

Aid to help traffic problems

Chapel Hill Police Department given grant

By GREG BATTEN
DTH Staff Writer

The Chapel Hill Police Department has been awarded a Selective Traffic Enforcement Program grant of more than $35,000 to aid in controlling local traffic problems, Chapel Hill Police Capt. Arnold Gold said Friday morning at a news conference.

Gold, along with Lt. Bucky Simmons, who is in charge of implementing programs funded by the federal grant, presented detailed provisions and plans for the grant Friday at the Chapel Hill police station.

"The money will support a multi-faceted program," Gold said. "There are three main areas in which time and money will be spent — officer training, public education, and a computer system."

Gold said the computer system was the integral part of the programs provided by the STEP grant.

"The computer will enable us to analyze traffic patterns and achieve optimal use of manpower," Gold said. "Examples of the things the computer system can do for us can be seen through the work of Dr. B. J. Campbell of the Highway Safety Research Center."

Gold said the work of Dr. Campbell, including a comparative study of Chapel Hill with Burlington, Greenville, Goldsboro and Wilson, had already provided some important trends concerning local traffic problems.

Over 45 percent of local traffic accidents involve drivers between the ages of 19 and 27, according to Dr. Campbell's studies, Gold said.

Other target areas which are overrepresented in Chapel Hill traffic accidents compared to the other four cities are female drivers and alcohol-related accidents.

Simmons said such target areas were a part of the specific objectives of programs funded by the STEP grant.

"Educating the public will be a real key to the success of the program," Simmons said. "Pedestrian safety, bicycle safety, alcohol effects on driving, seat belt safety and child restraint use will be stressed."

"The important thing is to keep reminding people of what could happen," Gold said.

"Public information concerning traffic safety will begin immediately in the schools and shopping malls."

The addition of the computer should be instrumental in controlling local traffic problems, Simmons said.

"Hopefully we'll be able to make a better prediction of traffic problems and thus be more successful in preventing accidents," Simmons said.

This type of grant typically runs three years with the amount of federal funds supplied decreasing gradually each year, Gold said.

News in Brief

Officer fired from Council post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top military officer on the National Security Council staff was fired Tuesday morning after saying in a speech that the "Soviets are on the move; they are going to strike."

President Ronald Reagan said he disagreed with the officer, Army Maj. Gen. Robert L. Schweitzer, but Reagan praised him as "a fine soldier" whose services in another post will continue to "be of great benefit to the country."

Reagan's brief comments came only minutes after a senior White House official told reporters Schweitzer was being relieved of his post as director of defense policy for the National Security Council and would return to the Department of the Army within the next few days.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said the action was taken at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday following publication of a Washington Post article quoting the general as saying the Soviets have nuclear superiority over the United States and that he sensed "a drift toward war." Schweitzer concurred in his transfer, the aide said.

Synagogue blast kills two

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — A booby-trapped yellow van exploded near a synagogue in the heart of Antwerp's diamond district Tuesday, killing two women and wounding 99 other people a half-hour before services were to begin, police said. It was the fourth fatal attack on Jews in Europe in 15 months.

An organization called "Direct Action Group, Section Belgium" claimed responsibility, but former members of an anarchist group with a similar name in France denied any role and said the claim was "idiotic." The Israeli Embassy blamed the Palestine Liberation Organization, but the PLO denied the charge.

The van exploded shortly after 9 a.m. in front of the Antwerp Diamond Club, which is across from a synagogue on Hoveniersstraat, an S-shaped street guarded at both ends by police cars to prevent diamond robberies and bolster security because of the recent spate of attacks on European Jews.

The explosion damaged many buildings on the short, narrow street, which is close to the central railroad station, and shattered windows several hundred yards away.

Soviets grant status to PLO

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet President Leonid L. Brezhnev, in a strong new sign of support for the Palestine Liberation Organization, announced Tuesday that the Soviet Union was awarding the PLO's Moscow office "official diplomatic status."

Arab diplomatic sources in Moscow considered the move a Soviet and PLO response to the strategic military alliance between the United States and Israel announced in September. They also said the Soviet action — while on the surface little more than a protocol nicety — also appeared to herald still closer political and military cooperation between Moscow and the PLO.

Brezhnev announced the Soviet decision to PLO leader Yasser Arafat at a Kremlin meeting in Moscow on Monday.

with that objective, there will be an increase in the number of undergraduate productions from two to six per year.

"For the past few years, the Playmakers Company has been a jobbing company, bringing in professionals on a play-to-play basis," Housman said. "We prefer the idea of having in residence a core group of artists who will do a season of plays."

"This allows longer periods of interaction with students and artists in different roles. A true repertory company means having a company in residence for a whole season, and this is a move from a jobbing circumstance into a continuity."

"There seems to have been insufficient performance opportunities for students, especially in the major season and on the main stage," he added. "There have not necessarily been too many professionals but too few students, and we will take greater care in selection processes to accommodate available talent and interests within the University."

Graduate students will also have a greater opportunity to perform. Third-year students seeking a master of fine arts will be required to have acting parts of some consequence in Playmakers productions.
