defense on the white team against the second team offense and the first team defense on the blue team.

Clyde Christensen quarterbacked the blue team and completed five passes for 45 yards and rushed for five yards. P.J. Gay was slated to start for the blue team, but is temporarily sidelined with a twisted knee. Terence Burrell and Doug Banks led the blue ground attack with 69 and 49 yards respectively. Wingback Carey Casey rushed for 11 yards and heaved a 50-yard pass to Jim Rouse on an option play.

UNC holds off Roanoke 10-5

The UNC varsity lacrosse team smashed Roanoke College's dream for an upset Saturday as the Tar Heels jumped out to a 6-0 halftime lead and held on to win 10-5 to up their season record to 6-1.

Roanoke, a small school with a big-time lacrosse team, rode into Chapel Hill ranked no. 2 in Division II with a 3-0 record and the underdog role of giant-killer after defeating seventh-ranked Virginia earlier this season.

Carolina dominated the whole game and outshot Roanoke 45-33, keyed by a strong team defense which shut off the opposition's offense. UNC attacks rode Roanoke defensesmen with full-field pressure; Roanoke failed to clear the ball downfield eight times and only managed 11 shots on goal in the first half.

Paul Worstell, Bill MacGowan, and Rich Meade scored for Carolina in the first quarter; MacGowan, John Donato and Tom Venier in the second.

Roanoke made a furious second half comeback and trailed only 6-4 when the fourth period began. But Carolina got motivated quickly. Danny Cox, Tom Venier, and Larry Turkheimer scored in the first three minutes of that quarter to give Carolina an intimidating 9-5 lead.

Paul Worstell scored his second goal with 3:45 in the game for the final margin of victory.

Carolina's only loss this season was to Maryland, the number-one ranked team in the country. But this week, the Tar Heels face the toughest part of their challenging season when they travel to Annapolis, Md. Wednesday for a game against no. 3-ranked Navy. Friday night the team plays under the lights against Penn State.

Gorski breaks record, Carolina 2nd in Relays

by Doug Clark
Staff Writer

North Carolina and N.C. State dominated the competition Saturday on Fetzer Field at the 14th Carolina Relays. The Heels won five and the Wolfpack won six of the 20 events in the nine-team meet.

Performances were down somewhat Saturday, partially because the Duke Olympic Invitational Friday in Durham, in which several of the teams at the Carolina Relays competed.

The Tar Heels did not compete Friday and turned in some good performances in their last home appearance of the season. Jeff Gorski broke the nine-year-old meet record in the javelin with a winning toss of 229 feet, seven inches. Freshman Spencer Wynne captured the triple jump with a distance of 47-11.

The 440 intermediate hurdles proved to be a strong event for the Heels as Chris Cox and Chip Wilson used fast finishes to top the field. Senior Dennis Quick leaped 23-7 in the long jump to win that event.

The UNC distance medley relay team of William Southerland, Reggie Brown, Ralph King and Dave Hamilton never trailed and went on to a convincing 9:58.4 win over William and Mary.

In other events, Carolina's mile relay team of Quick, Southerland, Chuck Hayes and Brown was beaten by State 3:14.6 to 3:16.1. Hayes also finished third in the open 440, running 49.9.

Quick and Brown were busy all afternoon, as they ran on the 440-relay team that placed third in 41.9, a school record, behind Virginia State and State. Also on that team were Erwin Jones and Wilson. Jones was third in the high jump with a season best of 6-8, and Wilson was second in the 120-yard high hurdles, running 14.7.

Duke's Mike McGinnis and UNC's Dave Robinson both cleared 15 feet in the pole vault, but the Blue Devil won on fewer misses.

Dave Droebel was second in the steeplechase, Don Lockerie was third in the 800, Lee Stoffel was fourth in the discus, and Kent Taylor and Henry Jones were third and fourth in the mile.

Women golfers finish second in state

by Pete Mitchell
Staff Writer

It is not surprising to pick up a newspaper and read about a Wake Forest golf team winning a tournament. But Jay Haas and company did not have a hand in the Deacons' latest triumph. Instead, it was the Wake Forest women's team which grabbed the spotlight Friday and Saturday and came from behind to unseat Carolina as state champion.

Down by four strokes after Friday's opening round, Wake Forest stormed back Saturday to nail down an eight-shot victory over UNC the defending champ. The Deacons burned up the Duke University course with a two-day total of 713. Carolina finished second with a 721. Duke was third, 19 strokes behind the Tar Heels and Appalachian State was fourth.

For UNC, it was a sad ending to a disappointing week. The Tar Heels finished a distant eighth in the Lady Paladin Tournament a week ago and then had their unbeaten dual match string snapped Tuesday before falling in the state tournament.

"We're very disappointed with the way things went this weekend," said UNC Head Coach Dot Gunnells. "But we're not losing anyone off this year's team so we'll have a good chance of winning next year when the state tournament is at Finley. I'll take a lot of work over the summer."

East Carolina's Marsha Person won individual honors, shooting a 170 for the two-day tournament. Carolina's Sally Austin finished fourth and Mindy Moore sixth. In the second flight of golfers, UNC's Maura Stokes finished first and Susan Dillingham second.

Carolina's next competition is Thursday in the UNC-G Invitational at Greensboro.

The UNC women's tennis team continued its winning ways over the weekend by tying for first place in the Southern Collegiate Women's Tennis Tournament held in Columbus, Miss.

Carolina was paced by the No. 2 ranked doubles team of Jane Preyer and Nina Cloaningier which defeated the sixth-seeded team of Ann Etheredge and Judy Groerer of Mississippi University for Women 7-6, 6-4 to win the doubles championship.

The two-day tournament, in which Carolina finished third last year, was highlighted by South Florida's Judy Hanrahan's upset of No. 2-seeded Nancy Yeargin of Rollins College to win the singles title. Hanrahan's win enabled South Florida to gain a tie with the Tar Heels.

The Women's Southern Collegiate featured the best teams in the South and provided the stiffest competition for Carolina so far this spring. Carolina is 4-0 in dual matches and end their home season with a match against Wake Forest Thursday.
