

The Daily Tar Heel

Weekend

Inside:

Battle of the bands

Polo

Old Salem

Playmakers

Album and movie reviews

DTH/FILE photo

Bands group for pop music battle

By GIGI SONNER

It will be a pop music potpourri: rock, soul, rhythm and blues, top 40, dancewave, cross-over, and rock-a-billy. This Saturday, six bands will combine for six hours of music at The Battle of the Bands on Ehringhaus Field.

The event is being sponsored by the Carolina Union Social Committee and south campus dormitories Hinton James, Ehringhaus and Morrison.

"As well as offering a good time to those who attend, Battle of the Bands will offer exposure to some local bands," said Eli Jeffers, chairperson of the Social Committee of the Carolina Union. The concert will showcase The Kamikazees, Kilowatt, The Shake, The Group, Mechanism and Gary and the Resisters.

See BAND on page 3

Matt Cooper plays lead guitar for The Group
... the rhythm and blues band rounds out its sound with original numbers

Kamikazees have high-energy, dynamic act

DTH/Scott Sharpe