

Soviet soldiers killed in South African raid

The Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Two lieutenant colonels were among an undisclosed number of Soviet soldiers killed by South African troops who raided Angola, a military spokesman said Wednesday.

In a release carried by the South African Press Association, the spokesman identified a captured Soviet officer as Sgt. Maj. Nicolai Feodorovich Pestretsov. The officer was captured as he traveled in a military vehicle in a column of black nationalist guerrillas.

In Paris, the ambassador of Angola's

Marxist government acknowledged it was possible Soviet soldiers were among those killed in last week's fighting in southern Angola. "We have never made any secret of the fact that our Soviet friends are training our army to help Angola defend its territory," said Ambassador Luis Jose d'Almeida.

D'Almeida also said a continued South African presence in Angola could "lead to a military escalation with unforeseeable consequences for the entire region."

On Tuesday, South African Defense Minister Magnus Malan said this was the first indication Soviets were involved directly with the Angola-based black nationalist guerrillas of the South-West Africa People's Organization, or SWAPO.

SWAPO has been fighting for 15 years to drive South Africa out of South-West Africa, a mineral-rich territory the white-minority government has controlled since the end of World War I. The territory is also known as Namibia.

South Africa says the Angola bases of SWAPO were its only object in the foray across Angola's border from South-West Africa. Angola insists South Africa had a larger goal — to pave the way for UNITA, a group of anti-Marxist Angolans, to establish their power in the South.

The defense spokesman said the captured Soviet, Pestretsov, had been in Angola since 1979. The rank of master sergeant, traditionally the highest level for an enlisted man, was not familiar to sources in Moscow. U.S. intelligence manuals say the highest rank for a non-commissioned Soviet soldier is warrant officer — which was the first description the South Africans gave of the captured man.

South Africa said more than half its defense forces — estimated at 4,000 — has been withdrawn from Angola.

Two foreign television journalists, who said they saw the South Africans withdrawing this week, showed film of hundreds of troop carriers and other armored vehicles heading toward the South-West Africa border.

"We have no proof that the last South African soldier has left Angola, but we believe that it is so," said Walter Scher of German ARD. He was accompanied by Philip Hayton of the British Broadcasting Corp.

News in Brief

Gang claims air base bombing

BONN, West Germany (AP) — A letter claimed Wednesday that West Germany's feared Baader-Meinhof terrorist gang was responsible for the bomb attack this week on the U.S. Air Force European headquarters.

The blast Monday at Ramstein Air Base injured 18 Americans and two West Germans and caused extensive damage. Two of the injured Americans, Brig. Gen. Joseph D. Moore and Lt. Col. Douglas R. Young, remain hospitalized in good condition.

A letter signed "Red Army Faction" and delivered to the Giessen bureau of the West German news agency DPA said Ramstein had been selected for attack because it was a starting point for a U.S. war against developing countries of the Third World.

The Red Army Faction, known popularly as the Baader-Meinhof gang, was responsible for a wave of killings, kidnappings and bombings across West Germany during the 1970s.

Khadafy threatens nuke depots

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy threatened to attack American nuclear arms depots around the Mediterranean if the U.S. Navy again challenged his control of the disputed Gulf of Sidra.

"We are warning the peoples of Sicily, Crete, Turkey and all the states of the Mediterranean that if America again attacks the Gulf of Sidra, then we will intentionally attack the nuclear depots in their countries and cause an international catastrophe," Khadafy declared in a speech Tuesday on the 12th anniversary of his overthrow of King Idris.

"We are willing to die for the Gulf of Sidra," he declared. "We will make the Gulf of Sidra into a new Red Sea with our blood."

It was over the gulf, about 50 miles off the Libyan coast, that two U.S. Navy jet fighters shot down two Libyan fighters that fired on them during Navy maneuvers on Aug. 19. The Reagan administration held the maneuvers in the northern part of the gulf as a challenge to Khadafy's eight-year-old territorial claim to those waters.

Officials held on coke charges

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — The director of Winston-Salem's Benton Convention Center and Memorial Coliseum and a former legislative officer manager were arrested Tuesday and charged with conspiring to traffic in cocaine.

William Wayne McGee, who was named to his city post last year, and Michael Cornell Smith, who in 1979 served as the office manager for a house subcommittee on international trade, were also charged with conspiring to sell and deliver a quarter pound of cocaine.

McGee and Smith were held in the Forsyth County Jail in lieu of bonds of $100,000 and $500,000 respectively.

Inmates revolt, take hostages

FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP) — A small group of inmates armed with sawed-off shotguns and homemade knives took 15 people hostage Wednesday at the Iowa State Penitentiary, officials said.

Five of the hostages, including three women, were released unharmed. One officer who was not taken as a hostage was injured by debris.

State authorities, who had said earlier that four prison officials were taken hostage, later disclosed that eight guard trainees and two prison security personnel remained in the custody of inmates, who demanded a TV crew be allowed to film prison conditions.

The insurrection began about 10:20 a.m. when five prisoners overpowered four guards in a three-story cafeteria building, officials said.

Exercise may be natural high

BOSTON (AP) — Hard exercise increases levels of a natural, narcotic-like pain killer in the blood, a finding that might explain the euphoria that jogs call "runners' high," doctors say.

The finding, though still speculative, bolsters claims that daily running can be addictive. When runners complain of feeling out of sorts if they miss a day of exercise, they actually may be experiencing withdrawal symptoms.

The study found that levels of naturally produced chemicals, called endorphins, rise dramatically when people exercise. These proteins, released by the brain and pituitary gland, help the body control pain and perform a number of other jobs.

The new study was written by Dr. Daniel B. Carr and other researchers and published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

Reagan gives arms talk

The Associated Press

CHICAGO — President Ronald Reagan warned the Soviet Union Wednesday that "they will be in an arms race that they can't win" unless they agree to what he called "legitimate, verifiable arms reductions."

Reagan, speaking at a Republican fundraiser, denied he was retreating from his program to build up U.S. defense capabilities because of new plans to trim the rate of growth in defense spending by up to $30 billion in the next two years.

At the same time, Reagan said his administration would continue to seek strategic arms reductions with Moscow.

"We're going to continue to urge them to sit down with us in a program of realistic strategic arms reductions," Reagan said. "It will be the first time that we have ever sat on our side of the table and let them know there will be a new chip on the table."

"And that chip is that there will be legitimate, verifiable arms reductions, or they will be in an arms race that they can't win."

While Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev has called for a summit, Reagan has said he won't meet with the Soviet leader until aides of the two leaders make adequate preparations.

Reagan also has rejected the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty, SALT II, negotiated between Moscow and the Carter administration.

Later, during a photo session with Chicago mayor Jane Byrne in his hotel suite, Reagan was asked if his reference to verifiable arms reduction meant he was demanding "on-site" inspections.

"I couldn't get that specific," he said. "I would have to see what proposals were needed ... that's why I used the word 'legitimate.' I don't know whether on-site is required or whether we have the technology to do it in other ways. But ... if that's what's required, then I think that's what should be done."

When a reporter suggested he was threatening the Soviets with an arms race if they failed to meet his terms on arms limitation, Reagan said, "No, I just think it's just one of the things that's been missing in the negotiations. The fact is, they built their great build-up in arms while we were sitting there trying to negotiate. We didn't have anything to bargain. We had unilaterally disarmed."
