Campus

The 39 Steps—Hitchcock laid down his reputation with this classic chase thriller. Robert Donat and Madeline Carroll are handcuffed together fleeing from both sides of the law and falling in love in the process. At 7 and 9:30 p.m. tonight in Carroll Hall. Free with a student ID.

Smiles of a Summer Night—A glorious carnal comedy about the spicy sport of partner switching. At the beginning the men have their proud illusions, but when the night is over the women have their men. This film was the basis of the hit musical A Little Night Music. With Eva Dahlbeck and Ull Jacobsson. (Also the short, Comput-Her Baby, directed by Dave Goldson and Neal Chasten). At 7 and 9:30 p.m. Saturday in Carroll Hall. Free with a student ID.

Falstaff (The Chimes at Midnight)—Orson Welles as Shakespeare's jolly fat man in this marvelous compilation of bits from Henry IV, Parts I and II, and The Merry Wives of Windsor. Jeanne Moreau is Doll Tearsheet, John Geilgud is Henry IV, and Keith Baxter is Prince Hal, along with Welles' incredible filmation of the Battle of Shrewsbury. At 7 and 9:30 p.m. Sunday in Carroll Hall. Free with a student ID.

TELEVISION

Upstairs, Downstairs, Part 1—the Bellamy saga enters its final season with 16 new episodes. The year is 1919, World War I has ended, and London is filled with cheering crowds. But there's little cheer at Eaton Place. Melancholy over wife Hazel's death, James is living as a virtual recluse in his bedroom, while Richard and Virginia are away on their honeymoon. At 9 p.m. Saturday on channel 4.

Entertainer of the Year Awards—Jackie Gleason is host for the seventh annual ceremony honoring outstanding entertainers in 13 categories, capped by Bob Hope's presentation of the Entertainer of the Year Award to Johnny Carson. At 10 p.m. Sunday on channel 2.

Tom Wolfe's Los Angeles—youth

gangs, bus riders and middleclass liberals in Los Angeles are portrayed in a series of loosely connected vignettes written and introduced by satirist Tom Wolfe. At 9 p.m. Saturday on channel 4.

MUSIC

Sunday recital—Craig Russell will perform on the lute, vihuela and guitar at 4 p.m. Jan. 16 in the Rehearsal Hall of Hill Hall. Free.

Auditions are now underway for the UNC Wind Ensemble. This group of select Woodwind, Brass and Percussion players rehearses Tuesday and Thursday, 4-6 p.m. This semester's schedule calls for three concerts on campus as well as a seven-concert tour of the state. Non-music majors are especially encouraged to try out. Auditions will be held for all instruments, but a special need exists for oboe, bassoon, euphonium, tuba and string bass. For more information, contact David Reed, Wind Ensemble Director, in Room 109 Hill Hall (933-2270).

ABC ponders live broadcast of executions

NEW YORK (UPI)—All three television networks said Thursday they will cover executions if allowed to do so, but CBS and NBC will not show the death penalty being carried out either live or on the evening news.

ABC has not yet decided what use it would make of such film.

Richard S. Salant, president of CBS News, said that "while we contend we have the right to be present if the rest of the press is, we have no intention of using any film we might shoot at or about the time of the execution and at most we would put it in our library for possible future use—far in the future—as part of history."

A CBS News spokesperson added, "If the print press has access to an execution, we believe we have the same rights. But you will not see it on the Evening News with Walter Cronkite."

NBC's position was essentially the same. Both networks noted the possibility of including execution footage some time in the future in a documentary on capital punishment.

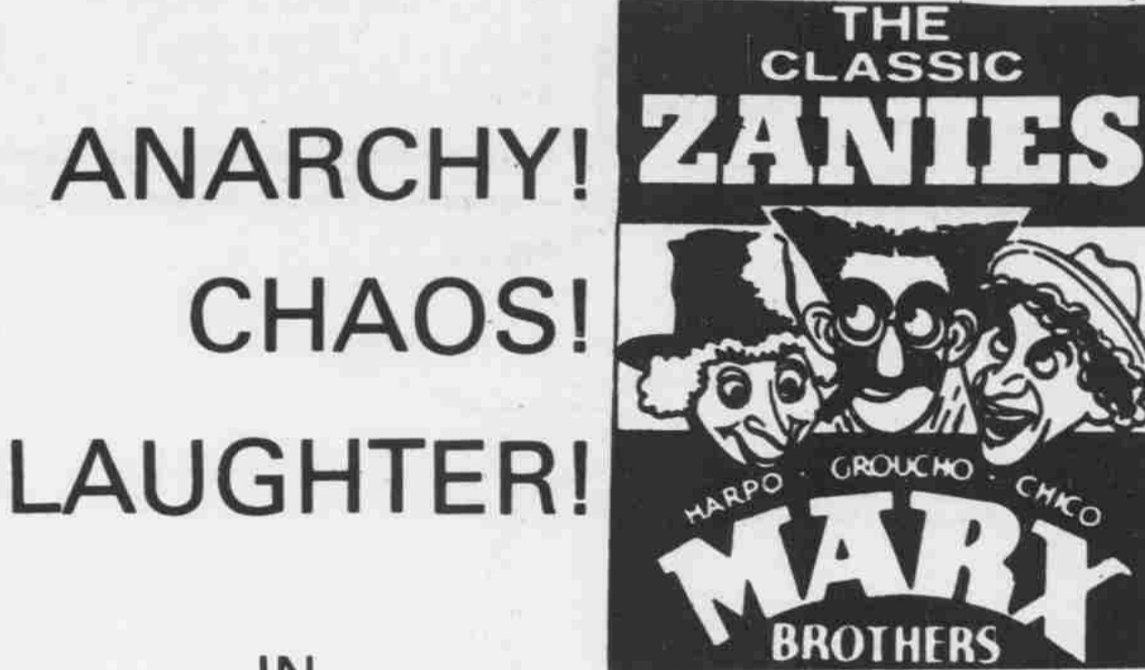

Marks Landsman, director of editorial assignments at NBC, noted that John Chancellor had already said on the air that his evening news program would not include execution footage and added, "We would not want any on-the-air use."

William Sheehan, president of ABC News, said, "Of course, we would cover an execution, but that is not to say we would broadcast it. To me, personally, the idea is repulsive, but I would not rule out the possibility that we would show pictures on a news broadcast. I am coming around to a strong recommendation against it, but I prefer to make that decision when we are sure there is going to be an execution that we will be allowed to cover."
