Freshman Denkins leads gymnasts to win in opener

By DAVID SUROWIECKI

As the UNC and William and Mary gymnastics teams marched into Carmichael Auditorium Saturday afternoon, the rap group Salt N'Pepa's song "Push it" blared over the loudspeakers, prophetically proclaiming the excellent gymastics which awaited the 200-plus fans in the gym.

And push it, the gymnasts did, pushing their bodies to the limit, as the UNC women defeated the visiting William and Mary Tribe by a final team score of 177.45 to 174.05.

The meet, the first of the year for the Tar Heels, began with UNC on the vault, and William and Mary on the uneven bars. UNC started quickly on a solid 8.9 vault by sophomore Debbie Sigler. As a young Michael Jackson belted out "ABC, easy as 1-2-3," the lyrics belied the difficulty of the event at hand. The Tar Heels' last three competitors, however, did their best to help Michael out.

Senior co-captain Kristin Bilotta, who eventually placed fourth in the all-around, scored a 9.05 and sophomore Melissa Leonard tacked on a 9.0, both leading up to the stunning vault of Angie Denkins. A freshman from Willingboro, New Jersey, Denkins wowed the crowd by nailing a vault worthy of Mary Lou Retton, and sticking the landing to score a 9.6, indeed making it seem as easy as 1-2-3. The score was high enough to easily win the event, with Jeanne Foster, 9.2, and Kim Coates-Wynn, 9.1, both of William and Mary, taking competition, contributed a team high second and third respectively. Said UNC coach Derek Galvin: "We got off to a good start on vaulting; the vaults that they did were actually among some of the best we've done in our training regiments."

The UNC women then proceeded to the uneven bars for the second rotation, an event where the William and Mary gymnasts experienced some difficulty by giving away too many falls. Allie Miller, with an 8.5, led all Tribe gymnasts on the bars.

The Tar Heels, although also hampered by unfortunate falls, turned in a solid overall performance on the bars, sweeping the three top spots. Leonard continued her excellence by matching her 9.0 on the vault with an identical score on the bars. Sigler, the UNC record holder on the uneven bars with a 9.75, scored a 9.1, good enough for second place.

Sigler was topped only by Denkins, who turned in another great performance with a 9.3, thereby winning her second in as many events.

"We were not quite as consistent as we were in practice, but they did a good job on bars," Galvin said. "The routines were good; we just had a couple of falls.

It was after the second event for both teams that UNC began to pull away, leading by 4.4 points after the second rotation.

UNC didn't fare quite as well on the balance beam, but there were generally good routines all-around. Sophomore Carrie Suto, who finished third overall in the individual 9.05 on the beam. Freshman Tracy Calore scored a 8.7, and Denkins, an 8.95. Were it not for a fall on her difficult dismount, Denkins would have received a 9.45 for her excellent routine.

On the William and Mary side of the beam, the Tribe finally began to get things together; it was, however, too little, too late. Coates-Wynn and Foster both contributed to the cause with strong 9.15 and 9.1 performances, respectively. Foster's routine helped propel her to a second-place

As the final event, the floor exercise, came around, fatigue began to take its toll on the the Tar Heels, and as Galvin bluntly put it, "The floor exercise was rough and that's an endurance factor."

Nonetheless, talented freshman Susan Willams, who placed fifth in the all-around, turned in a solid 8.85 to start the Tar Heels off on the right foot. Sigler then proceeded to perform a powerful, energetic 9.3 routine, topped once again only by the freshman phenom Denkins. Showing moves reminiscent of Michael Jackson, Denkins turned in a brilliant and exciting performance resulting in a 9.6. Unfortunately for UNC, a rising star, freshman Tracy Calore, reinjured her ankle in the floor exercise, and as of now her status is still unsure.

The William and Mary gymnasts, on the other hand, had a very successful floor exercise, with several gymnasts contributing excellent routines.

As the crowd dissipated after the meet, several youngsters approached Denkins seeking autographs and although she struggled to contain her laughter — there was no holding back her huge smile, which lit up the auditorium.

49ers win on late TD

From Associated Press reports

MIAMI - Joe Montana hit John Taylor with a 10-yard touchdown pass with 34 seconds remaining in regulation time as San Francisco staked its claim as the Team of the 80s Sunday with a 20-16 victory over Cincinnati in the most dramatic Super Bowl ever.

The winning score came at the end of a 92-yard drive, engineered by Montana, whose touchdown pass gave him a Super Bowl record with 357 yards passing. Twelve of his completions were to Jerry Rice, who finished with 12 catches for 222 yards, both Super Bowl records.

It was the fifth straight win for an NFC team, but by far the most dramatic. The previous four victories had been by an average score of 41-14.

The winning drive began after Jim Breech had kicked his third field goal of the game, a 40-yarder with 3:20 left, to give the Bengals a 16-13 lead. A holding call on the kickoff forced the 49ers to start from their own 8 with a little more than three minutes left.

But Montana, who completed 23 of 36 passes on the day, made himself the quarterback of the decade on the winning drive. He passed for 8 yards to Rice, 9 yards to tight end John Frank and 17 more to Rice. Then, he hit Roger Craig for 13 yards and Rice 27 yards over the middle on a secondand-20 play.

After an 8-yard pass to Craig, he hit Rice for 10 yards to set up the winning score to Taylor.

The game that was supposed to be a shootout went 44 minutes and 26 seconds without a touchdown, the longest dry spell in the 23 Super Bowls.

After Mike Cofer's 32-yard field goal tied the game 6-6 for San Francisco with 50 seconds left in the third quarter, Stanford Jennings took the kickoff 93 yards for a score, racing untouched through the San Francisco defense until Terry Greer ran him down and tripped him as he fell over the goal

But the 49ers, whose offense sputtered early, suddenly came to life, going 85 yards in just four plays to tie the score at 13-13. Montana hit Jerry Rice for 31 yards, Roger Craig for 40, then Rice for a touchdown in the left corner of the end zone from 14 vards out.

State

seconds left, setting up an almostdisastrous ending for UNC.

Lester missed the first and hit the second free throw to make the score 84-81. UNC's Scott Williams took the inbounds pass, dribbled twice and then looked to pass the ball off.

In an effort that closely resembled Georgetown guard Freddy Brown's pass to UNC's James Worthy in the 1982 national championship, Williams threw the ball directly to Chucky Brown. Brown spun and put up the shot. When it bounced off to give UNC the victory, Williams looked rather relieved.

"I heard someone behind me yell 'Hey,' " Williams explained. "So I made the pass. I'm not going to harp on the bad things I did today, but I admit I was rather relieved when he missed."

That State even managed to get close enough to attempt that minor miracle is a shock itself. The Wolfpack managed but two leads during the entire contest: 2-0 at the outset, and 46-45 at the half. Besides that, it was all Tar Heels, with an occasional State spurt thrown in to keep it interesting.

The win placed the Tar Heels in a tie for the ACC lead with State and Clemson at 3-1. But like all good pests, N.C. State isn't done haunting the Tar Heels. The next encounter with the Wolfpack, this time in Raleigh, looms on the horizon: February 9th.

It took a balanced scoring attack,an off day by Rodney Monroe and some misguided last-second shooting by Chucky Brown for the Tar Heels to win on Saturday. When the pest returns in a few weeks, UNC will need more than that to avoid an upset.
