Drama, style mark farewell of seniors

By NORMAN CANNADA Staff Writer

The scene could not have been more climactic if a producer had flown in from Hollywood to design it.

With 2:32 remaining in Saturday's North Carolina-Duke football game, the public address announcer told the 51,389 fans in Kenan Stadium that UNC tailback Amos Lawrence was making his last appearance in Chapel Hill.

The crowd roared in appreciation of Lawrence, who in the first quarter had become only the second player in major college football history to rush for more than 1,000 yards in four straight seasons.

The senior tailback from Norfolk, Va., responded with a two-yard touchdown run and left the game in a way fitting for someone who has meant so much to a football team during his

"I've had four very good years here," Lawrence said after the Tar Heels had defeated the Blue Devils 44-21. "I'm happy with myself and I'm happy for the offensive line. I can't just praise myself. You have to give most of the credit to the other ten guys on the field."

Lawrence was one of 25 seniors who appeared in their last game in Kenan Stadium. Over the past four years, the Tar Heels have compiled a 47-17-2 record and have appeared in three bowl games, including this year's Bluebonnet

"I guess it really hit me late in the game," fullback Billy Johnson said. "I feel kind of sad leaving, but I really had fun today. I couldn't have picked a better game to go out on."

Johnson had a lot to prove this year. In his five years at Carolina, he has earned the reputation of being injuryprone. Two years ago, he was sidelined for the season and redshirted after an injury in the first game of the season. The Tar Heels finished 5-6 that year.

"I told the other players earlier in the year that if I played in more than three games, we'd go to a bowl game," joked Johnson, who has been to four bowl games since coming to UNC. "But, seriously, I think I showed the people that I can play. I know that I satisfied myself."

UNC defensive back and punter Steve Streater was another Tar Heel senior who left his game in Kenan Stadium. satisfied. Streater punted for an average of 40 yards a kick Saturday and picked off three Ben Bennett passes. The interception total for the game was one more than Streater had had in the Tar Heels' 10 previous games this season.

"It was great to get three interceptions in my last game," he said. "I guess four would have been asking for too much."

Streater has been known over the last four years as one of the Tar Heels' most versatile players. In addition to punting and his role on the defensive unit, he has played on nearly every specialty team at one time or another and has also quarterbacked the team. But he came into his own as a leader on defense and as one of the Atlantic Coast Conference's best punters.

Billy Johnson (36) crashes through the Duke defense ... UNC fullback played his last game in Kenan Saturday

"Looking over my four years here, I'd have to say that my senior year was my best year," he said. "I feel that way especially after the game today. If I make it to the pros, I'll have to say that my senior year got me there."

But before any of the seniors can start dreaming of multimillion dollar contracts and agents, there is still one more collegiate game to play. The

Bluebonnet Bowl on Dec. 31 matches the Tar Heels against traditional college football power Texas in the Houston

"It's been a great year and I'm happy that my last game at home ended on such a good note," Streater said. "But I'm looking forward to Houston, and I want to go out even better than I did

Carolina women cagers open with two victories

HARRISONBURG, Va.—The North Carolina women's basketball team opened the 1980-1981 season over the weekend with two victories in the James Madison Tip-Off Tournament here.

Carolina defeated host James Madison Sunday 100-59 behind a gamehigh 25 points from freshman Tresa Brown, a 6-foot-2, front-line player, was 8-of-12 from the field and 9-of-10 from the free-throw line. She also recovered nine rebounds.

Henrietta Walls had 18 points, followed by Kathy Crawford with 14. On Friday night, the Tar Heels defeated Florida 84-71. Crawford and Eileen McCann had 14 points each, followed by Walls with .12, Aprille. Shaffer 12 and Joni Berry 10.

Carolina faces Old Dominion in Norfolk, Va., today.

The UNC volleyball team ended its season at the Southern Region II tournament in Highland Heights, Ky. The Tar Heels did not advance out of pool competition.

UNC beat East Carolina 15-9, 15-11, but lost close, three-game matches to East Kentucky and Memphis State. In its final match, UNC lost to N.C. State 13-15, 14-16. Kentucky won the tournament.

"We lacked mental toughness," Adri Esnard said, summing up the team's performance. "But just because it ended the way it did doesn't mean the season

"We started out winning the first game of the matches and then we just lost our consistency and dropped the next two," Jenny Watson said. "We were disappointed because we had beaten Memphis State before. We just didn't have it all together. We were off and on too much."

The Tar Heels ended their season with a 41-13 record which included wins in the Maryland and the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament. "A lot of the girls were upset that we lost so early at regionals not so much because we weren't going to the nationals in California, but because that meant the end of such a fine season.and this group won't be able to play any more games together," Esnard said.

Tar Heel wrestler Jan Michaels won the 163-pound class, but Auburn dominated the Carolina Open tournament Friday and Saturday in Carmichael Auditorium.

Auburn won six of 10 final matches. For UNC, Dave Cooke, Bill Gaffney and Bob Shriner placed second in their weight classes. Five Tar Heels finished the UNC 16. From there, on fourth-and-nine, Ricky Brummitt threw a pass to Stuart Schnellenberger on a fake field goal that gave Duke a first-and-goal from the seven. Two plays later, Bennett closed the first-half scoring with a 4-yard TD pass to Cedric

An Amos Lawrence fumble on UNC's first possession of the second half gave the Devils the ball on the UNC 26. It took five plays for Bennett to bring the Devils to 23-14 as he again hit Jones, this time on an eight-yard pass. Victor Harrison fumbled on the ensuing kickoff and Duke had it again, this time at the Carolina 17. A pass interference penalty against the Tar Heels took it to the one. It took four tries from there but Bennett finally dove over and suddenly the firstquarter rout had become a 23-21 Carolina

After a Carolina punt, Streater picked off his third interception (the second came just before the half) and Bryant took over. At this point, with 5:59 left in the third period, Bryant had 35 yards rushing in the game. By the time Carolina had moved 59 yards in 10 plays and Rod Elkins had scored on a fouryard keeper to make it 30-21, Bryant had 75 yards and the crowd was abuzz. The Tar Heels then held Duke on a fourth-and-one and the offense got the ball again. On the next drive, Bryant got 56 of the 66 yards needed for the score and was within 29 yards of 1,000. Billy Johnson capped the drive with a two-yard TD run and Carolina led 37-21. Bryant's quest was the only remaining drama.

With 5:23 left and Bryant still seven yards short of his goal, Carolina punted to Duke, but Taylor sacked Bennett on third-and-three

"I can't really take the credit," Lawrence said. "I have to give it all to my offensive line." Bryant was also quick to direct the credit elsewhere. But Wilson, the man who had to watch them run against his team all day, felt they were too modest.

"We gave it all we had," he said. "It's like I said. When you're trying to stop great backs, it's impossible."

Terps, Tigers win in final football weekend

From wire reports

The Tangerine Bowl-bound Maryland Terrapins were big winners, but the Gator Bowl-bound South Carolina Gamecocks fell victim to Clemson's Death Valley magic in games involving Atlantic Coast Conference football teams Saturday.

Charlie Wysocki ran for 148 yards and broke the Maryland season rushing record in leading the Terrapins to a 31-0 drubbing of Virginia. The Terps led only 10-0 going into the fourth period in the game at Charlottesville but capitalized on two

Cavalier mistakes in the fourth period to blow the game open with three touchdowns. Wysocki, a 5-foot-11, 204-pound junior, rushed for 1,359 yards this year, breaking the old school mark of 1,261 yards held by Steve Atkins. Dale Castro's 29-yard field goal was the only score in the first half. Wysocki's five-yard run in the third period capped a 10-play, 49-yard drive on which he carried the ball the last nine plays. Wayne Wingfield scored on a three-yard run in the fourth quarter, then Tim Whittle scored on a 10-yard jaunt. Mike Lewis then caught a 23-yard pass from Brent Dewitz to close

Maryland, 8-3, will meet Florida Dec. 20 in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla.

The 15th-ranked Gamecocks, with a win, could have finished the regular season with their best record ever but must settle for an 8-3 mark as they head for a Gator Bowl match with Pittsburgh.

That score came with 32 seconds left in the third period and it wasn't long before Underwood struck again. With 14:13 left in the game, he snared another pass and returned it 37 yards for a touchdown. The interceptions were the only two of Underwood's Clemson career.

Fullback Jeff McColl scored on a 15-yard run with 2:24 left to ice the game for the Tigers.
