

Matmen gain five victories

By KEITH JONES
Staff Writer

If the Carolina Invitational is any indication of how the Tar Heel wrestling team will do this year, things are looking bright.

In the tournament held in Carmichael Auditorium this weekend, the Heels placed seven wrestlers in the finals, representing six of the 10 weight classes (two of the Carolina finalists wrestled each other). The Heels came away with five championships, two more than their closest competition from N.C. State. Other teams included in the eight-team tourney were Duke, Virginia, ECU, Appalachian State, Old Dominion and Pembroke.

Carolina Coach Bill Lam was very pleased with this team's performance. "Any time you're in a tournament with this type of competition and come away with five champions, you've done very well. Our boys did a great job. I just wish our fans had had the opportunity to see (Kenny) Evans. He's been super."

Evans won by forfeit at 134 lbs. over State's Joe Butto, who was sick. C. D. Mock at 126, Dave Juergens at 142, Jeff Reintgen at 150 and Clayton Barnard at 167 also took first places for UNC.

Other winners included State's Jim Lenz at 118; State's Terry Reese at 158 over UNC's Mike Benzil; ECU's Jay Dever at 177; State's Joe Lidowski at 190; and ECU's D. T. Joyner at heavyweight.

Probably the most exciting finals match came at 126 where the freshman Mock edged Appalachian State's Ike Anderson, 7-5. Mock's takedown late in the first period was countered by Anderson's reversal early in the second to tie the match at 2-2. Mock, scoring two escapes and a takedown in the second period to his opponent's escape and takedown, held a slim 6-5 lead entering the final two minutes. Anderson opened on top and conceded a point for an escape in letting Mock to his feet, hoping for a takedown. But the takedown never came as Mock took a 7-5 victory.

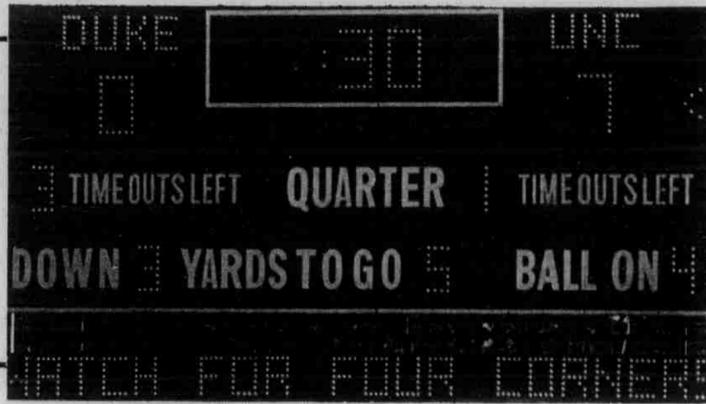

Evans' win at 134 gives him two tournament victories in his first action as a freshman. Last week he finished first in the Monarch Open.

Juergens defeated teammate Greg Duke 8-5 for the win at 142 after rallying from a 5-1 deficit. Reintgen, a two-time ACC champ at 150, broke a scoreless bout through two periods with State's Mike Koob with an escape, a takedown and a riding time advantage for a 4-0 win.

Barnard, a junior transfer from Ashland, Ohio, and a Division II All-American, controlled his match for a 4-1 win over ECU's Vick Northrup.

The Heels travel to Chattanooga this weekend to compete in the Southern Open Tournament.

Carolina might need a stall offense in football rather than basketball when it faces tough Oklahoma or Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 19 in Memphis, Tenn. The Duke scoreboard operator thought something like that would happen in Carolina's 16-3 win over the Blue Devils Saturday. Staff photo by Fred Barbour.

Liberty Bowl looks inviting to Heels

The cheers echoing from inside the crowded visitor's dressing room at Duke's Wallace Wade Stadium told the story.

Carolina's football team was confirming the worst-kept secret of recent times — that it was going to the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 19.

Word leaked out early last week that if Carolina won or even came close to winning the game against the Blue Devils, the Tar Heels were on their way to Memphis.

Carolina definitely will face the loser of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game this Friday, the executive director of the Liberty Bowl, A. F. "Bud" Dudley, said Sunday. The winner of that game goes to the Orange Bowl. Oklahoma last week was ranked No. 2 in the nation with a 9-1 record, Nebraska was No. 10 at 8-2, and the Tar Heels were tied at No. 16.

"I think we've given Carolina a pretty tough opponent," Dudley said.

The Liberty Bowl is played, strangely enough, in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, with a crowd capacity of 51,000. Dudley estimated that 40 million viewers will watch the game on nationwide television (9 p.m. EST, 8 p.m. CST ABC-TV).

The bowl will command considerable national attention because it's on national television in a slot that will be vacated the previous week by professional football. The same audience accustomed to watching the pros bang heads will watch the Tar Heels bang heads with the Sooners or the Cornhuskers.

The bowl is a lucrative one. The two teams in the bowl share 75 percent of the total gross income, including gate receipts, radio, television and concessions. Dudley said Carolina should receive about $325,000. Of that amount, Carolina will take $125,000 for expenses and 40 percent of the remainder. The other 60 percent will be divided evenly among the other six schools in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

UNC triumphs over Blue Devils, 16-3

Continued from page 1.

Dunn was removed from the field by stretcher and reportedly was unconscious for several minutes. He was taken to Duke Medical Center for examination of his neck, but there was no serious or permanent damage.

"I didn't try to hurt him," Hardison said. "I just go out there to play football."

"Dunn dropped back to pass," Dooley said. "Dee rushed around real well, and Dunn stepped up into the pocket. He stuck his arm out and hit him. It wasn't intentional."

Lawrence, Carolina's flashy freshman tailback, was hobbled near the end of the game with a minor sprained ankle, cutting short his bid to overcome N.C. State's Ted Brown for the individual rushing title this season. Lawrence picked up 138 yards against Duke, boosting his total yardage for the season to 1,210 — 41 yards short of Brown's total for the year.

Monday Morning

By GENE UPCHURCH

"A bowl is a reward for a football team," UNC Coach Bill Dooley said after the 16-3 win over Duke Saturday. "We don't get an opportunity often to play teams from around the country like this."

"We're delighted to have UNC," Dudley said. The Liberty Bowl is famous for its spectacles, and Dudley said this year will be no different. He said he expects to go on the air with a fireworks display over the stadium spelling out the two teams names and the bowl's name.

Carolina is not the only ACC school going to a bowl this season. Three other teams — Maryland, N.C. State and Clemson — will be playing in post-season games.

Maryland, whom Carolina defeated 16-7 in College Park, Md., will play Minnesota in the first Hall of Fame Bowl Dec. 22 in Birmingham, Ala. Maryland had a 4-4 record after the Carolina loss but won its last three games to finish 7-4. Minnesota also has a 7-4 record but defeated Big Ten champion Michigan.

State will play in the Peach Bowl New Year's Eve in Atlanta. The opponent for the Wolfpack hasn't been decided yet. State also finished the season 7-4 and lost to Carolina 27-14 in Raleigh.

Clemson, after barely escaping a scare by South Carolina Saturday 31-27, makes its first appearance in a bowl since 1959 when it meets Pittsburgh in the Gator Bowl this season. The Tigers, under new coach Charley Pell, finished the season 8-2-1.

Lawrence, however, did finish the season with a better average per carry than Brown. Brown had 5.7 yards per carry this season while Lawrence rushed for 6.2 yards per carry to lead the league in rushing average.

"I'm really happy with the season," Lawrence said. "I didn't expect for me to come in as a freshman and play. I didn't think I'd get all the honors that I've gotten. The offensive line has played really well and that's helped me to do well."

Heels take volleyball second, earn trip to AIAW nationals

By DINITA JAMES
Staff Writer

UNC volleyball coach Beth Miller said last week a visit to the AIAW national finals in Provo, Utah, would make a nice trip for her and the UNC volleyball players. And they're going to find out just how nice after qualifying for the finals with a second place finish this weekend in the District I AIAW tournament in Harrisburg, Va.

Carolina emerged second in its preliminary pool Friday after a three-way round robin tiebreaker. Carolina defeated James Madison College in its first pool match, 15-3, 15-6 and then downed South Carolina 15-2, 15-7. UNC lost to Morehead (Ky.) State University 15-12, 16-14, setting up the tiebreaker between UNC, USC and Morehead State.

In the tiebreaker, Morehead beat the Tar Heels 15-7 and then beat USC. Carolina beat USC 15-2 to advance to the double-elimination finals Saturday with the winners from the other pool.

In the first round of play Saturday, the Tar Heels lost to Northern Kentucky, the winner of the other pool, 15-12, 15-12, and moved into the loser's bracket.

Carolina then beat Tennessee, 15-1, 14-16, 15-9 to set up a rematch with Morehead State. The match was perhaps the biggest of the day because a win for the Tar Heels would automatically send them to the nationals but a loss would put an end to their postseason play.

Carolina put together two very good games to beat Morehead 15-13, 15-9.

Assured of a trip to the nationals, the Tar Heels faced Northern Kentucky in the finals. They won the first game 15-10 but lost the last two 6-15, 2-15.

Reviewing the overall tournament play, Miller said she was "really proud of the way the team played."

Miller said she felt that the Tar Heels played really well in the first two matches of pool play but suffered a lapse against Morehead State. "We couldn't get our offense going. Our passes weren't going right and that really hurt us against Morehead," Miller said.

The match against Tennessee gave the Tar Heels a mental lift going into the match against Morehead State, a team they had been unable to beat in pool play. The win against Morehead State sent a tired Tar Heel team into the finals.

"We wanted to win No. 1," Miller said. "I don't think we had a letdown. Under all that pressure, I think we handled it very well."

"We had a tremendous first game, but Northern Kentucky dominated the second and third. We were very happy anyway."

King in nationals

Carolina's Ralph King will run in the NCAA cross country finals today in Spokane, Wash. King, a senior, is the ACC champ. He qualified for the nationals with a fifth-place performance in the regionals last weekend.

Thick 'n Chewy Thin 'n Crispy

BUY ONE GET ONE FREE

Good Monday, Nov. 21 thru Thursday, Nov. 24
106 S. Estes Drive

COUPON

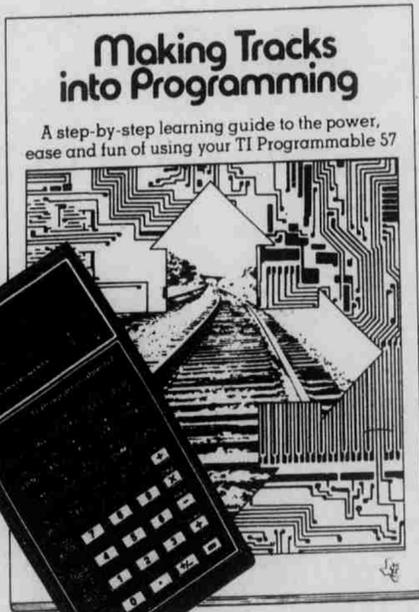

SPECIAL SALE!

Save $20 on a

Texas Instruments
Programmable TI57

Calculator

Reg. $79.95 Now $59.95

Texas Instruments
Programmable TI57

THERE'S MORE AT YOUR

STUDENT STORE

TI Programmable 57 and "Making Tracks into Programming" book — the self-teaching programming system for students and professionals.

- Powerful program memory stores up to 150 keystrokes.
- AOS™ — TI's unique algebraic operating system — allows you to move into programming smoothly and naturally — simply key the problem as you would state it. The sequence of entry is left-to-right as problems are usually written.
- 6 different forms of branching make decisions and branch to appropriate program segments automatically without program interruption.
- 2-levels of subroutine eliminate needless keystroke repetition and effectively increase the size of program memory.
- Eight multi-use memories for storing and recalling values, addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of data to memory.
- Nine levels of parentheses and the ability to store up to 4 pending operations allow you to handle complex equations quickly and easily.
- 2 conditional loop features for repetitive problem solving.
- "Making Tracks Into Programming" — a new 200 page illustrated learning guide with step-by-step instructions and examples.
- Solve repetitive calculations at the touch of a key. Recall frequently used instruction sequences. Display current results at any point in the problem solution.
- Single-step and back-step keys make it easy to review or revise a program.
- Editing functions allow for easy insertion and deletion of program steps.
- Momentarily halt calculations in progress by programming in a pause, or automatically single step through a program by holding down pause key while it is executing.
- Bright, 12-character LED display shows 8-digits plus sign in standard format; 8-digit mantissa plus sign, 2-digit exponent plus sign in scientific notation.
- Display provides either fixed or full-floating decimal with scientific notation.
- Many advanced math capabilities are available directly from keyboard including trig, logs, powers, roots, reciprocals, polar-rectangular conversions, mean and standard deviation.

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
INCORPORATED

