

To protest increase

Norberg announces plans

By KEN MINGIS
DTH Staff Writer

Student Body President Scott Norberg and Residence Hall Association President Robert Bianchi plan to testify Thursday before the North Carolina Public Utilities Commission in an effort to stop a proposed rate increase by Southern Bell, Norberg said Tuesday.

The proposal, if approved, would raise telephone hook-up costs by more than $40, and would raise the local monthly charge by $4.45.

Norberg said the commission would be presented with student petitions opposed to the rate hike. Petitions circulated in November and December collected more than 5,500 signatures.

"I feel certain that our testimony will have some effect," Norberg said. "We've been working closely with University interests in planning our argument, and what we say should make an impact."

In addition to expressing student opposition to the proposed increase, Norberg said that Student Government would be completing various projects before a new administration takes office in February.

The race relations course set up by the University Services committee begins next week, Norberg said. The class, which is offered through special studies, is designed to help students understand cultural differences between blacks and whites.

"It is a concrete program that will address so much of the lack of understanding between black and white students," Norberg said. "Hopefully in the future we can expand it for more student participation."

Norberg also said he planned to present a reorganization proposal at the next meeting of the Rules and Judiciary Committee of the Campus Governing Council.

"We plan to look into setting up a course review, upgrade the tutorial services, discuss student representation proposals with the Board of Governors and examine the possibility of student membership on the Committee for Undergraduate Admissions," he said.

"Students may look upon us as a 'lame-duck' administration because of the upcoming elections, but the exact opposite is true," Norberg said. "In the past, after Christmas, there have sometimes been wholesale resignations from student government (as people start looking for other things to do). That hasn't been the case so far."

Only one member of the cabinet has resigned, executive assistant Summey Orr, Norberg said. He has been replaced by Tony Lathrop, a junior from Chapel Hill.

"We won't be slacking off in the next few weeks," Norberg said. "There are a lot of things we still want to do."

"To a certain extent, it's in the eye of the person beholding it. It depends on what the recipient can tolerate," Cell said. She said she felt that some incidents might "boil down to one individual's word against another."

In a questionable case, previously maintained records of cases might contribute to any judgments that had to be decided by any one of the grievance committees available to students and employees.

Cell's duty as affirmative action officer will be to maintain records and files from complaints and observe any patterns that may develop, she said.

"We are not trying to monitor private relationships of students," Ehringhaus said. "What happens on a date or while studying is (the individual's) responsibility," she said.

Up until now, the chancellor's office has received good reactions from faculty members, excluding one letter of criticism. But, Ehringhaus said any suggestions would be helpful, and the policy "can be changed if needed."

Orange County Water and Sewer spokesman Everett Billingsley, said frozen water pipes were OWASA's main problems, citing more than 100 reports of frozen pipes.

Billingsley said the cold weather also hampered men working on the pipes. "They've had to work long hours out in the cold, but there have been no complaints," he said.

Despite the extremely low temperatures Sunday and Monday, only one case of hypothermia had been reported at North Carolina Memorial Hospital, and no one had been treated for frostbite, a hospital spokesman said.

The forecast for today calls for one to three inches of snow in the morning changing to freezing rain by the afternoon. A low of 20 degrees is expected.

News in Brief

Testimony links Williams, Cater

ATLANTA (AP) — Wayne B. Williams and Nathaniel Cater sat together on a park bench about a week before Cater's body was found in the Chattahoochee River, a witness testified Tuesday at Williams' murder trial.

The surprise testimony marked the first time anyone had told of seeing Williams with either of the two youths he is accused of killing. Williams has denied knowing them or any of the 26 other young blacks whose deaths have been investigated by a special police task force.

Margaret Carter, who said she had been a friend of Cater's since 1978, testified she saw Williams and Cater on the bench near the apartment of Cater's parents.

Williams, a 23-year-old black free-lance photographer, is charged with killing Cater, 27, and Jimmy Ray Payne. No arrests have been made in the 26 other slayings.

Poles eager to end martial law

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Deputy Prime Minister Jerzy Ozdowski told Western reporters Tuesday that Polish authorities would like to end martial law by Feb. 1.

However, Ozdowski said there was no timetable for ending the state of emergency, which was declared Dec. 13. Ozdowski said the timetable for lifting military rule "depends on the situation."

In the past month, Polish officials have said martial law would not last "a moment longer than necessary," but had not set a date for lifting it.

Ozdowski made his statement on ending martial law at a news conference for foreign journalists.

Friends -

Just wanted to thank you for your great help and service when we bought our Bose 301 speakers today. We'd done some shopping around before we bought the speakers, and quite frankly, most people in stores were like dealing with used car salesmen. In many cases we were actually pressured to buy speakers that were over-priced and not compatible with our system. You folks were the only ones who took the time to enquire about our system, the type of music we listen to, where and how we listen, etc. We did not feel the pressure to buy, but rather enjoyed the fact that we were shown a system very compatible with our own - at a great price. Now that we've hooked up the speakers we're enjoying great sound. For our time and money, we think Bose is the best, and we appreciate the personal attention from Woofers & Tweeters that led to our purchase. Thanks!

Sincerely,
Mr. & Mrs. W W
