

Sadat to address Israeli parliament

By United Press International
 CAIRO, Egypt — President Anwar Sadat, denounced by his allies and deserted by members of his own cabinet, Thursday accepted an invitation to go to Jerusalem this weekend to address the Israeli parliament.

"I am going," Sadat said upon his return from Damascus and futile talks to win approval of the trip from Syrian President Hafez Assad. "I always mean what I say."

In Jerusalem, Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin told a group of visiting U.S. congressmen that Sadat would arrive Saturday night and address the Knesset Sunday afternoon in either English or Arabic.

Within an hour of Sadat's return from Damascus, Ismail Fahmi, Sadat's pro-

American foreign minister, resigned because "I feel that I can no longer carry out my duties and share the responsibilities under these circumstances."

Sadat first named Mohammed Mahmoud Riad, minister of state for foreign affairs, to succeed Fahmi, but Riad resigned as well in apparent protest over Sadat's visit.

Sadat then named a former professor and current executive on the Al Ahran newspaper, Butros Ghali, a Coptic Christian, to fill both posts.

Assad said after his meeting with Sadat he was deeply hurt over the Egyptian president's decision.

During Sadat's visit to Damascus, the Syrian government tried to convince the Egyptian leader to change his mind, pointing out the dangers of his intended visit and its negative effects on the Arab cause, the Syrian statement said.

The Fatah Palestinian guerrilla group, issuing its first reaction to Sadat's visit, joined the denunciation. Thus far, only The Sudan, Egypt's African neighbor to the south, has voiced support for Sadat's trip to Israel.

In Jerusalem, Begin said Sadat's visit would not interfere with efforts to reconvene the Geneva Middle East peace talks. Begin also touched on the opposition to Sadat's visit by Egypt's Arab allies.

"There have been some suspicions in the Arab world that we are trying to drive a wedge, but this is not true," Begin said. "We shall be very glad to meet all representatives of the neighboring Arab countries."

Chapel Hillians coordinate aid to N.C. disaster victims

By EVELYN SAHR
 Staff Writer

Two Chapel Hill residents are coordinating efforts to carry a crew of volunteers to some of the western North Carolina counties declared disaster areas after recent flooding.

Maggie Scarborough of the University's Chaplains Association and Lee Biggar, who describes himself as a concerned citizen, are arranging the trips.

"Volunteers will perform manual labor such as shoveling mud out of homes and stores and removing debris as well as general cleanup chores," Scarborough said. "Others will work in disaster centers helping people fill out forms and directing them to the appropriate agencies."

"The elderly and people who will be moving back into their homes will also be needing assistance," she said.

A group of 10 volunteers headed by Biggar will be leaving at noon today for the Burnsville area in Yancey County.

"The flooding in Yancey County alone caused about $60 million in damage," Scarborough said. "Two hundred people were left homeless and 13,000 people had house and property damages."

Other trips are planned for Nov. 23-25 and Nov. 25-27. Groups providing assistance on these dates will either return to the Burnsville area or help in the Hot Springs area in Mitchell County.

"When we go up this weekend a couple of us will check out the different areas to see where the need is greatest," Biggar said.

Persons interested in participating in one or both of the trips can sign up at the Y-center or call the Wesley Foundation (942-2152) or Switchboard (929-7177) by Tuesday night.

The volunteers' activities will be coordinated by Mennonite Disaster Services, a project of the Mennonite Church. The Mennonites stay in close contact with organizations such as the Red Cross but prefer to assist disaster victims on a personal basis, Scarborough said.

Scarborough said many of the volunteers will help reconstruct private bridges and access roads which the federal government will not replace.

Food and lodging are provided by the Mennonite Church, but volunteers are urged to bring sleeping bags and warm clothing.

Biggar said local churches and civic groups have been asked for donations to help cover the volunteers' transportation costs. He said the Campus Y has donated $50.

Those who cannot join one of the volunteer crews but would like to provide financial aid should call Switchboard or the Wesley Foundation, Biggar said.

Blyth

Blyth would not say if the locker room would be changed by Christmas. "I do not want to comment further until I look into this more," he said.

Blyth had said Wednesday the department would "look at everything we continually do and try to rectify an unfair situation. How far we can go I don't know, but we'll do something."

Blyth said Wednesday that the gymnasium facilities were not "totally comparable in terms of everyone having completely equal facilities."

A 1976 Student Grievance Committee recommended the male faculty locker room be converted into a locker room for women. However, no action was taken.

The 1976 committee also recommended that a weight-lifting room be converted into a women's locker and basket room, and this change has been made.

Blyth said Wednesday that the male faculty locker room was not changed because "we had no place to put the men faculty."

The three new grievances state that between 1,500 and 2,000 baskets go unused in the men's main locker and basket room.

Yack' portraits resume January

A Yackery Yack portrait session has been scheduled for Jan. 30 through Feb. 10, Yack Editor Ted Kylesaid Thursday.

Johnston Scholars, who have been asked to have their portraits made, may do so then, Kylesaid.

Today is the last day a photographer will take Yack portraits this semester, but all appointments have been filled, Kylesaid. Only students with appointments may have their pictures taken today.
