Men's soccer downs Atlantic Christian; Johnson breaks all-time scoring record

By MICHAEL DeSISTI
Staff Writer

Senior forward Tony Johnson's pair of goals led the men's soccer team to a 5-0 win over host Atlantic Christian Wednesday night, and in the process he established himself as the Tar Heel's leading scorer of all time.

Johnson, a second-team All-ACC pick last season, from Buires Creek, N.C., scored his fifth goal of the year and 27th of his Carolina career 15 minutes into the second half of the contest, crasing Jim Reston's previous mark of 26 tallies.

"It feels good, but I'm not overwhelmed with winning individual awards," Johnson said. "I'm just happy we're winning."

Johnson opened the scoring 16:30 into the game when he headed a hard, driving corner kick by Mark Devey into the near post from just outside the goalmouth.

That goal proved to be the game winner, as keepers Bruce Talbot and Larry Goldberg combined for the shutout.

Right back Joe Maher finished out the half with the first goal of his career with just under five minutes left in the half.

"I didn't know what to do," said the senior. "I don't know how to describe it because it never happened before."

Maher carried the ball from his own midfield to the edge of the opponent's penalty area and, finding himself unmarked, fired a low, hard shot into the far side of the net.

Coach Anson Dorrance didn't hesitate to show his pleasure in his wingback's play.

"Joe Maher was brilliant," Dorrance said. "He was making runs down the right side all day."

UNC continued to pressure the Bulldog's defense in the second half, as Devey scored the first of his team's next three goals 53:07 into the game. Devey picked up a loose ball 25 yards away from the goal, beat two defenders, then knocked it in from 18 yards away, swinging it across the goal from the right side.

Freshman Chris Connolly was next. The high school All-American midfielder ran onto a drop pass seven minutes later at the left edge of the box and bounced a low screamer off of the inner side of the far post.

UNC forward Tony Johnson wins the ball in the air ... men's soccer opens home season Sat.

Then, with 34:18 left in the game, Johnson made his assault on the record books. Taking a pass from Maher on his chest, he juggled the ball on his thighs before volleying it into the back of the net for the big one.

The Tar Heels open their home season tomorrow at 2 p.m. on Fetzer Field, meeting UNC-Wilmington. The Seahawks have made a habit of playing UNC close, and Dorrance does not expect this year to be an exception.

But regardless of Wilmington's play, Dorrance remains confident in the ability of his own squad, which has begun the season with a 3-0 mark.

"I'm real pleased," he said. "I'm pleased with our attitude in training sessions, and our performance in matches has been excellent."

NOTE: The women's soccer game for Saturday has been canceled. The Tar Heels' home opener against UNC-Wilmington is in the process of being rescheduled.
