Chairperson Mike Vandenberg discussed both the pros and cons of the increase, but questioned whether the student body would be able to make an intelligent decision on the referendum after hearing all the facts.

"I think that we will be able to present the information of the increase before it," Vandenberg said. "If that can be done, then the students will have a direct vote on something they are well informed on."

The committee members agreed that many of the organizations that had their budgets cut by last year's allocation process would be helped by the fee increase. "Publications are the greatest hit by the fixed costs," Reckford said. Too many students take University-provided services like the Student Legal Services for granted, he added.

The bill will be brought before the full CGC Oct. 26.

State may aid welfare families

RALEIGH (AP) — Three Democratic state legislators said Wednesday that they would seek a change in state welfare eligibility formulas to prevent 1,610 poor families with working mothers from losing public assistance this year.

Rep. Al Adams, D-Wake, said he and other Democratic legislators would recommend that the state double its "standard of need," a maximum income level used to determine eligibility for the Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

Adams said changes in federal regulations made by the Reagan administration had the effect of providing a "work disincentive," because families would be able to earn less monthly income before losing all federal assistance.

WE WANT TO PICK your brain! Team sign-ups for College Bowl — Mon., Oct. 5 thru NOON Wed. Oct. 14 at the Union Information Desk.

STUDENTS: Candidates with the Association for a Better Carrboro (ABC) received an invitation to a meeting to endorse candidates by the Carrboro Community Coalition (a political group). The candidates found it untenable to attend that endorsement session and sent the following letter to the Coalition:

"We received your invitation to a meeting on October 5, 1981, at 7:30 p.m. We feel that it is inappropriate for a partisan political group to hold such a meeting. Any debate on the views and platforms of the candidates would properly be carried out by a non-partisan organization. Therefore we decline your invitation.

We believe that if you truly were interested in discussion of opposing views you would have encouraged Ms. Sonya Lewis to present her platform on the issues. Instead you have encouraged her to withdraw, showing that, in fact, you have already made your political decision to endorse members of the Coalition who are incumbents in the municipal election.

Hilliard Caldwell, Joyce Garrett and Roger Messer are genuinely interested in honesty and could not in good conscience participate in something that is not what it purports to be."

A member of the Coalition subsequently reported to the newspaper "in the past candidates always vied for support even if they were among those who had little chance for a Coalition endorsement." First, the ABC candidates are not seeking the Coalition's endorsement. Many people are highly dissatisfied with Mr. Sharer's, Mr. Foushee's, Mr. Drakeford's and Ms. White's performance on the Carrboro town board. Second, the ABC candidates would welcome a debate conducted by an impartial panel. Our major candidate is a physics graduate, one alderman is an education professional and the other is a 3rd year UNC law student.

Please visit the ABC office today, Thursday, Oct. 8 from 4:30-7 p.m. at 108 E. Main Street, Carrboro, and discuss the issues with the candidates: ROGER MESSER, for mayor; HILLIARD CALDWELL, for alderman; JOYCE GARRETT, for alderman.

Thank you for your support, ABC.
