World's Fair loses $100M

The Associated Press
NEW ORLEANS — A rip-roaring jazz parade yesterday did not drown out the financial blues as the 1984 world's fair ended a six-month run, its critical acclaim overshadowed by losses of more than $180 million.

Instead of drawing the daily crowd of 90,000 or more that would have led to success, the Louisiana World Exposition averaged 9,000 a day for its 184 days — about half of what it would have taken just to break even.

The exposition goes down as the biggest financial fiasco in the annals of world fairs, owing more than $100 million to 750 creditors and left in the middle of a Chapter 11 reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws. It eclipsed the losses of the New Orleans fair of 100 years ago, a financial calamity in its own right.

The fair cost state taxpayers about $65 million — $27.5 million in direct loans, $10 million in guarantees against losses and 27.5 million in street improvements and other costs.

Driver dies in race

HAMPTON, Ga. — NASCAR driver Terry Schoonover died of massive head injuries following a wreck in yesterday's Atlanta Journal 500 auto race.

Schoonover, 22, of Royal Palm Beach, Fla., was the first stock car driver to be killed in a NASCAR Grand National event since 1975, when Tiny Lund was killed in the Talladega 500. He was the first driver ever to die in a race at the Atlanta International Raceway.

Schoonover was pronounced dead of massive head and internal injuries at 4:27 p.m. at Grady Memorial Hospital in downtown Atlanta.

Martin tries for coalition

RALEIGH — Jim Martin, who in January will become the state's second Republican governor this century, is seeking advice from GOP veterans and conservative Democrats as he lays the foundation of his administration.

Before departing the capital city last week for a post-election rest, Martin established a team to oversee the transition and begin forming a new government. Although the group is led by his brother and other longtime Martin associates, it includes Democratic Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green's executive assistant and another Democrat from Gov. Jim Hunt's administration.

Aides say Martin's strategy is twofold: to win support of conservative Democrats that will give his programs a core of support in the Legislature, and to persuade as many Democrats as possible to join the GOP.

"This party is going to build. We're going to welcome new people into our ranks," Martin said in a news conference last week.

Elder King dies

The Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., father of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., died yesterday at Crawford Long Hospital. He was 84.

Bernice Thompson, a secretary at Ebenezer Baptist Church, said King was taken from his home to the hospital yesterday where he died.

The elder King was a retired pastor of Atlanta's historic Ebenezer Baptist Church, where his late son, Martin, once served as co-pastor.

King had a life marred by tragedy, but it never made him bitter. In addition to the assassination of his eldest son, King's wife, Alberta, also was slain by a gunman.

"I'm not going to quit," the stocky, grey-haired minister said after his wife and a church deacon were shot to death in June 1974 as she played "The Lord's Prayer" on the church organ. "I'm not going to let nothing stop me."

In recent years, King, whose non-violent preachings during the turbulent 1950s and 1960s led to his being
