Smith aiming to gun down Helms

reading program while a state senator as proof of his interest in upgrading education.

Smith said the Carter administration is on the right track in raising prices gradually.

Smith said that Helms has voted for only modest amounts of money for solar energy development, while he maintains that the solar prospect is tremendous. Smith added that the most important step in energy conservation that North Carolinians can take would be to insulate their homes.

Much of North Carolina's objection to federal aid to education in the past, Smith insisted, is because it would mean educating black people.

Accusing Helms of negativism toward many important issues, Smith said North Carolinians must look forward with optimism, hope and love.

Smith said he also differs with Helms on energy issues.

"I'm a great believer in anti-trust laws," Smith said. He explained that while Helms supports deregulation of natural gas, he opposes it because it would lead to windfall profits for the industry.

"I think full production is the only cure for inflation," Smith said. He added that if the private sector cannot provide jobs for all who want them, the government should provide jobs for them.

"There's just a lot to be done," Smith explained, recalling the work of the Civilian Conservation Corps during the Great Depression.

Smith also disagreed with Helms over the Panama Canal controversy. He agreed that if the man on the street is asked if the United States should give away the canal, nearly everyone will say no. But he disagreed with the assessment saying, "My position is we're not giving away the Panama Canal."

"I think it would be foolhardy to reject any kind of treaty," Smith maintained, but he added that Americans must be sure of their rights to use it after the year 2,000.

'Scar Wars' ends three-month run on radio tonight

Tonight at 8 on WXYC (89.3 FM) Scar Wars concludes its stellar three month run. Lyndon Fuller's spoof of the blockbuster movie Star Wars has followed the adventures of the original story with moderate accuracy, adding strange twists along the way. This evening, for example, Puke Warmwater battles for supremacy with Dark Vapor. The final installment will last one hour, covering the entire series from Princess Lay-ya's first cry for help to the surprise ending. All are urged to hear the longest-running and only radio drama to date on WXYC.

EARN OVER $600 A MONTH FOR THE REST OF YOUR SENIOR YEAR.

If you are interested in math, physics or engineering, the Navy has a program you should know about.

It's called the NUPOC-Collegiate Program (NUPOC is short for Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate), and if you qualify it can pay you as much as $611 a month for the remainder of your senior year. Then after 16 weeks of Officer Candidate School, you will receive an additional year of advanced technical education, education that would cost thousands in a civilian school, but in the Navy we pay you. And at the end of the year of training, you'll receive a $3,000 cash bonus.

It isn't easy. Only one of every six applicants will be selected, and there are fewer than 300 openings. But those who make it find themselves in one of the most elite engineering training programs anywhere. With unequalled hands-on responsibility, a $24,000 salary in four years, plus travel, medical benefits and education opportunities.

For more details on this program, ask your placement officer when a Navy representative will be on campus, or call the Officer Program Office listed below; or send your résumé to Navy Nuclear Officer Program, Code 312, 4015 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, Va. 22203. The
