

'Moms' Mabry: who's he?

By FRANK SNYDER
Staff Writer

Bill Mabry

was furnished with Nautilus machines, and Coach Paul Hoolihan has designed a whole new program for Mabry and the other players to "enjoy."

"Actually, it's not so bad," he sighed. "Coach Hoolihan's program is specially designed to condition only the muscles a football player needs to develop." Mabry and his teammates must face the machines twice a week.

It seems only natural that, with such a constant emphasis on training and football in general, the players would sometimes second-guess their priorities of college life. Mabry is no exception.

"It happened to me in the fall semester of my sophomore year," he said. "I thought I was doing a good job (on the field), but I wasn't getting to play much. And scholastically, I had no idea what I wanted to do. I was very discouraged."

It took a lot of thinking and self-analysis for Mabry to finally reach a decision. "I asked myself, 'Why did I come to college?' and the only obvious answer was 'to get an education' — not to play football." After settling that priority, Mabry then approached the problem of football itself. In the end, it was a matter of pride, which made him stick it out.

With such a persistent attitude driving him toward his goals, the future looks positive for the 22-year-old senior. As of now, he would like to coach football, and is majoring in physical education. Mabry is undecided, however, as to which type of football he would like to coach. "High school football is much more fun," he said, comparing it to college football, which he said is too much of a business.

However, Mabry has other plans for the immediate future. "I've been here for three years," he said, "and I've never scored a touchdown. There's nothing I'd love better."

With eight more games on the schedule, "Moms" Mabry is sure going to try.

Women's netters at Wake, golfers vs. Duke

Black leads favored Tar Heels against much-improved Deacons

By WILL WILSON
Staff Writer

Stewart Smith (UNC '75) is not used to pulling against her alma mater, especially in women's tennis. After all, she played on the team here all four years she was in school.

But she will be doing exactly that at 2 p.m. today when Carolina travels to Wake Forest. Why? Because, as director of the Wake Forest indoor tennis center, she is the new Deacon women's tennis coach.

"All my friends back in Chapel Hill have been building up the match," she said Monday, "but it's all a joke because you guys are so favored. We're definitely the underdog, but it's a challenge."

In past years, Wake Forest-Carolina matches have been pretty much like Smith said — a joke. But this fall, Wake is giving women's athletic scholarships for the first time, and the result is a substantially stronger team, at least on paper.

Deacs outdistance men's B golfers

The Carolina B team golfers took on a field of 24 A teams in the Foxfire Intercollegiate Tournament at Pinchurst last weekend, and the Tar Heels beat all of them — except Wake Forest.

It was an outstanding achievement for the golfers to place second without the aid of the top Carolina players. Gary Hallberg was low medalist in the tournament as his 36 hole of 139 paced the Demon Deacons to a first-place team total of 573.

UNC was second with a 586 score, South Carolina followed at 588, N.C. State had 589 and East Tennessee State scored 596.

Eric Lawhon was low man for the Heels with rounds of 73-72 for a 145 total. Mark Helfrich finished second with a 74-72 — 146; Phil Bland had 72-76 — 148; freshman Frank Fuhrer scored 77-73 — 150 and Jim Taylor carded a 75-75 — 150.

UNC Golf Coach Devon Brouse was proud of his team's performance in the tournament.

UNC's six-man A team travels to Greenville, S.C., this weekend for the Furman Four Ball Championship and the six-man B team competes in a match at Madison College.

— DAVID McNEILL

Football injuries

Three Carolina football players are listed as questionable for the Texas Tech game Saturday because of injuries.

Tackle Dee Hardison, linebacker Ronnie Dowdy and starting quarterback Matt Kupec have minor injuries that might prevent them from playing. Hardison suffered a knee injury against Northwestern, Dowdy received a sprained ankle against the Wildcats while Kupec has a bruised knee.

DERBY DAY IS COMING!

THE Daily Crossword by William Lutwiniak

ACROSS	DOWN	25 Bone: pref.
1 A Marx	1 Visored cap	26 Old-time scepter
5 Topic	2 Cote d' —	27 Aromas
10 Cry out	3 Ceremony	28 Send back
14 Pinza	4 Gehrig or Costello	29 Baseball gear
15 Bird of the crow family	5 Part of Ireland	30 Government security
16 English painter	6 Garb	31 Man of Havana
17 Display confidence	7 Cry at an ancient party	33 White House family
20 Dudgeon	8 Torme or Ott	35 Gudrun's husband
21 "I cannot tell —"	9 Remnant	37 Flower part
	10 Pacific island	38 Musical sound
	11 Military addresses	39 Harvest
	12 California export	44 Barber's gear
	13 European	45 Royalty
	18 Milkmaid's item	46 Man in blue
	19 Enjoying	48 French artist
	23 Jutland native	49 — Hari
	24 Lissome	50 Not many
		51 Oil country
		52 Gemstone
		53 Uproar
		54 Cupid
		55 Wood: pref.
		57 Recipe abbr.
		58 — diem
		59 Poet's word

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

SEMI	GORD	QUAY
UPON	RULER	URGE
BITS	ARENA	ANON
SCHUSS	BOOMER
LAPS	AFTER
CABALS	HITT	MOO
ABATE	PARIS	PAR
NOTE	BASIC	TIME
TUT	BUNKS	HARES
ONG	ARMS	PACERS
DRILL	BOLT
FIDDLESTICKS
BOFF	BRASE	CANT
ALOE	RIVER	AREA
DEER	SPAT	LEER

Anne Frautschi

Women's basketball

Women interested in trying out for the UNC varsity or junior varsity basketball teams should contact coach Jennifer Alley in the Women's Gym before Wednesday, Sept. 28.

"The collegiate atmosphere is totally different from tournaments, and we have a heck of a spring schedule."

UNC Coach Kitty Harrison, calling the Deacons "stronger than ever," said Sunday she would probably field her same lineup that won the opening two matches of the season this past weekend: Susie Black, Camey Timberlake (Smith's teammate here in 1974-75), Lloyd Hatcher, Margaret Scott, Betty Baugh Harrison and Janet Shands.

Coach Harrison said she may substitute Anne Frautschi for Shands at the No. 6 spot, putting Shands with Harrison at the No. 3 doubles position, in place of Frautschi and Scott.

"She can play right up there with Cindy and Jeanne Eldridge."

Eldridge is a senior from the Midwest who is on scholarship for the first time this season. Last year, she reached the consolation finals of the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women State Tournament before losing to UNC's Susie Black.

Completing Smith's preseason top six are senior Ann Konhaus and sophomore Mary Chatman.

Wake has yet to play a match, but it beat Appalachian State 12-0 in a scrimmage last week. In that match, Corey played No. 1, followed in order by Eldridge, Phelps, Snipes, Konhaus and Chatman.

"The order may change a little," Smith said. "I like to go strictly on a challenge match system, and they'll still be playing some today (Monday)."

Smith said her goal for the fall was to solidify the team.

"The collegiate atmosphere is totally different from tournaments, and we have a heck of a spring schedule."

UNC Coach Kitty Harrison, calling the Deacons "stronger than ever," said Sunday she would probably field her same lineup that won the opening two matches of the season this past weekend: Susie Black, Camey Timberlake (Smith's teammate here in 1974-75), Lloyd Hatcher, Margaret Scott, Betty Baugh Harrison and Janet Shands.

Coach Harrison said she may substitute Anne Frautschi for Shands at the No. 6 spot, putting Shands with Harrison at the No. 3 doubles position, in place of Frautschi and Scott.

"She can play right up there with Cindy and Jeanne Eldridge."

Eldridge is a senior from the Midwest who is on scholarship for the first time this season. Last year, she reached the consolation finals of the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women State Tournament before losing to UNC's Susie Black.

Completing Smith's preseason top six are senior Ann Konhaus and sophomore Mary Chatman.

Wake has yet to play a match, but it beat Appalachian State 12-0 in a scrimmage last week. In that match, Corey played No. 1, followed in order by Eldridge, Phelps, Snipes, Konhaus and Chatman.

"The order may change a little," Smith said. "I like to go strictly on a challenge match system, and they'll still be playing some today (Monday)."

Smith said her goal for the fall was to solidify the team.

"The collegiate atmosphere is totally different from tournaments, and we have a heck of a spring schedule."

UNC Coach Kitty Harrison, calling the Deacons "stronger than ever," said Sunday she would probably field her same lineup that won the opening two matches of the season this past weekend: Susie Black, Camey Timberlake (Smith's teammate here in 1974-75), Lloyd Hatcher, Margaret Scott, Betty Baugh Harrison and Janet Shands.

Coach Harrison said she may substitute Anne Frautschi for Shands at the No. 6 spot, putting Shands with Harrison at the No. 3 doubles position, in place of Frautschi and Scott.

"She can play right up there with Cindy and Jeanne Eldridge."

Eldridge is a senior from the Midwest who is on scholarship for the first time this season. Last year, she reached the consolation finals of the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women State Tournament before losing to UNC's Susie Black.

Completing Smith's preseason top six are senior Ann Konhaus and sophomore Mary Chatman.

Wake has yet to play a match, but it beat Appalachian State 12-0 in a scrimmage last week. In that match, Corey played No. 1, followed in order by Eldridge, Phelps, Snipes, Konhaus and Chatman.

"The order may change a little," Smith said. "I like to go strictly on a challenge match system, and they'll still be playing some today (Monday)."

Devils strong, Gunnells says

The UNC women's golf team takes on the Duke Blue Devils at noon today on Finley Golf Course. The Tar Heel golfers and Coach Dot Gunnells got a glimpse of the Duke squad in the Duke Invitational held Sept. 16 in Durham.

"I think they're going to be real strong from what I've seen," Gunnells said. "I'd put them at least two in the state...at least."

The emphasis on "at least" is Gunnells's way of stressing that her team, by far the strength of the state last season, will not have the easy pickings they may be accustomed to.

"I think it will be real close," she said.

The Blue Devils picked up impressive wins last week over Wake Forest and Appalachian State. The Deacons were No. 2 in the state last season and tied for second with Duke in Duke's invitational.

Three starting freshmen and the No. 2 finisher in last season's state tournament are at least partly responsible for Duke's success thus far.

Carolina also boasts a young starting team. The probable starters for this afternoon are freshmen Maureen Long and Cathy Graham, sophomores Stephanie Kornegay and Susan Cary, and senior Bonnie Bell.

Depth is a welcome feature on this year's team. Kornegay and Cary have a pretty firm grasp on the top two spots.

"The three bottom spots could vary from any of eight girls," Gunnells said, "and it will vary."

— KEN ROBERTS

College should be more than just classes.

FRATERNITIES
The Complete College Experience

Take a Look at Fraternities which Explode with the Challenge for Individual Reward and Group Activity

Informal Rush Through September 24

Formal Rush 7-10 p.m. September 25, 26, 28

Call 933-2064 for more information

Hats From Julian's

Tweed
In gunclub checks or glenurghart checks.

Wool
Corduroy with a leather strap.

The Greek Fisherman's
The original favorite

Downtown Franklin Street
Julian's

THERE'S MORE AT YOUR STUDENT STORE

See us for FAST Film Developing

Get the BIGGEST Color Filter CONTOUR.

All Kodak Film at Discount Prices

COUPON MUST ACCOMPANY ORDER

KODACOLOR
Developed and Printed

12 EXPOSURE ROLL... ONLY $2.99

20 EXPOSURE ROLL... ONLY $3.99

No Foreign Film

OFFER EXPIRES: DEC. 31, 1977

There's More at Your STUDENT STORE

CARDS?

Do something a little wild.

Surprise people

Serve MICHELOB.

BY ANHEUSER-BUSCH, INC., ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI • SINCE 1896

DISTRIBUTED LOCALLY BY HARRIS, INC., DURHAM