

Candidates continue on campaign trail

Gov. Jim Hunt answered his opponent's charges, about big government and socialism, Monday, while Republican candidate I. Beverly Lake Jr. showed up unannounced at a GOP event to "show everybody I'm not dead."

Lake, who has been suffering from a throat virus and has virtually no campaign appearances scheduled between now and the Nov. 4 election, showed up unexpectedly at the conclusion of a news conference called by state GOP Chairman Jack Lee.

Republican Senate candidate John East, meanwhile, spent a day without public appearances while Democratic Sen. Robert Morgan kept up his campaign for re-election with a trip to eastern North Carolina to talk about farm issues.

State Democratic Party Chairman Russell Walker attacked East, accusing him of having "deliberately isolated himself from the public and the press."

Lake said he would campaign in the final week, and although he said he hadn't seen his schedule he added, "I'm sure it's full."

"We will be moving around the state quite a bit," he said.

Countdown to November

Randy Gregory, the person in charge of Lake's scheduling for the Congressional Club, the political organization running his campaign, said Lake may attend a fish fry in Hickory on Nov. 1 but that no other appearances have been definitely scheduled.

Hunt spent an easy campaign day, including a speech to the joint Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in Durham, exactly one week after Lake told those two groups that Hunt had taken the state on a drift toward socialism.

New poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican Ronald Reagan holds a narrowing lead over President Jimmy Carter going into the final week of the presidential campaign as wavering Democrats move into Carter's camp, according to the Associated Press-NBC News poll. The outcome of the battle for White House remains very much in doubt. Millions of likely voters have made only tentative choices between the candidates and many are still undecided.

I. Beverly Lake

The latest AP-NBC News poll says Reagan leads Carter by six percentage points. Other published polls say the race is closer, with some making it dead heat. In general, comparable results from the polls fall within the error margins of such surveys.

The AP-NBC News poll, taken Wednesday through Friday, is based on telephone interviews with 1,574 likely voters nationwide.

Reagan is now the choice of 42 percent of the likely voters, the poll says, while Carter is backed by 36 percent. Independent candidate John Anderson was named by 10 percent, 3 percent named others and 9 percent were not sure.

Collection's anniversary celebrated

By NORA WILKINSON

Staff Writer
"Documents are the most important thing among all our possessions, for they are the main instrumentality through which one generation passes on to the next the accumulated knowledge of the past," historian Arthur S. Link said Friday.

Link and historian C. Vann Woodward spoke at a symposium Friday celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Southern Historical Collection.

The Southern Historical Collection is a special collection, located in Wilson Library, which contains 7 million items, including manuscripts, letters and papers and has been an important source for researchers of Southern history.

Link, a George H. Davis professor of American history at Princeton University, said historical collections suffered from inadequate funding by the richest government in the world, and that librarians and archivists were the unsung heroes of the profession.

"The historian is the person who lives most particularly in the world of documents," Link said.

"Documents are the raw materials of history. I daresay that not 5 percent of all historians use documents."

"My advice to my young colleagues is to immerse yourself in your particular world of documents. Learn to read a document," Link said.

Woodward, a Sterling professor emeritus of history at Yale University, spoke on "The Sources of Southern History."

"The reconstruction of the past as a dialogue between insiders and outsiders is a lively thing," Woodward said.

He said Southern history had benefited from research on the South done by Northern historians. Woodward added that in the future America would have to deal with the technological revolution of automation. "High-speed, low-cost record reproduction for libraries is not far away," he said.

J. Carlyle Sitterson, Kenan professor of American history and former chancellor of UNC-CH, also spoke Friday on "The Southern Historical Collection, 1930-1980: The Pursuit of History."

Link, Woodward and Sitterson were chosen to speak during the collection's anniversary celebration because "they are distinguished alumni of the department of history who have made use of the collection and are knowledgeable about research," Dr. Carolyn Wallace, director of the Southern Historical Collection, said.

As part of the anniversary celebration, seven cases of material from the Southern Historical Collection are on display in Wilson Library through November.

Forum on curriculum report planned

The Campus Y Committee on Undergraduate Education will attempt to help students decide if the College Curriculum Report is "An Answer for Higher Education in the 1980s" at a forum at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Person Hall.

The forum is designed to discuss the usefulness of curriculum reforms, committee co-chairman Ed Rak said.

The report, which was released three weeks ago after more than two years of work, is a proposal for the revision of the undergraduate curriculum at UNC.

The forum will provide students with a chance to give the Curriculum Revision Committee ideas about the report before it is sent to the Faculty Council for final approval, Rak said.

The forum will open with presentations from a panel made up of three faculty members and two students.

Professors Weldon Thornton of the English department, Lawrence Slikin of the physics department and Harvey E. Lehman of the zoology department each will give a 10-minute presentation on the report. Thornton was chairman of the committee that prepared the original report on curriculum revision.

Students Elizabeth Mendenhall and Richard Whisnant also will have five minutes each to give their opinions of the report.

After the presentations, the floor will be open for questions.

—ELIZABETH DANIEL

Ronald Reagan

14-year-old killed in accident

Stephen Rochelle Frear, 14, has been identified as the person killed in the accident Saturday night at the intersection of South Columbia Street and Purefoy Road. Frear, a Chapel Hill resident, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Christopher Johnson, the driver of the pickup truck involved in the accident, had a broken arm and cuts. Other injured passengers were Rebecca Carter, who suffered a broken nose, and John Vilas, who suffered from multiple internal injuries. The injured were taken to N.C. Memorial Hospital.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation, but the Chapel Hill Police Department reported that the truck was traveling at a high rate of speed. The wreck, which knocked out power in the area, occurred when Johnson drove his truck off the right-hand side of the road and hit a telephone pole. The damages estimated for Duke Power were $2,000.

The Happy Store
OPEN 24 HOURS

50lb. Ice ..... $3.00

TEXACO    VISA    MC

Mag & food delivery reservations
837-9791 or 942-1494

MBA FORUM

With representatives from 14 Universities

Tuesday, Oct. 28

Sponsored by The Association of Business Students
University Counseling Center, and University Placement

7:00 pm

Great Hall

THE Daily Crossword by Dorothea E. Shipp

- |                            |                         |                              |                             |
|----------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| ACROSS                     | 27 White House          | 54 Mysterious                | 25 Novelist                 |
| 1 Kitchen gadget           | 30 Leave                | 55 Dominant                  | 26 Blotches                 |
| 6 Things due: abbr.        | 33 Vehicle              | 57 St. Johns                 | 27 Judicial deeds           |
| 9 Switchboard section      | 35 "Faust," for one     | 58 Airport abbr.             | 28 Boxer Max                |
| 14 Marble                  | 36 Hebrides or Mongolia | 59 Groove                    | 29 Deviates                 |
| 15 Exclamation of surprise | 37 Sara                 | 60 Nut or palm               | 30 Be maudlin about         |
| 16 Vivacious               | 41 Weapons              | 62 Jewish feast              | 31 Foil                     |
| 17 Sycophants              | 42 Electric fish        | DOWN                         | 32 Campanologist's doing    |
| 19 Richards of tennis      | 43 Colorful shrub       | 1 Essay                      | 34 Sorry one                |
| 20 Knievel                 | 45 Man of commerce      | 2 Amaryllis plant            | 38 European range           |
| 21 Rotter                  | 46 Petrol               | 3 — show                     | 39 Name of some popes       |
| 22 Certain horses          | 49 Companion of Athos   | 4 Lat. abbr.                 | 40 Reserve, in a way        |
| 23 Female ruff             | 52 Bed: pref.           | 5 Take turns                 | 41 Carved pillar            |
| 24 Good citizens           | 53 "— soft qui mal..."  | 7 Beat — for (celebrate)     | 44 Like some skies          |
| 28 Scheme                  |                         | 8 Call for help              | 45 Gaboriau                 |
|                            |                         | 9 Certain soldier            | 46 Melon or squash          |
|                            |                         | 10 Guinness and Waugh        | 47 Gun getter               |
|                            |                         | 11 Supreme Court number      | 48 Hindu guitar             |
|                            |                         | 12 Always                    | 49 Desert dweller           |
|                            |                         | 13 Trevino and Marvin        | 50 Ill-man-nered            |
|                            |                         | 18 "— give you any thing..." | 51 Dill                     |
|                            |                         | 22 Kheyyam, for one          | 53 Table d'—                |
|                            |                         | 24 Contradictory             | 55 — de deux                |
|                            |                         |                              | 56 Editors' concerns: abbr. |

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

Today!

The Carolina Gay Association and the Union Human Relations Committee present

The Word is Out

a film of compassion and understanding.

3:30 p.m.,
Room 204, Carolina Union
and
7:30 p.m., 101 Greenlaw

WE CAN BE THERE!

Keep up with all the Tar Heel sports, news and campus happenings as well as local and national events

The Daily Tar Heel
Chapel Hill, NC.

How to stretch your college dollars.

You don't have to be a math genius to figure it out. Basic money management and careful budgeting are two very effective ways to keep from feeling the pinch when money gets tight. And we'll tell you how to do just that, and more, in our next issue of "Insider," the free supplement to your college newspaper from Ford.

We'll explain how to meet the high cost of tuition through scholarships and student loans. We'll set up guidelines for developing your own personal finance system... like custom tailoring a budget... choosing and maintaining a checking account... and obtaining and using credit wisely. And we'll offer tips on how to stick to those budgets. With info on where to live, and how to get the best buys on food, entertainment, clothing, travel, textbooks, stereos, and more. Then we'll tell you how to be sure you're getting what you pay for. And how to complain when you don't.

Check it out. You'll find some great tips on how to stretch your college dollars. And who knows, you may even discover being frugal can be fun!

Also be sure to check out Ford's exciting new 1981 lineup, including Escort. The front-wheel drive car that's built to take on the world. With Escort you'll find some great ways to multiply your fun.

Look for "Insider"—Ford's continuing series of college newspaper supplements.

