PROMISES, PROMISES . . .
and the Avia 680 delivers!

A men's training shoe for those who take their running seriously. The cantilever sole absorbs the shock of running far better than conventional flat-soled shoes. The special ripple sole design gives the RT-680 a dual-action shock absorbing system which better protects your feet, ankles and knees against the wear and tear of running. No other shoe promises foot stability from heel to toe. So push this shoe to the limit. It won't let you down.

Gromyko visits top-ranking officials

The Associated Press

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who stayed away last year, arrived in New York Tuesday as the U.N. General Assembly opened its 39th session with appeals for the two super powers to resume arms negotiations.

Outgoing assembly President Jorge Illueca of Panama called on the Soviet Union and the United States to take "urgent and meaningful steps" to halt the arms race and "to return to the negotiating table."

Illueca's successor, Paul Lusaka of Zambia, said he regretted "the present low ebb in the relationship between the two super powers."

"We should make a strong appeal to the great powers to urgently explore every avenue to resume dialogue in a spirit of understanding, responsibility and flexibility," Lusaka told the 158-member assembly, which will remain in session until the end of December.

"The world is not safe when the great powers are not engaged in serious dialogue to control and to halt or freeze the ever increasing modernization of nuclear weapons," he added.

Gromyko's special Aeroflot jetliner landed at Kennedy Airport at 2:56 p.m. EDT. Mark Marchese, a spokesman for the Port of New York Authority, said the plane's manifest listed a 31-member Soviet delegation. Gromyko is scheduled to address the General Assembly next Tuesday.

His arrival set the stage for President Reagan's first meeting with a top Soviet official.

The 75-year-old Gromyko, who has met with eight other American presidents in the Oval Office, will confer with Reagan at the White House on Sept. 28, a day after he meets in New York with Democratic presidential nominee Walter F. Mondale.

The breakdown in U.S.-Soviet negotiations on strategic and intermediate-range missiles is expected to be a major topic in Gromyko's talks. As in the past, Gromyko probably will make new or revised arms control proposals when he addresses the assembly.

Reagan will be the first speaker when the assembly begins general debate on Monday.

High-level U.S.-Soviet talks begin Sept. 26 when Gromyko meets Secretary of State George P. Shultz on the sidelines of the U.N. session.

DC-8 cargo jetliner crashes in Ecuador

The Associated Press

QUITO, Ecuador — A DC-8 cargo jetliner struck a perimeter fence while taking off from the Quito airport yesterday and smashed into nearby houses, killing at least 48 people and injuring more than 50, local news reports said.

The government did not release any casualty figures.

Red Cross officials said many of the people injured in about a dozen homes hit by the aircraft suffered burns as the craft exploded in flames.

"At least 30 people died, including the four crew members" of the plane

operated by the Ecuadorian company

AECA, said Efrén Recalde, head of the Ecuadorian Aviation Co. at the Quito airport.

A local television station reported at least 48 people were killed and more than 50 injured.

The plane was headed for a 35-minute hop to Guayaquil, the final leg of a trip that began Monday night in Miami, Fla.

Recalde said the plane arrived in Quito with a 50,000-pound cargo and had unloaded about 19,000 pounds in Quito. He did not say what the plane was carrying, but the area was littered with baby bottles and watches.

Police cordoned off the area as rescue crews dug through the wreckage of the plane and houses to remove the victims. An automobile parts store also was demolished.

Barrels remain in ocean

The Associated Press

OSTEND, Belgium — Salvage divers recovered three more containers with radioactive material from a sunken freighter Monday, but failed in a first attempt to make access to the remaining barrels easier, officials said.

Seventeen of 30 steel barrels holding uranium hexafluoride have been retrieved from the French freighter Mont Louis that sank Aug. 25 after colliding with another ship 12 miles off the Belgian coast, Public Health Ministry spokesman Jan Peeters reported.

He said salvage workers failed to open a new hole in the hull to make retrieval of the 13 remaining barrels easier.

The teams "might use light explosives" when they try again, but special precautions will be taken to ensure the cargo inside the 4,210-ton Mont Louis is not damaged, he added.

Quick settlement unlikely at GM

DETROIT — General Motors Corp. laid off workers at a fifth parts plant Tuesday, bringing to 6,700 the number idled because of local strikes by 62,000 workers. Union and company negotiators resumed talks on the key issue of job security in a new national contract.

GM's Harrison Radiator division, based in Lockport, N.Y., said it was laying off 670 of its 5,700 employees at Lockport and possibly 80 more on Thursday at a plant in Buffalo.

Meanwhile, GM and the United Auto Workers union, after giving their negotiators a full day's rest, resumed bargaining to replace the 1982 concessions contract that expired at midnight Friday.

The UAW canceled a meeting scheduled for Wednesday in Chicago of its 300-member GM Council, which reviews national contracts.

News in Brief

before the membership votes on them. The meeting had been scheduled last week when hopes for a settlement were brighter.

Barfield scheduled as first woman to be executed

RALEIGH — Relatives of convicted murderer Velma Barfield told Gov. Jim Hunt on Tuesday that she should not become the first American woman executed in 22 years because she has shaken drug addiction and is helping other inmates reform.

Barfield is scheduled to die Nov. 2 for the 1978 poisoning death of Stuart Taylor, her boyfriend at the time. She also has admitted poisoning her mother and two elderly Robeson County residents.

"The Velma Barfield in prison today is not the Velma Barfield that did the things that she has confessed to doing," said Ronnie Burke, Barfield's son from Goosecreek, S.C. "She was a different person before going to prison and had no control over her life at all."

Federal relief sought for Diana damages

State officials Tuesday estimated damages to five counties from Hurricane Diana at almost $79 million, with the most damage occurring to private residences.

In a letter from Jesse Pugh, state coordinating officer for emergency management to the federal relief officials, the latest preliminary damage estimates were put at $78,847,623.

Private residential damage was $30,113,678. Damage to business totaled $5,100,385.
