Egg nog in Tokyo Tar Heels successful over break

By LEE ROBERTS
Assistant Sports Editor

While most of us were drinking egg nog and hanging out under the mistletoe over the holidays, the North Carolina basketball team was trotting around the globe.

This world-wide excursion led the Tar Heels from Osaka, Japan to Miami, Florida, and from a record of 5-0 at exam time to 10-1 going into tonight's matchup with Maryland in Carmichael Auditorium (7 p.m.).

Along the way, North Carolina climbed up to fifth in the basketball polls, then dropped back down to ninth after a loss to Missouri.

Here's how it all happened:

Dec. 21-UNC 80, Wichita State 69- Osakajo Hall, Osaka, Japan

With 15,000 avid Easterners in attendance, the Tar Heels rolled to a 40-26 halftime lead, then lead by 18 points twice in the second half, only to see the Shockers twice trim those leads to seven points. With four minutes left, UNC goes into the four corners and with 3:20 left, Wichita State comes as close as it will, trailing 71-64. Brad Daugherty has to sit for 11 minutes with foul trouble, scoring only eight points. But Steve Hale makes up for Daugherty's absence by scoring 17 points, and Joe Wolf scores a career-high 16. Buzz Peterson throws in 14 more. Coach Dean Smith comments later on Daugherty's absence: "Without him, we're not the same team."

Dec. 23-UNC 85, Arizona State 66- Aoyama Gankin Hall, Tokyo, Japan

This victory gives UNC the Sunbury Ball Tournament championship, and Smith calls it the Tar Heels' best effort of the season. Daugherty and Warren Martin block up the middle, forcing the Sun Devils to shoot outside, and they can manage but a miserable 31 percent shooting for the game. The Tar Heels jump to an 11-2 lead, go into halftime with a 45-31 bulge, and lead by 21 points five minutes into the second half. Kenny Smith and Daugherty are named to the all tournament team by Japanese sports writers. Daugherty scores 20 points, Smith 17 and Martin 14 in the rout.

Dec. 29-UNC 88, Hawaii Pacific 69- Block Arena, Honolulu, Hawaii

UNC leads 50-47 after a hotly contested, fast-paced first half before less than 1,000 fans on the Pearl Harbor Naval base. The Tar Heels go on an 18-4 run to start the second half, and the Sea Warriors cannot make up the deficit. A pressure defense and the play of the guards are major factors in the win. Smith says. Daugherty knocks in 22 points against two seven-footers. Wolf adds another 16, Smith has 15 and Hale scores 14. UNC is now 8-0 and ranked number five in the country. "We don't care about the national rankings now," Smith says. "We're among the top 50 teams in the country."

Dec. 30-Missouri 81, UNC 76-Block Arena, Honolulu, Hawaii

The bubble bursts as the Tigers, led by Dan Bingenheimer, who sinks five free throws in the final 4:2, sink the Tar Heels. Missouri takes a 36-34 lead with 1:15 left in the first half and never gives it up. In the second half, North Carolina starts off by making just four of 14 shots, and Missouri pulls away to an eight-point lead. But the Tar Heels battle back and, with 4:6 remaining, trim the Tigers' lead to 73-72. Then Bingenheimer takes over. Daugherty and Smith score 14, Wolf and Martin score 13, and Hale adds 10 as the Tar Heels fall to 8-1.

Jan. 3-UNC 85, Stetson 71-Stetson College, Orlando, Florida

North Carolina christens the new year with an 85-71 pounding of the Hatters, but the victory may cost. Joe Wolf goes down with a sprained ankle and will be gone two to three weeks.

The score stands at 22-16, UNC, when the Tar Heels go on a string of 14 points to put it away. Stetson is scoreless for four minutes, and it is 42-26 at the half. Stetson shoots well and the Tar Heels poorly in the second half for the 85-71 final. Using traps and a half-court press, the North Carolina defense has the Hatters baffled all night. Daugherty finishes with a career-high 24 points, and he and Dave Popson each put in nine rebounds.

Jan. 5-UNC 78, Florida State 69-Knight Center, Miami, Florida

The Seminoles build up a 23-14 lead early, then coach Smith sets up a 2-1-2 zone defense to force Florida State to take outside shots. It works. UNC goes into halftime with a 39-33 lead. The game is a battle in the second half. Florida State takes its last lead, 51-50, with 10:18 left to play. With UNC leading, 63-61, Daugherty and the UNC fast break put the game away. Daugherty hits a shot, then blocks a dunk attempt by forward Rodney Allen, then triggers a fast break that results in a Steve Hale layup. Seconds later, Smith feeds Daugherty on another hoop, and it's off to the races. Taking advantage of a packed-in FSU zone, Steve Hale pops for 23 points. The Seminoles zone is designed to stop Daugherty inside, but he scores 21 anyway. Says coach Smith later: "Steve (Hale) always plays great, whether he scores three points or 15 points." Or 23 points, a career high.

Wrestling trip takes its toll on team

By BOB YOUNG
Staff Writer

In one of the most ambitious campaigns undertaken in the history of UNC wrestling, the Tar Heels went to the undeniable Mecca of collegiate wrestling, the Midwest, to prove themselves worthy of a 10th-place national ranking. In the end, North Carolina found out why its opponents had higher rankings.

"It was a long trip," coach Bill Lam said. "And it took its toll. But I feel it was necessary to wrestle that kind of competition and I'm glad we did it."

The team began its competition with the Midwest Championships in Ames, Iowa in December 28-29. With seven of the top 10 ranked schools competing, UNC kept its claim to the number 10 rank, finishing seventh. Three Tar Heel wrestlers finished in the top five of their divisions, with Chip McArdle placing third at 126, Gene Stalters finishing fourth at 134, and Rob Koll placing second at 158.

"Rob (Koll) just wrestled great, only losing to the top-ranked wrestler in the country," Lam said. "And Chip (McArdle) lost to a guy who was ranked second in the nation."

After the invitational, UNC began a series of three dual-matches against the third, fifth and seventh-ranked teams in the country — Iowa State, Northern Iowa, and Wisconsin.

UNC got off to a quick start against the Cyclones of Iowa State when Al Palacio pinned Dan Higgins in 3:32 in the 118 division. North Carolina lost the next four matches as John Thron decided McArdle (126), 4-2; Joe Chezzi beat Stalters (134), 10-8; Joe Gibbons defeated Lenny Bernstein (142), 13-3; and Larry Jackson scored a superior decision of 15-3 over David Upshaw (150). Koll broke the drought at 158 with an 11-3 superior decision over Dave Ewing. UNC's Tad Wilson then tied Mike VanArsdale, 3-3, at 167. But North Carolina lost the final three matches as Bob Gasman beat Craig Spivey (177), 10-6; John Heropoulos scored a superior decision over Tracey Davis (190), 16-4; and Darryl Peterson decided Stacey Davis (Hwt), 7-0. The final score gave Iowa State the win, 28-12.

Against Northern Iowa, Palacio won again at 118, defeating Paul Kreimeyer, 10-2. Pat Pickford then beat McArdle at 126 by a 13-11 score. Stalters (134) then decided Chris Lembeck, 6-1, but the Tar Heels lost the next six matches. Scott Moringstar defeated Bearnstein (142), 9-5; Keith Massey turned back Upshaw (150), 8-5; Lew Sondgeroth beat Koll (158), 7-5; Dave Grant superior decided Wilson (167), 16-7; Mike Llewellyn beat Spivey (177), 4-2; and Jeff Weatherman scored a technical fall over Tracey Davis (190). Stacey Davis won the heavyweight division over Dave Crees, 77-5, but Northern Iowa won the match, 25-10.

In the last of its dual matches, Wisconsin beat UNC, 30-6. North Carolina won the first two matches as Palacio (118) beat Mark Clayton, 6-2, and Chip McArdle defeated Gene Spellman, 5-3. UNC was held winless in the remaining matches as Jim Jordan superior decided Stalters (134), 20-6; John Giura defeated Bernstein (142), 10-3; Paul McShane scored a superior decision over Upshaw (150); Mark Richman major decided Koll (158), 14-6; Rudy Isom beat Joe Silvestro (167), 7-2; Terry Manning beat Spivey (177), 6-3; Ralph Liegt turned back Greg Zwilling (190), 10-8; and Dave Wanta decided Stacey Davis (Hwt), 5-3.

Still, Lam was satisfied with his team's performance. "We had some good and not so good performances against some excellent competition," he said. "If we can get all our guys into the right weight classes we'll have a very competitive team."

Love Wins Again
Almost lost in the holiday downpour of basketball tournaments and bowl games was a sensational performance by North Carolina golfer Davis Love at the 11th annual Sun Bowl College All-America Golf Classic.
Love, a junior from St. Simon's Island, Ga., won the three-day tournament at the Santa Teresa Country Club in El Paso with a four-under par 212. Love birdied the last hole of competition to defeat Mississippi's Darren Cole by one shot.
