

census

One American in six will receive a longer form that should take about 45 minutes to complete. That form has additional housing and personal questions.

Data gathered in the census are used to identify and plot trends in the population and economy.

Despite past efforts to obtain a complete count of everyone in the country, the bureau estimates it undercounted blacks by 7.7 percent in the 1970 Census. A spokeswoman for the bureau's Washington office said a Minority Statistics Program was developed in 1975 to encourage black participation in the census-taking process and minimize undercounting. The program includes a public relations campaign involving state and local minority organizations.

The bureau will hire approximately 275,000 persons to fill temporary jobs as enumerators, district office managers, crew leaders and editing clerks. About 482 state residents will be hired to fill those positions in the nine-county district including Orange, Durham, Wake, Granville, Vance, Warner, Franklin, Johnston and Harnett counties, according to a spokesman for the bureau's regional office in Charlotte.

"They (enumerators) will be paid on a piece-rate basis," Brian Monaghan, a supervisor with the bureau's Charlotte office, said. "The more completed questionnaires they obtain, the more they will be paid," Monaghan said.

Temporary enumerators jobs would be ideal for students, he said because afternoons and evenings are the best times to reach people at home. The jobs last an average of six weeks and require about 40 hours of work per week. Applicants must be high school graduates and be at least 16 years old. Enumerators may not participate in any political activity at the time they are working for the census bureau, Monaghan said.

goes out, gets hit by a car and the bartender gets sued," Strickland said.

Bill Powell, assistant administrator of the state ABC Board in Raleigh, said alcohol consumption rules are normally set by the governing body on each university campus. The ABC Board cannot issue permits on state-owned property and off-campus groups usually must say that they are going to donate funds to a charitable organization in order to have a party where beer is sold, he said.

Off-campus groups such as fraternities can buy as much beer as they like if they are planning to give it away, Powell said.

Harpster said that there are several types of beer blasts which are the current craze on campus: the "chain gang" party, during which people drink cans of beer and try to make a chain of cans go from the top of the building to the bottom, and the "progressive" party, during which people drink beer on every floor (a keg on each floor).

"There are also parties where they drink a shot of beer a minute," Harpster said. "That doesn't sound like much, but you can get drunk very fast drinking beer that way."

"I don't think that the University is in the business of policing things like that, but we do make every effort to see that the laws are upheld," Harpster said. "It would be impossible to check every party, but I trust my RDs and RAs."

Harpster said he has a personal concern with the Alcoholic Education Service and with trying to get people to drink responsibly.

"We're not saying don't drink," Harpster said. "Just use your head and think about what you're doing."

Dorm execs meet today

Dorm officers will have a chance to meet each other and make their own submarine sandwiches at an officer get-together from 5-7 p.m. today in Morehead Cellar in the basement of Cobb dorm.

The Residence Hall Association is sponsoring the dinner which includes two speakers and a slide show on residence hall leaders. RHA President William Porterfield will speak on "RHA: Past, Present and Future" and Paul Mayberry will talk about the conference of the National Association of College and University Residence Halls which will be held at UNC May 22-25.

The price of the dinner is $2 at the door.

For the record

Due to a mechanical error, The Daily Tar Heel incorrectly reported Wednesday that the College Students in Broadcasting are looking for a new logotype with emblem "CBS." The logotype should actually contain the emblem "CSB."

The Green Berets, the final film of the UNC Curriculum in Peace, War and Defense's week-long series, "John Wayne—American Hero or Fascist Pig?," will be presented at 7 p.m. today in 111 Murphrey Hall, instead of 111 Humphrey Hall as the DTH incorrectly reported Wednesday.

News In Brief

Divided Senate debates SALT

WASHINGTON (AP)—A divided Senate wrangled over the significance of the Soviet troops in Cuba on Wednesday as West Germany's defense minister warned that rejection of the SALT II treaty would create a "real crisis" for European allies.

A band of senators, most of them Democrats, held the Senate floor for more than an hour, demanding that the strategic arms limitation treaty with the Soviet Union be considered on its own merits and not be linked to the presence of Soviet troops in Cuba.

Senate defeats weaker energy board

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate on Wednesday soundly defeated two attempts by environmentalists to weaken President Carter's proposal for a powerful new agency to speed new energy projects.

The Senate agreed to give an Energy Mobilization Board broad powers to push for construction of new facilities, including synthetic fuel plants and oil refineries.

Jackson hospitalized in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Rev. Jesse Jackson was hospitalized with a stomach ailment Wednesday night and had to postpone a meeting with Yasser Arafat, so the PLO chief visited his bedside, giving him a big kiss and a bouquet of flowers.

In Chicago, Jackson's doctor said Jackson was being treated for gastroenteritis—inflammation of the linings of the stomach and intestines. Dr. Andrew Thomas said Jackson should be back on his feet within two or three days and able to continue his trip.

Rhodesians given draft constitution

LONDON (AP)—Britain handed the disputing parties at the Zimbabwe Rhodesia peace talks a draft constitution for the troubled African country Wednesday and gave them five days to say whether they accept it.

The 34-page draft, presented by Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington to a meeting of all sides, held no major changes from British proposals already accepted by moderate black prime minister Bishop Abel Muzorewa and rejected in key areas by the opposing Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance.

NCSU hit by engineering prof shortage

RALEIGH (AP)—A nationwide shortage of engineering teachers has hit North Carolina State University's engineering school especially hard.

The school has about 24 vacancies on its faculty at a time when enrollment is at a record high. School officials say the reason is that engineers can make more money outside the classroom.
