

Class officers hold 'Senior Daze' week

By STEPHANIE MARSHALL
Staff Writer

The task of planning for life after college is enough to put anyone in a daze.

This week, UNC seniors can share that confusion and have some fun by participating in "Senior Daze," a week of activities for seniors, sponsored by the senior class.

"The purpose of this week," Senior Class President Anne Davidson said Monday, "is to provide activities for seniors and to give them more information about their class activities. It will also help them find out about life after college."

Senior week officially began Sunday night with a study break.

"I was very excited about the turnout," said Senior Class Marshal Janet Roach. "It was a good kick-off."

The week was coordinated by Kevin Yoo, chairman of the Senior Week Committee.

Carl Fox, Orange County district attorney, was the speaker at a "table talk" session Monday night in Lenoir Hall. The event was the first in a series of talks co-sponsored by Marriott and the Senior Class.

Basketball coach Dean Smith and UNC-system president C.D. Spangler will be speaking at "table talks" next month.

"Senior Info Day" will be held today, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Pit and in the Great Hall of the Student Union. Representatives from University Career Planning and Placement Services and the Counseling and Development Center will be on hand to share information with students.

The organizations inform students about opportunities after college, helping them choose graduate and professional schools as well as careers. Credit card representatives will also be present.

Davidson said she was optimistic about participation in Senior Week. "There will be academics, information about life after college, and social life," she said. "It will appeal to a lot of different kinds of people, and people can pick and choose."

Senior class activities for the year will be discussed at an open meeting Wednesday night at 7 p.m. in Rooms 205 and 206 of the Union.

Three "senior nights out" will also be part of the activities. Gatherings are planned Tuesday night at Henderson Street Bar, Thursday night at Jordan's, Bub O'Malley's and Troll's, and Friday afternoon at He's Not Here.

There will also be a "movie night" Wednesday at Varsity and Ram theaters. Seniors will be admitted for children's prices, by showing their student identification along with senior class stickers. Senior stickers may be picked up in Room 216-C of the Union.

UNC student dies during road race

By BRENDA CAMPBELL

On Saturday, first-year UNC medical student Michael Loveless, 24, collapsed during a road race in Duke Forest.

The veteran runner was taken to N.C. Memorial Hospital and pronounced dead shortly after arrival.

A state medical examiner said Monday that the cause of death will not be known until a full autopsy is completed.

After completing one mile in the 3.1 mile race, Loveless clutched his side and fell over unconscious, according to witnesses at the race. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was immediately started by rescue workers, but to no avail.

"It's a great tragedy," Stuart Bondurant, dean of the School of Medicine, said Monday. "All his classmates are deeply saddened."

Bondurant met with Loveless' 160 classmates Monday morning. Although Loveless had only attended UNC for a month, he had already made many friends, Bondurant said.

A native of Faribault, Minn., Loveless received his undergraduate degree from Duke University. He lived in Estes Park Apartments in Carrboro.

"He had a promising career ahead of him," Bondurant said. Before running on Saturday, Loveless had signed a race waiver stating he was in good health.

After the first stage of the autopsy, Dr. Kurt Nolte, assistant chief state medical examiner, said Monday, "The determination is listed as pending."

Further blood and microscopic tests must be made before a final cause of death will be announced, Nolte said.

"We expect to have all test results back within the month," he said.

The funeral will be held Wednesday in Wells, Minn. Bondurant said two of Loveless' classmates planned to attend.

VCR thefts plague dormitory governments

By LYDIAN BERNHARDT

The Residence Hall Association (RHA) has had to replace three videocassette recorders that were stolen from residence area governments.

The machines, worth between $200 and $250 each, were bought with funds supplied by student fees.

Ehringhaus Residence Hall checked one of the stolen VCRs out of the RHA office, according to RHA President Kelly Clark. It was stolen from the Ehringhaus staff desk in February, he said.

Then the VCR bought to replace the missing machine was stolen, this time from the RHA office in the Student Union.

Also, another VCR was stolen from Mangum Residence Hall, where it was being stored over the summer.

Since the theft occurred over the summer when few people were around, Don Collins, Olde Campus area director, said officials don't know much about it.

Clark said the Olde Campus VCR was replaced with funds from the All-Campus Enhancement Fund, which comes from student fees.

The VCR stolen from Ehringhaus was replaced with RHA funds, which also come from student fees but are separate from the enhancement fund. Since the replacement VCR was also stolen, Clark said it will be replaced again.

There are no real leads on the thefts, Clark said, because many people have access to the places the machines are kept. There was no sign of forced entry into either area.

"The RHA and the dorms are investigating security measures and looking at what can be done," Clark said. The areas can't be closed off, he said, because so many people need
