

Series on women's health begins next week

A series of public programs titled "Women's Health: the Individual, the Family, the Community" will be presented in Efland and Hillsborough from Oct. 16-Nov. 9.

The programs, funded by the Orange County Commission for Women, each will be led by a local humanities scholar.

The North Carolina Humanities Committee, a state-based program of the National Endowment for the Humanities, awarded a matching grant of $4,818 to the Commission.

The programs from 7-9 p.m. will be at Cameron Park School in Hillsborough, and at the Efland Multipurpose Center in Efland.

The project was developed by Josephine Holman, 1977-78 Women's Commission chairperson; Nancy Park, staff co-ordinator for the commission; Miriam Singer, a commission member and former Planned Parenthood clinic director; and Melissa Tufts, a commission member.

"Values and traditions are changing and it is hard for women to decide 'Do I want to change or adapt?' This program is an effort to try to create a setting where local scholars can provide information and a chance for personal discussion," Nancy Park, project director, said.

The North Carolina Humanities theme for this year is "Traditions in Transition," so the commission also is following that theme.

The first topic to be discussed in Hillsborough on Oct. 16 and in Efland on Oct. 19 is "Pregnancy and Birth." Jacqueline Hall of the UNC history department will talk about the changes in childbirth and contraceptives.

"Parenting and Family Life Education" will be discussed in Hillsborough on Oct. 23 and in Efland on Oct. 26. Terry Graedon from Duke University will talk about pregnancy and birth patterns in other cultures; while Anne Scott from the Duke history department will discuss parent and family life history since the 17th century. Also, Arthrell Sanders of North Carolina Central University will discuss sex education in families.

"Adolescent Sexuality," will be discussed in Hillsborough on Oct. 30 and in Efland on Nov. 2, Tony Whitehead, an anthropologist at the UNC Public Health School, will lead the discussion.

Elizabeth Tornquist of the School of Nursing will discuss "The Maturing Woman" in Hillsborough on Nov. 6, and in Efland on Nov. 9th. There also will be someone from the medical field discussing menopause and its mental and physical effects.

For more information about the project and other women's events, check by "A Women's Place" on 110 Henderson St. or call 967-9251.

—ANNETTE FULLER

Board expected to OK teacher-competency test

By PAM KELLEY
Staff Writer

After receiving unanimous approval by its Committee on Educational Planning, Policies and Programs, the UNC Board of Governors is expected to approve a resolution today to lay the groundwork for a quality-assurance program for public school teachers in North Carolina.

The program, approved by the N.C. Board of Education last week, was developed by the staff of the state Department of Public Instruction and the UNC General Administration.

It provides for a three-part assessment of the state's teachers: at the point of entry into teacher training programs, at college graduation and again following a three-year period of trial certification. Already certified teachers would face a formal re-evaluation procedure prior to recertification.

The proposal also calls for greater teacher access to continuing professional training.

"It may be as long as two years before these changes are instituted," Elizabeth Kootz, assistant state school superintendent for teacher education, said Wednesday. "The tests have to be developed, validated and initiated. We're going to begin planning as soon as the resolution passes the Board of Governors."

A detailed plan of the program will be presented to the Board of Governors in early 1979, said Donald Stedman, UNC associate vice president for academic affairs. "I think it will take three to five years to implement the program," he said.

The teacher-testing plan requires college students who want to enter the public school teaching profession to take two tests.

The first would be given at the point of entry into the teacher training program to ensure that students possess basic academic skills. Developed especially for North Carolina, it would cover English usage, literature, fine arts, social studies, mathematics and science. A passing grade would be required before a student could enter a professional educational curriculum such as the UNC School of Education.

Students who fail the test could either seek remedial help or receive counseling on other careers.

At the end of the senior year, students would take the second test, an attempt to measure proficiency in the student's prospective teaching area. Students would be required to pass the second test to receive a provisional three-year teaching certificate.

Officials of the state Division for Teacher Certification said the second test eventually may replace the National Teachers Exam, now required before public school instructors are certified. That test has been criticized by educators who say it is too broad and does not weed out unqualified teacher-candidates.

Although the teacher-competency testing plan will take time to become established, the Board of Governors has set aside funds for teacher-education programs in the proposed 1979-81 budget for the 16-campus UNC system.

"Of the $675,400 allotted for inter-institutional programs, $400,000 is to be used for Universitywide teacher education improvement programs," said Raymond Dawson, UNC vice president for academic affairs.

Campus Calendar

Public service announcements must be turned in at the box outside the DTH offices in the Carolina Union by 1 p.m. if they are to run the next day. Each item will be run at least twice.

ACTIVITIES TODAY

Students are invited to talk with representatives of the Experimental in International Living concerning study abroad for the summer, semester and year from 10 a.m.-noon in Room 213 Carolina Union.

Get your portrait made before fall break! Portraits for the 1979 Yearbook Year will be made from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. today. Make your appointment now. BYOP!

The UNC Department of Philosophy will sponsor a three-day colloquium Oct. 13-15, featuring speakers in a series of debates. Debate topics include Aristotle's categories, the psychoanalytic theories of Sigmund Freud and alternative logics. The colloquium is open to the public for a $25 fee. Register by calling 933-7291.

Renaissance Music for Recorder and Viols will be offered as part of the Episcopal Campus Ministry Eucharist for St. Luke's Day at 9:40 p.m. Wednesday in the Chapel of the Cross. All are welcome.

Walter Frost of the University of Leuven, Belgium, will speak on "Unified Field Theories" as part of a joint UNC-Duke physics colloquium at 4 p.m. Wednesday in Room 265 Phillips Hall. Coffee and tea will be served at 3:30 p.m. in Room 277 Phillips.

Dr. George Flynn of Columbia University will speak on "Laser Chemistry: Is Energy Transfer the Spoiler?" as part of a colloquium in the UNC Department of Chemistry at 11 a.m. Wednesday in Room 308 Venable Hall.

La Sociedad Hispanica Carolina (the UNC Spanish Club) will have a big party at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 20, at the Community Church. There will be sangria, food, dancing, games, prizes and a Spanish costume contest. A minimum donation of $2 is requested. Contact Ruben Gomez or Melissa Pilkington at Dey Hall (933-2033) for tickets.

UPCOMING EVENTS

The N.C. Botanical Garden will sponsor a garden herb sale from 2-4 p.m. Saturday at the Totten Center on Laurel Hill Road. Volunteer workers will offer 75 varieties of herbs. Please bring your own containers.

Looking for some entertainment over fall break? The UNC Individual Events Speech Team is holding the Tarheel Speech Tournament Saturday and Sunday in Greensboro. Colleges from New Jersey to Florida will be competing. Format includes original speaking events and interpretive events. Stop by the Greensboro lobby this weekend for more information.

The UNC Rugby Club will play the Wake Forest Rugby Club at 1 p.m. Sunday in Winston-Salem.

There will be a Sunkab-building party at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Hillside. Services will be held beginning at 7 p.m. For details, please call 942-4057.

St. John's MCC will worship at 3 p.m. Sunday in the facilities of the UCC, Dixie Trail and Wade Avenue, Raleigh. Gay and non-gay Christians are invited. For more information, call 928-8943 or 967-9626.

The UNC Water Polo Club will practice at 9 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 18, in the indoor pool. This is an important practice for upcoming games. Everyone is welcome. Members, please remember your dues.

The Colloquium on Aging and the Aged will meet from noon to 1 p.m. Wednesday in Room 201 Miller Hall. All those interested are invited to attend. Harvey L. Smith will address the group. Call 933-2008 for more information.

Margaret L. Moore, professor of physical therapy at the UNC School of Medicine, will speak at the Allied Health Colloquium at 4 p.m. Wednesday. She will present "Building Winning Teams."

"Minorities and the Republican Party" will be the focus for a discussion with William Fisher, Minority Affairs Director for the N.C. Republican Party, at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Room 202 Carolina Union. The discussion is sponsored by the UNC College Republicans. Everyone is invited to participate.

The next meeting for the Hunger Action Committee will be held at 5 p.m. Wednesday at the Campus Y (change due to fall break). Anyone interested in working with the world fast please attend or call 967-9633 for information.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

The Cellar Door, UNC's undergraduate literary magazine, is still accepting student fiction, poetry, artwork, essays, drama and photography. Contribution must be in the Cellar Door office, Room 205 Campus Y, by Oct. 18.

A secretary is needed for Student Government on Tuesdays and Thursdays from noon to 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Great atmosphere! Come by Suite C, Carolina Union, if interested.

In an effort to assist migrant workers in the state, the UNC Campus Y is asking for the donation of blankets and quilts for the workers' use during the fall and winter seasons. The blankets are needed desperately, and any and all donations should be turned into the Y between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily until Nov. 1.

The Walk for Humanity Committee of the Campus Y is still recruiting members to help with the walk. If you are concerned about poverty and injustice and want to do something about them, come by the Campus Y and sign up.

Student Legal Services has moved! The new office is in Suite A, Carolina Union. Telephone number is 933-1303. The office is open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A limited number of copies of the 1977 Yearbook Yack are still available in the Yack office. Inquire at 933-1259 or stop by Suite D, Carolina Union, between 1-5 p.m. weekday afternoons.

A 10 kilometer Run-a-thon, sponsored by AED and the Triangle Lung Association, is set for 10 a.m. Oct. 28. Sponsor sheets are available now at the UNC information desk. For more information, contact Andy Bell at 933-7334.

The Agora magazine has new staff positions available. Anyone interested in contributing their editorial or organizational skill should contact the International Center (933-5861) for an interview appointment.

PRC PRESENTS Dracula Oct. 13-15, Oct. 17-23, and Oct. 24-29, with an additional 2 p.m. Sunday matinee. Tickets are $5 for weeknights and Sunday and $6 for Friday and Saturday. Reservations can be made by phone 933-1121.

Veterinary Aptitude Test will be given Nov. 4 in Raleigh. Applications must be received in New York by Oct. 19. Also will be given in Greensboro and Raleigh on Dec. 2 for fall, 1979 admission. Applications are in 101 Nash Hall. Information about veterinary schools is in 106 Nash Hall.

National Teacher Examination will be given Nov. 11. Applications must be received in Princeton, N.J., by Oct. 19. Cost is $15. Required for teacher certification in North Carolina. Applications are in 101 Nash Hall.

Pharmacy College Admission Test will be given Nov. 11. Applications must be received in New York by Oct. 15. Next testing date is Feb. 10, 1979. Applications available in 101 Nash Hall.

Foreign Service Officer exam will be given Dec. 2. Applications must be received in Washington by Oct. 20. Applications in 211 Howe Hall and 101 Nash Hall. No cost. Test given in Raleigh, Charlotte and Winston-Salem.

Watercolors by Greensboro native Keith Rose are now featured in the North Gallery of the Morehead Building. The exhibition will be open to the public through October.

Drawings by Arthur Strauss and other German expressionists are now on exhibit at Ackland Art Museum until Oct. 15. A faculty art exhibition, featuring recent works by the studio faculty of the UNC art department, will be open to the public Oct. 13-Nov. 12. Hours are: Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. and Sundays 2-6 p.m.

Photographs by William C. McAllister will be on exhibit Oct. 13-31 at the Art School Gallery, 150 E. Main St., Carrboro. Hours are: 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday and noon-4 p.m. Saturday.

Ahh, the care package from home.

Now comes Miller time.

PHONE 967-4737 NOW SHOWING

Plaza 3
2:45-5:00-7:15-9:30

SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER [®]
JOHN TRAVOLTA

PHONE 967-4737 NOW SHOWING

Plaza 3
2:45-5:00-7:15-9:45

GENE WILDER ^{is}
The WORLD'S GREATEST LOVER ^{PG}

Gene Wilder Madeline Kahn Marty Feldman

PHONE 967-4737 NOW SHOWING

Plaza 3
3:15-5:15-7:15-9:15

HEAVEN CAN WAIT
WARREN JULIE BEATTY CHRISTIE
A PARAMOUNT PICTURE ^{PG}

PHONE 942-1651 NOW SHOWING

Varsity
2:40-4:20-6:00-7:40-9:20

GAIL PALMER'S CANDY
Erotic Adventures of Stars CAROL CONNORS and JOHN HOLMES
IN COLOR [®] ADULTS ONLY

PHONE 942-1651 LATE SHOW

Varsity
Fri. & Sat. Night
12:00—All Seats *2.00

THE ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW
^R SHOW