 from wire and staff reports

Thirty-three new members were initiated into the Order of the Golden Fleece at a tapping ceremony Friday night in Gerrard Hall. The Order, founded in 1903, is an honorary society that annually inducts those students with the qualities of leadership, achievement and character.

The initiates included: Gwen Hightower Waddell, Robert Cabene Hopkins Matthews, Jimmy Wayne Grimsley, Kathryn Newsome Campbell, John Grimes Branch, Cathy Janis Rosenthal, Charles Alison Simonton, Robert Lee Wallace, James Crawford Roberts, Susan Battige Lindsay and Robert Lansing Pharr.

Also: Gary Watson Thomas, Susan Patricia Shackelford, John Dargan Watson, Bennett Loftin Steelman, Andromeda Monroe, William Burnley Brock, John Spotswood Russell, Harriet Sue Sugar, Roger Norman Kirkman, Lawrence Ellman Shirley, Jr. and Jane Bethell Preyer.

And: Donald Aaron Baer, Alan Stewart Murray, Katherine K. Carmichael, Leonard Victor Huggins, Paul T.D. Brandes, Richard Hamilton Ward, William S. Powell, Martha Nell Hardy, Benjamin Franklin Swalin, J. Dickson Phillips and Susie Sharp.

Tapping speaker for the ceremony was Edwin M. Yoder, columnist and associate editor of the Washington Star. L. Douglas Hunt addressed the tapping banquet held at the Carolina Inn.

Health Ed sign up begins

Special sign-up procedures for the popular Health Education (HEED) 33 (Topics in Human Sexuality) will begin at 8 a.m. Wednesday, April 14, in the South Gallery of the Student Union.

Taught by D Godfrey Hochbaum, the course's only section will be open to 100 students on a first-come, first-served basis. Enrollment is limited to exactly 50 males and 50 females.

HEED 33 is open to all students who wish to enroll, and will be taught on Mondays from 7:30 to 9 p.m., along with an additional 1½-hour seminar at some other time during the week.

According to Mitch Weisberg, a doctoral student in HEED and course assistant, the course involves "didactic and experiential learning" and conducts a special sign-up "so that all students will have equal opportunity to enroll."

According to Weisberg, there is also a concurrent course, HEED 141 (Small Group Leadership in Human Sexuality), which is open only to graduate students and instructs those enrolled to lead HEED 33 seminars. Weisberg added that students can register for HEED 141 by contacting the HEED department.

Cypriots attempt attack on U.S. embassy

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) Police firing tear gas grenades today scattered some 3,000 angry, anti-American Greek Cypriots who tore through a police barricade and attempted to attack the U.S. embassy.

Some demonstrators hurled rocks at police before fleeing.

There were no immediate reports of arrests or injuries.

The demonstrators, protesting the $1 million U.S.-Turkish military aid agreement, marched on the embassy after a downtown rally.

Some 600 riot police had been detailed to protect the embassy. The demonstrators, estimated by police to number about 3,000, were stopped briefly by riot police and a barbed wire barricade thrown across the main street leading to the embassy. But they soon tore the barricade apart and burst through.

On reaching a second barricade, the demonstrators made another attempt at breaking through.

At that point, police attacked with tear gas, scattering the crowd.

Study: women excluded from campaign staffs

WASHINGTON (UPI) Women have been virtually excluded from the top decision-making jobs on the staffs of the 1976 presidential candidates, according to a survey released today.

The survey, conducted by the Capitol Hill Women's Political Caucus, found that President Ford, Ronald Reagan and George Wallace have no women in top jobs on their campaign staffs. Those candidates' campaigns were called unacceptable.

Morris Udall was the only candidate who received a superior rating from the caucus, primarily because one of his women staffers carries the most influence of any woman campaign worker.

The campaigns of Henry Jackson, Jimmy Carter and Frank Church were described as "acceptable" because they have women in upper middle level positions.

Discount Playmakers' tickets available

Discount tickets will be available to students for the Carolina Playmakers' production of William Saroyan's The Time of Your Life. The show runs Thursday through Sunday, April 15-18 and 22-25, at 8 p.m. Unsold tickets for each night's show will be sold to students at the door for $1. No discount tickets will be sold in advance; all tickets sold beforehand will cost $2.50.
