

Seven UNC lacrosse players named to All-American team

North Carolina placed seven players on the 1983 All-American lacrosse teams selected by the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association.

Senior midfielder Peter Voelkel was the only Tar Heel named to the first team, making him a four time All-America selection. Voelkel was one of only two repeaters from last year's first team to make the 1983 first team.

Senior attackmen David Wingate and Michael Burnett, another four time All-American, were named to the second team. Joining Burnett and Wingate on the second team were defensemen John Haus, a senior, and Randy Cox, a junior.

Senior goalie Tom Sears, a first team selection the past two years, was named to the third team. Freshman midfielder Joey Seivold was an honorable mention choice.

North Carolina Head Coach Willie Scroggs was pleased with the Tar Heel's selections. "Any time you have seven kids make the All-American squad it's an indication of a very fine program," said Scroggs.

According to Scroggs, the division of the three All-American teams depends upon the outcome of the NCAA tournament. Carolina lost in the semi-finals of this year's tournament to runner-up Johns Hopkins.

Carolina's seven All-Americans named to this year's squad ranks third behind NCAA Champion Syracuse's nine selections, and Hopkins eight.

—Eileen McCann

Co-Managers
Pat Jones Rande LaDue

THE GYM

503 W. Main St., Carrboro (near A&P)

STUDENT SPECIAL
3 months $99.00
(with pre-payment)

Check out our competition first, then visit us. You'll appreciate us more!

THE AREAS BEST EQUIPPED, MOST PROFESSIONAL FITNESS CENTER

Special extended to June 30th, 1983

Call 933-9249 for FREE trial

THE Daily Crossword By N.E. Campbell

- | | | | |
|------------------------|---------------------------|-----------------------|------------------------------|
| ACROSS | 40 Before bar or metric | 3 Criticize harshly | 35 British — |
| 1 Armor-breaking club | 41 Fundamental | 4 Factor | 38 Musical instruments |
| 5 Automobile body type | 42 Fragrance | 5 — agent | 41 Brimless cap |
| 10 Thaw | 44 Telescope parts | 6 Tokyo's former name | 42 Food fish |
| 14 Man on a pedestal | 46 Unwavering | 7 Indistinct | 43 Spills or sticks together |
| 15 Roman official | 48 Tax collector monogram | 8 Guinness or Waugh | 45 Warning signal devices |
| 16 Space | 49 Orchid tuber food | 9 Asian area | 47 Talked back to |
| 17 Identical | 50 Hi-fi reproducers | 10 Boat basin | 50 Old English bard |
| 18 Give what is wanted | 54 Ocean route | 11 God of love | 51 Fuss |
| 20 Quake | 57 Happen | 12 — majesty | 52 Discharge |
| 22 Sea voyages | 80 Wicked | 13 Soviet news agency | 53 Locality |
| 23 Discourage | 61 Norse deity | 18 Restrains | 55 Russian mountains |
| 25 Pictorial bird | 62 — Dame Latin abbr. | 21 Name in elevators | 56 Short, sharp bark |
| 26 Monkhood plants | 64 Cooking containers | 24 Brings up | 58 Consumed |
| 29 Hemp plants | 65 Place | 26 Blacksmith's block | 59 Spanish lady; abbr. |
| 33 Salamanders | 66 Vessel | 27 Discontinue | |
| 34 Wrongly | | 28 Daub | |
| 36 Food scrap | DOWN | 30 Suggest | |
| 37 Moving truck | 1 Vapor | 31 "— we all?" | |
| 38 French city | 2 Jewish month | 32 Common-wealth | |
| 39 — culpa | | | |

see solution to today's puzzle on page 11

The next opponent was Herning, one of the better club teams in Denmark's Second Division. UNC eliminated the team 3-0. After that the Heel's knew they were for real.

From there the tour took the team to Copenhagen, where the Tar Heels were supposed to play in a tournament. However, the NCAA has a five-game limit on teams traveling abroad, so the Heels didn't enter the tournament. Instead they played the First Division's top team in Denmark, Skovlund. Coach Dorrance said he was pleased with his teams' play, despite a 5-4 loss.

"This game made the tour for me," Dorrance said. "I got to see the difference between their best players and ours." The Skovlund roster included four players from Denmark's national team. "I was pleased with our fighting power," Dorrance said. "I think we're tactically better than they are."

Although the Heels lost their only game of the tour in Copenhagen, the Carolina players otherwise enjoyed their stay in Denmark's capital, where the UNC players stayed at the homes of the Skovlund players.

Language wasn't a problem in Denmark since most of the players and their families spoke English. Susan Ellis, a rising UNC senior, said staying at the other team's home was a highlight of the trip.

"They think Americans eat ketchup on everything," Ellis said. "They had ketchup on the table for every meal. They wanted to know if I was going to put ketchup on my mashed potatoes!" UNC played one more game in Denmark before moving on, against a top second Division team from Virum. The Heels rebounded from their loss to Skovlund, shutting out Virum 3-0.

From there it was on to Bremen, Germany, where the Tar Heel's concluded their trip with a 1-1 tie against the best team in Bremen.

Rising juniors Amy Machin and Dori Kovanen had extra duties in addition to the ones they had on the field. While the team was in Germany, Machin and Kovanen served as the team's interpreters.

Machin, the leading scorer for Carolina on the tour, was satisfied with Carolina's play in Europe. "From what I saw and my experience in the past, I think our starting team is more than competitive with the best teams in Europe," Machin said.

The biggest disappointment, Machin said, was that the University didn't give the team any support in going on the trip. "We didn't get any money from the athletic department to go," Machin said. "All things considered, the trip was valuable to the growth of our team."

With only a five-game schedule stretched out over two weeks, the Tar Heel's had plenty of time to sightsee and party. Rising sophomore Stacey Enos was impressed with the high alcohol content of the beer in Europe: "That beer was awesome!"

Obviously, the Tar Heels left an impression in the minds of the European soccer experts.

Panama Jack

THE ORIGINAL PANAMA JACK

Complete line of half-shirts, muscle shirts, suntan cremes, lotions, and oils.

THE SHRUNKEN HEAD BOUTIQUE
155 E. Franklin St. 942-7544

BLOOM COUNTY

by Berke Breathed

