

weekend fare

Compiled by Ann Smallwood

cinema

Campus

Barry Lyndon — Ryan O'Neal and Marisa Berenson star in this spectacularly long and romantic story of the 19th century. At 7 and 9:30 Friday in Carroll Hall. Super Friday admission $1. Director Stanley Kubrick's visual work is excellent.

Now, Voyager (1942) — A 25-Kleenex movie, this film stars Bette Davis and Paul Henreid. At 7 and 9:30 p.m. Saturday in Carroll Hall. Free with student ID.

Boudou Saved From Drowning (1932) — The hero (Michel Simon) is saved from suicide, but he turns out to be nothing but trouble for his savior. At 7 and 9:30 p.m. Sunday in Carroll Hall. Free with student ID.

Chapel Hill

Carolina Blue - Close Encounters of the Third Kind. At 1, 3:45, 6:30 and 9:20 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. No 1 p.m. show Friday.

Carolina White - Heros. An entertaining film as well as a meaningful statement against war, starring Henry Winkler and Herbert Lom, as a former chief inspector, grasps Inspector Closeau (Peter Sellers) when he learns about another of the latter's big blunders. The Pink Panther Strikes Again will be the Carolina Theater Late Show Friday and Saturday at 11:30 p.m. All seats only $1.50. Advertisement.

Sally Field. At 2:40, 4:50, 7 and 9:10 p.m. daily.

Carolina Blue Late Show - The Return of the Pink Panther. At midnight Friday and Saturday only.

Carolina White Late Show - The Pink Panther Strikes Again. At 11:30 Friday and Saturday nights.

Plaza I - Semi-Tough. At 3:05, 5:10, 7:15 and 9:20.

Plaza II - Saturday Night Fever. 2:45, 5, 7:15 and 9:30 p.m.

Plaza III - The Goodbye Girl. At 3:10, 5:20, 7:30 and 9:40 p.m.

Ram I - The One and Only. The story of an extrovert, starring Henry Winkler. Rated PG. At 7 and 9 weeknights and at 3, 5, 7 and 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Ram II - Alice in Wonderland. This isn't the same story you read in elementary school. Rated R. Saturday and Sunday at 3:15, 5:15, 7:15, and 9:15 p.m. and only at 7:15 and 9:15 weeknights.

Ram III - You Light Up My Life. Rated PG. At 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. daily. Additional shows at 3:30 and 5:30 Saturday and Sunday nights.

Varsity - The Turning Point. At 5, 5:10, 7:20 and 9:30 p.m.

television

Friday

Deadman's Curve — The story of the ill-fated singers Jan and Dean, whose brief period of success was brought to an end by an automobile accident. At 9 p.m. on Channels 2 and 11.

Cruise into Terror — A cruise ship carrying passengers to Mexico faces the evil force from an ancient Egyptian sarcophagus buried beneath the sea. At 9 p.m. on Channels 5 and 8.

The Andromeda Strain — A modern science fiction favorite, it depicts humanity's struggle against a deadly alien microorganism. At 11:30 p.m. on Channel 11.

Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice — A 1969 sensation directed by Paul Mazursky, satirizing the sexual habits and hang-ups of two California couples. Starring Elliott Gould, Dyan Cannon, Robert Culp and Natalie Wood. At 12:15 a.m. on Channel 2.

Midnight Special — Good news for teeny boppers: Shaun Cassidy is hosting. Guests include Paul McCartney and Wings and ABBA.

Saturday

Ring of Passion — The story of boxers Joe Louis, an American black, and Max Schmeling, a German, during the tense times of pre-World War II Nazi offensives. At 9 p.m. on Channel 28.

United Cerebral Palsy Telethon — Celebrities appeal for funds in the 27th annual campaign. At 10 p.m. on Channel 5.

Track and Field Special — the Vitalis/U.S. Olympic Invitational, taped in New York, will be televised. Pre-empted regular programming at 11:30 p.m. on Channel 28.

Sunday

NBA All-Star Game — The East vs. the West at Atlanta at 2 p.m. on Channel 11.

ABC Silver Anniversary Celebration — Over 100 stars will appear in this four-hour without a conductor, at 8 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Hall.

The Clompi Quartet — The Duke University department of music sponsors this concert featuring works by Mozart, Debussy and Verdi. At 8:15 p.m. Saturday in Baldwin Auditorium.

Chamber Ensemble Recital — The Duke University String School will present its chamber ensemble students, ages 8 to 17, in a 3 p.m. concert Sunday in the East Duke Music Room.

Kenny Rogers Concert — At 8 p.m. Friday in the Greensboro Coliseum.

Ted Nugent Concert — At 8 p.m. Saturday in the Greensboro Coliseum.

forum

Theatre Workshops — A series of 18 free workshops, sponsored by the Carolina Union Activities Board in cooperation with the UNC department of dramatic art, will run from Friday through Sunday in the Union. Graham Memorial and Memorial Halls.

Edward Albee — the Pulitzer Prize-

Fencing

Men need consistency; women still riding high

By DAVID McNEILL
Staff Writer

After two straight weeks of frustrating defeats, the UNC men's fencing team will be out to regain the winning form it possessed earlier in the season when the Heels travel to Williamsburg, Va. to battle William & Mary, Temple and George Mason this weekend.

Meanwhile, Carolina's women's fencing squad is riding high following wins over Maryland and Clemson, and the Heels are hoping to continue their winning ways this weekend when they take on the women's squad from William & Mary, Temple and George Mason.

"Inconsistency is what has hurt the men most, both individually and collectively," UNC coach Ron Miller said. "The most important factor is to re-establish our confidence. We are still looking toward the ACC, but the improvement must come now. We need to concentrate on each of our remaining meets and realize what we need to do to improve. There is no substitute for time and experience.

"I have been pretty pleased with the way the women have been fencing. Garney Ingram has tests for graduate school programs the next two weeks, so the women will not be quite as strong until she returns, but the other girls have been fencing well and should be able to pick up the slack. The women's B team has looked good the last two weeks, and I expect them to continue to do well."

William & Mary and George Mason, both from the Mid-Atlantic region, and Temple, from the North Atlantic region, will provide the Heels with some very tough bouts. William & Mary defeated N.C. State earlier this year, and Temple will provide a highly competitive team also. Frank Blake, who has been fencing for four years and was an all-ACC selection last year, pointed out an extra incentive for the Heels to do well this weekend.

"Carolina has never lost to a Mid-Atlantic or North Atlantic region team," Blake said, "so we have our reputation to hold up. We also need big wins at this point in the season to get our confidence for the ACC later. Temple is supposed to be a pretty good team, and William & Mary has a lot of guys returning, so there should be some good meets this weekend."

Blake won two bouts and lost one against Clemson, and then he won three bouts without a defeat against Georgia Southern in the three team meet last Saturday. The senior said the Heels are a strong team and must gain confidence in themselves.

"Everyone is out to beat Carolina," Blake said. "Their goal is to beat us, and they are always up for us. We were up for Clemson, and we got off to a good start but slumped in the middle, and we tried to come back, but it was not enough.

"I am pleased with the way I am fencing. I would like to win all my bouts this weekend. We are taking the rest of our meets more seriously. We must nail down our problems and find out where our weaknesses are and work on them. It is up to our team to decide that we're the best and we can be the best."

Cathy Swan, a junior with seven years of fencing experience, views the Temple match as the most important one for the women, this weekend. Swan also has a special incentive to do well this weekend as she will be fencing against some familiar faces.

"The girls we fence this weekend are the same girls that I fenced in high school," Swan said. "They know the basics, and they will be tough to beat. We are winning, but we are not fencing as well as we should be. For nationals, we have to work on our technique so that we are winning because of our fencing and not just relying on our opponents' mistakes."

John Saunders, a senior in his fourth year of fencing, turned in a perfect three win and no loss record against Clemson last Saturday, identical to his performance at Maryland the week before.

"I am pleased with the way I am fencing," Saunders said. "My confidence is up, and if you're confident, you will win. Individually, everyone needs to pull themselves together. This weekend is critical for us. We need it for confidence to know that we are winners. We have the potential to do real well. We have got a good team, and the next few weeks are important, but I still feel we are the team to beat in the ACC."

Cathy Deener, a junior in her second year of fencing, is pleased with the way she has been fencing and with the way the season has been going for the women's team. She also is looking forward to this weekend's meet.

"This weekend is important for experience," Deener said. "We will be without Garney Ingram, so it will be interesting to see how we can do. We have been fencing a whole lot of teams, and so we are getting experience for the nationals. Each team is coached differently, and each stresses different things. Temple is real aggressive, so we have been fencing the men in practice to prepare for this weekend.

"We are looking towards the nationals. We have been working on developing the team and now we are focusing on who is going to the nationals. As for the ACC championship, we beat Clemson and Maryland so we are in the lead. We still have Virginia and N.C. State left, but I feel that as long as we fence well we will win the ACC."