Clemson's Larry Nance also had 18 points, but had only four in the second half. The Tigers as a team only scored 17 second-half points.

The pace was rapid in the first 12 minutes of the game with the Tar Heels keeping the upper hand throughout much of the half.

But Nance helped Clemson to a 30-26 half-time lead as the 6-10 Anderson, S.C., senior hit on 7-of-8 shots in the half and served notice that his recent scoring slump was over.

Carolina did not trail in the half until it went into Four Corners with six minutes left and the score tied at 24-24. Chris Brust fumbled a pass inside and Clemson got the ball. That turnover led to a 12-footer by Chris Dodds at the 3:23 mark and the Tigers led for the first time.

Carolina went to the delay after Perkins had picked up his third foul with 6:18 left in the half. The Tar Heels were without starting center Pete Budko who is suffering from a sprained ankle and did not make the trip.

of the worst safety records in the country, along with the highest concentration of serious accidents," he said.

Allan Capp, energy and economic adviser for the N.C. Public Utilities Commission, defended the Harris plant. "The commission has determined that the plant is needed, and that the operation proposed is the best to provide needed services," he said. "The possibility exists that we may have serious problems in growth rates, especially for Duke Power."

Cummings objected to CP&L's decision not to attend the forum. "CP&L is not ready to sit down and talk with us about it. We may depend on CP&L for our lives, yet they wouldn't even come to our forum," he said.

Haig

About $500 million in U.S. military equipment was ready for delivery to Iran when the hostages were taken.

Haig said the agreement to free the 52 hostages did not call for resuming those shipments. One option under consideration is to sell the equipment and give Iran the proceeds, he said.

Earlier, Acting Assistant Secretary of State Peter Constable cited a legal technicality in declaring that "There is no obligation stated in the agreement at any place to return any specific military equipment," to Iran.

Constable said the United States was required to unfreeze Iranian assets, but said the military goods still were subject to U.S. law that required federal licenses for their shipment to Iran.

Haig called the agreement, which called for the return of Iranian assets, unprecedented and complex. He said the Reagan administration was trying to determine not only U.S. obligations but those Iran had incurred.

"Analyzing and assessing the obligations of both sides is going to take a great deal of time and effort by the most experienced of legal minds," Haig said.

He gave no hint of what would be expected of Iran now that it has released the hostages. But Haig noted that U.S. citizens were still in Iranian jails. According to the State Department, at least three are being detained.

Even if the administration concluded it had an obligation to Iran under arms contracts, Haig said that it "would be fulfilled in my book by selling those arms and providing the cash to Iran — selling them elsewhere."

Some of the equipment has already been sold, he said.

News In Brief

Reagan abolishes oil price controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan abolished the last federal controls on oil prices Wednesday in the hope that higher costs for consumers will force more conservation in homes and spur increased production by the industry. As a result, motorists may pay 3 to 5 cents more a gallon for gasoline in the days ahead, said Energy Secretary James B. Edwards. Consumer groups said the increase could be as much as 12 cents a gallon.

Edwards said the impact on home heating oil prices would be minimal, if there was any at all. Energy Action, a consumer group, said heating oil prices could jump by more than 10 cents a gallon in February.

Summit moves toward boycott of Israel

TAIF, Saudi Arabia (AP) — The Islamic summit moved toward endorsement Wednesday of resolutions to expand the boycott on companies dealing with Israel and to call for withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan.

Secretary-General Habib Chatti said the expanded boycott was part of a tough, anti-Israeli strategy designed to put pressure on the Jewish state and its supporters for Israeli withdrawal from captured Arab territory.

Garwood defense motions rejected

CAMP LEJEUNE (AP) — A military judge rejected defense motions Wednesday to dismiss the remaining charges against Marine Pfc. Robert Garwood, who is accused of collaborating with the enemy in Vietnam and striking a fellow prisoner of war.

Garwood's attorneys told the judge, Col. R.E. Switzer, that prosecutors had failed to prove the 34-year-old Indiana native did any of the things he was accused of doing in the collaboration charge or that he had hurt an American POW.
