

News in Brief

Don't count your rebate money yet

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt's top budget adviser this week said the governor's recent comments about possible tax rebates don't necessarily mean North Carolina taxpayers will get some money back next year. Hunt said Sunday he favors refunding over continuing expansion of government services beyond essentials. He did not say how large a rebate might be. "It's just an idea he was considering. He wasn't being impulsive because he has generally talked along these lines privately, but he's not committed to anything yet. He just doesn't want to leave taxpayers out of his thinking," said John Williams, Hunt's budget director and political adviser.

Weddington to succeed Costanza

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sarah Weddington, a soft-spoken lawyer and an abortion advocate, will replace Midge Costanza as the White House's top assistant on women's issues, administration sources said Tuesday. Weddington, 33, who has been the Agriculture Department's general counsel for a year, gained national attention in 1971 when she successfully argued a Texas abortion suit that led to the Supreme Court striking down that state's prohibition against abortion.

Soviets explode nuclear device

The Department of Energy announced Tuesday the detection of a Soviet nuclear test explosion on Monday night. A spokesperson said seismic signals, "presumably from a Soviet nuclear explosion" were recorded by the U.S. atomic energy detection system. He said the blast apparently took place at 10:37 p.m. EDT on Monday at the Soviet Union's Semipalatinsk nuclear testing area in central Siberia.

Administration says inflation stopped

BOSTON (AP) — The Carter administration is turning the corner on inflation but the rate probably won't go lower than eight percent this year, chief inflation fighter Robert Strauss said Tuesday. He said earlier hopes for an annual inflation rate near seven percent were too optimistic, but he expects the rate to drop dramatically from the current double digit level. Initially, the Office of Management and Budget had projected a 6.1 percent inflation rate for the year, and then had raised it to 7.2 percent in its revised budget figures last month.

Scientists plead not guilty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine members of the Church of Scientology pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges that include stealing government documents and planting eavesdropping devices in government offices. U.S. District Judge George Hart said the case does not revolve around the issue of freedom of religion, as officials of the church contend. A 42-page indictment announced two weeks ago accused 11 leaders and members of the church of breaking into government offices, stealing confidential documents, planting bugging devices, and in separate but related charges, of obstruction of justice and lying to a grand jury. The most serious charges carry maximum penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 fines.

The nine defendants arraigned Tuesday were Mary Sue Hubbard, the wife of the church's founder, and eight church members from California. The government is trying to extradite from England two other defendants in the case. Hart granted the defense until Nov. 20 to file pretrial motions. Lawyers for the defendants had said they need extra time to prepare for what they said was an extremely complex case involving thousands of documents seized by the FBI in raids last year on church facilities in Los Angeles and Washington. Leonard Boudin, who is representing Hubbard, asked that Hart be taken off the case and replaced by Judge William Bryant, who has been presiding over a civil suit involving the church. Boudin said the church intends to base its defense in part on charges that the government has been conducting a campaign of harassment against the Scientologists for nearly 30 years.

As a result, the dollar went into another nose-dive on foreign exchange markets, which have been worried all year about the continuing deficits in the nation's trade. Gold prices leaped, as they generally do when the dollar falls.

The Labor Department said its consumer price index in July stood at 196.7 percent of the 1967 average of 100, meaning that goods priced at $100 in 1967 had risen in cost to $196.70 last month.

Prices in July were 7.7 percent higher than a year earlier. The annual rate of increase for the three months ending in July was 9.7 percent, the first time in several months the three-month rate has been below the 10 percent annual inflation level.

In addition to lower meat prices, consumers also found cheaper prices at the supermarket for eggs, coffee and fresh vegetables. It was the 13th consecutive monthly decline in coffee prices.

But the lower prices in supermarkets didn't extend to foods in restaurants. Meal prices increased 0.8 percent, about the same as in previous recent months.

There were also lower prices in July for apparel, down 0.6 percent, especially for women's and children's clothing, down 1.9 percent.

But most non-food items increased sharply, showing the underlying rate of inflation in the economy continues at about the same worrisome pace as in recent months.

Housing costs, including appliances and furniture, increased 1.2 percent, and transportation costs rose 0.7 percent. About one-quarter of the increase was because of higher gasoline prices, which rose 0.8 percent for the first significant increase in six months.

Prices of new cars rose 0.8 percent after increases of 0.9 percent in June and 1.2 percent in May.

Charles Schultze, chairperson of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, said while the overall consumer price report in July was "very heartening," the 0.7 percent increase in non-food prices "indicates that the underlying inflation rate is still too high."

Fact-finding Cuban trip reported successful

MIAMI (AP) — U.S. Rep. Richardson Preyer of Greensboro, chairperson of the House subcommittee investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, said Tuesday his fact-finding trip to Cuba was successful. But he refused to divulge what, if any, new information was obtained.

"I think it was a successful trip," Preyer said upon his return to the United States after the five-day trip to Cuba. "Our goal was to interview a number of witnesses whose testimony we were otherwise unable to get."

But Preyer refused to say how many witnesses were interviewed, who they were or what the substance of their testimony was.

"I regret that under the House rules, I can't tell you what we learned," he said. "All I can say is stayed tuned to our hearings next month where we'll bring out all the facts."

The trip was considered important because of recurring rumors that there was a Cuban angle to the 1963 assassination of Kennedy. Preyer quoted Cuban President Fidel Castro as saying before this trip that "it would be foolish for them (Cubans) to become involved, being a relatively small country, to antagonize a powerful country like the United States."

Preyer said neither he nor his assistants spoke with Castro, although Castro was interviewed briefly during a previous trip several months ago.
