Terrorists kill American diplomat in Rome

ROME - Terrorists killed the American director of the multinational force that patrols the Sinai peninsula, blowing in the rear window of his bulletproof car with machine-gun fire as it pulled up to his home Wednesday evening.

Dr. Evasio Fava, director of intensive care at the hospital, said Leamon R. Hunt died minutes after he was transferred to San Giovanni Hospital from Sant'

Eugenio Hospital. The attack came a few hours after Vice President George Bush left Rome. He had discussed the situation in Lebanon with Italian officials. As the attack occurred, at least two people jumped from a trailing car, attacked Hunt's limousine at point-blank range, then fled on foot, police and witnesses said. A group demanding that all "imperialist forces" leave Lebanon claimed responsibility.

Al Taggazy, who was shot by two gunmen Jan. 21 and died last Friday without regaining consciousness. The Fighting Communist Party, a group usually identified with the Red MILTON'S Brigades urban terrorists, claimed responsibility for the shooting in an WINTER anonymous telephone call to a Milan radio station. "This is the fighting Communist Party," a male voice with a Roman accent told Radio Popolare. "We must claim the attempt on Gen. Hunt, the guarantor of the Camp David agreements. The im-

The missiles in Comiso refer to 112 U.S.-built cruise nuclear missiles being installed in Sicily as part of NATO's plans to counter Soviet missiles aimed at Western Europe.

Police and Italian news agencies initially incorrectly identified Hunt as an American general

He was being followed by a blue Fiat 128, said the witnesses, who refused to give their names. At least two unidentified men jumped out of the Fiat and opened fire with automatic weapons against the back window of Hunt's bullet-proof Alfa Romeo.

WASHINGTON — A business leaders' group Wednesday urged Congress to take another crack at cutting Social Security benefits, saying reforms adopted last year are "too little, too late" and that the system could run short of cash again before

A 15-member subcommittee of the Committee for Economics Development called for raising the retirement age to 68 by the year 2000 and trimming the annual cost-of-living increases or reducing future retirees' initial benefits.

The CED is an influential group of 200 of the nation's top business executives and several university presidents that takes stands on issues affecting the nation's economy. It called for similar changes in Social Security in 1981.

Its report, "Social Security: From Crisis to Crisis?" concludes that even with the $166 billion bipartisan package of tax hikes and benefit cuts that Congress approved last year, there is "very little margin of safety" for the rest of this decade.

MOSCOW - The black-trimmed flags were gone Wednesday and so were the portraits of Yuri V. Andropov that had been displayed all over Moscow for months. Billboards that once bore Andropov's quotations were covered over with fresh slogans.

With a smoothness and efficiency typical of such events in the Soviet Union, Moscow has shed its mourning clothes.

The official period of mourning for Andropov began Friday, the day his death was announced, and ended Tuesday, when the late Communist Party leader was buried in Red Square in a funeral procession led by his successor, Konstantin U. Chernenko.

RALEIGH - Democratic Gov. Jim Hunt stepped out of his office and into the heat of a partisan political battle Wednesday to accuse Republican Sen. Jesse Helms of failing to help improve education.

Hunt also said he would flunk the Teachers for Helms group on its radio advertisements because they are dishonest and inaccurate. The ads criticize the state's educational progress under Hunt, who is challenging Helms' re-election bid.

"I think the people of North Carolina recognize that these Teachers for Helms are no friends of education," Hunt said in his first campaign news conference. "And friends of education in North Carolina have had no help from Sen. Helms."

Teresa Seiber, a spokesman for the Helms for Senate committee, said Hunt is trying to divert attention from his record on education.

"Gov. Hunt is trying to shift the blame from himself by criticizing Sen. Helms for the Hunt administration's failure to adequately improve education in North Carolina," she said.
