

Lawrence, Caldwell should start Sat.

Amos Lawrence and Alan Caldwell, both of whom suffered minor injuries against Maryland Saturday, should start against Clemson.

Lawrence, a freshman tailback, suffered a bruised kidney and should be able to play against the Tigers, according to team trainer John Lacey.

Strong safety Caldwell received a left groin strain against the Terrapins and was on crutches early in the week as a precaution, officials say. He also should be able to start against Clemson.

Rams eye playoffs despite State loss

The UNC Club football Rams can clinch a post-season play-off berth with a win in either one of their final two conference contests despite a 22-7 loss last Sunday to the N.C. State Club Kayotes.

State's club team, though it boasts a 4-0-1 record and the Eastern Division Title, is ineligible for post-season play. This puts the UNC club in a commanding position despite the fact that the Rams are a game and a half back in the division standings with a mark of 3-2 in conference play.

After the Kayotes had scored the first touchdown to lead 6-0, the Rams stormed down field on a 66-yard march that was capped by a 38-yard scoring pass from Rick Tambourie to Laird Williams. Buck Wells' point-after touchdown gave UNC a 7-6 lead.

The advantage was short-lived as State kick returner Louis Cade returned the ensuing kick to the UNC nine. Joe Powell sneaked over from the three, and State again took the lead. The Kayotes went for two on a fake placement, but UNC's Jarvis Brown was there to break up the pass attempt. State led 12-7.

The Rams drove to the State 46 on the next series but lost possession on a fumble. After the Ram defense drove the Kayotes back to their 32, State launched an eight-play scoring drive that was capped by a seven-yard run off the option pitch by Ed Outland.

The Rams played a fine second half but were still unable to overcome the second-period blitz which saw State run 27 offensive plays to UNC's nine. A 74-yard UNC drive was stymied at the State three, and three drives into State territory ended with interceptions. State played poorly in the half, losing the ball repeatedly on fumbles.

In order to sew up the play-off berth, Carolina must defeat one of its two remaining opponents. The Rams will go for the key win at 2 p.m. this Sunday afternoon on the Astroturf against Clemson.

Carolina Godiva Track Club will go for its second major team title this weekend in the North Carolina AAU Championships.

Dave Hamilton, Richard Schwartz, Roland Rust and Dave Cich will lead Godiva.

RE-ELECT ALDERMAN GERRY COHEN

On Tuesday, November 8, Chapel Hill will hold a municipal election. If you registered to vote this fall or were registered to vote in Chapel Hill for the 1976 Presidential Election, you can vote on Tuesday.

Gerry Cohen has worked hard to get better bus service, to appoint students to town boards and commissions, and to get the town to oppose the Southern Bell rate hike.

You can vote for four candidates for the Board of Aldermen. Use one of your four votes to Re-Elect Gerry Cohen.
