

Greenwood, Buba lead Heels

Field hockey opens today at UNC-G

They come from places like Bryn Mawr, Penn., Lambertville, N.J. and Concord, Mass. They all know the rules of hockey, an uncommon trait for folks south of Virginia. But the 27 members of the field hockey team will don Carolina blue and white uniforms today for their opening game and will call themselves the Tar Heels.

Carolina Coach Dolly Hunter, entering her second year as head field hockey coach, is excited about her northern transplants, old and new, and expects them to come out swinging at 3 p.m. today against UNC-G in Greensboro.

So much talent is displayed by the team that Hunter is having trouble deciding who should be the starters on the varsity squad. She says sophomore Mary Holzer will be the starting goalie after her showing last year.

two of the most experienced Tar Heels. Filling the halfback slots will be Woodward and senior Jane Ronner at center and left, respectively, with the right half to be either Fresco or Joan Zabriskie, both freshmen. For sweeper, a new position created by Carolina's change in alignment, there will be a toss-up between sophomore defensive ace Betsy Fahl and senior second team goalie Ann Philbrick.

However, things do not look so concrete up front. Buba, Conkwright and junior wing Laurie Ginter are expected to hold three of the four frontline positions, but a pair of freshmen, Kim Zimmerman and Libby Mathiason, will fight for the other wing spot. Probably Zimmerman will start today because an ankle injury has temporarily knocked Mathiason out of competition.

Coach Hunter is nearly as excited about the Tar Heels' schedule as she is about the team. "We are playing many of the same teams, but we have added three new Virginia teams — Hollins, Roanoke and Virginia Tech — which will be a little more difficult than the teams in North Carolina," Hunter said.

The second line of battle, consisting of two links, will probably be the most solid line in Coach Hunter's attack, featuring Greenwood and McCandless.

Field hockey, volleyball open seasons today

Two recipients of new scholarship money to the UNC women's athletic program are field hockey player Bashi Buba (left) and volleyball player Donna Gutterman (right). Both of their teams open their 1977 seasons Tuesday, the volleyball team at N.C. State and the field hockey team at UNC-Greensboro.

Heel volleyball debuts at State

The Tar Heel women's volleyball team opens a demanding fall schedule with a 7:30 p.m. match Tuesday at N.C. State, and for the first time in the sport's history at UNC, scholarship players will participate for Carolina.

other players UNC coach Beth Miller points toward as leaders of the 1977 squad. "There is plenty of talent, and if the girls play well, and consistently, we can have a good team," Miller said.

Senior Donna Gutterman, a three-year starter known for her spiking talent, is one scholarship player while freshman Sue Strahl of Liverpool, N.Y., is the other.

The Heels finished fourth in the N.C. AIAW regional tournament last year. Included on their schedule for this fall is powerhouse Duke, along with Appalachian State and East Carolina. UNC will participate in two round robin tournaments this season, one in Florida and another in Maryland.

Is it sick to love a pen?

Not if it's an extraordinary Pilot Razor Point marker pen. A fiber-tipped pen so precisely balanced, it will always feel comfortable in your hand, even after hours of writing. Its sturdy plastic point, surrounded by a unique Pilot metal "collar" writes a distinctly smooth, sharp line. In fact, it's the thinnest tipped pen you can buy. And that makes it just great for pages of notes or that one important love letter. Best of all, it's only 69c and is now available at your college book store.

So if your Pilot pen makes you lovesick, don't be ashamed to admit it. After all, it'll always be good to you.

PILOT fineline marker pens.
They'll never leave you flat.
