Rampage '89 promises full agenda of special events

By BETH MECKLEY

Staff Writer

"An Explosion of Good Times" will hit Chapel Hill this week as Rampage '89 offers many daily activities in celebration of Homecoming.

The events begin today in the Pit, where different games and events will take place from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. all week. Students will have the opportunity to play human checkers and Win, Lose or Draw; to eat ice cream; to kick field goals over the Pit; to have pictures taken with the mascot and more, said Drew Davidson, Carolina Fever vice president.

In addition, each night features a variety of activities. "We're trying to make things as exciting as we possibly can, and we want as many people involved as can be involved," said Brad Bennett, Homecoming vice chairman.

"Animal House" will be shown at 9:30 p.m. today in the Pit, and popcorn will be provided. Several student organizations tonight will paint windows on Franklin Street to add to the town's Homecoming spirit.

Tuesday is Comedy Night at Great Hall. Beginning at 8:30 p.m., students will perform, mocktails will be served and Great Hall will have taken on a new look.

"We're going to try to create a little of a night club ambiance," Bennett said. The Mr. UNC Contest will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Great Hall. The band No 1 U Know will be featured, and admission is $2.

A Carolina Shrimp Feast will be from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday at the American Legion Post.

The Black Greek Council Stepshow will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Carmichael Auditorium. This event has been publicized at schools across the state, and several thousand people are expected to attend, Bennett said. Admission will be $2, and a dance will be in the Cabaret after the show.

The Franklin Street Extravaganza will kick off the weekend at 7 p.m. Friday.

"It's kind of an old-fashioned street fair," Bennett said. Musical chairs, a pizza-eating contest, a magician, music and other performances are some of the night's events. The pre-game pep rally will begin at 8:30 p.m.

A band party will be on Ehringhaus field after the extravaganza, and Domino's Pizza will serve pizza and soft drinks. Liquid Pleasure and The Press will play from 9:30 p.m. until midnight.

"We're anticipating a large crowd that is ready to celebrate beating Navy," Bennett said.

No bottles or coolers will be allowed, and Bennett offered a special thanks to the Student Environmental Action Committee, which will collect aluminum cans afterward. The rain site for the party is Great Hall.

Tail Great will be from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, featuring a mini-pep rally and other entertainment. A barbeque will be held near Silent Sam at McCorkle Place, and the cost is $8 per plate ($4 for students).

The Homecoming parade will begin at noon and will include about six floats, about 27 golf carts, four high school bands and many clowns.

"One of our goals was to make (the parade) big and exciting enough to have a lot of people see it. We've got a whopper of a parade this year," Bennett said.

The big event, "The Clash of the Mammals," kicks off at 4 p.m. The Homecoming Queen will be crowned at halftime. The applicants for queen have been interviewed, and a court of eight has been selected.

The student body Thursday will cast votes for candidates. Polling sites will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Pit, in Chase and Lenoir dining halls, and at the Campus Y, Bennett said.

Marching Tar Heels add cartoon to halftime show

By CATHY APGAR

The Marching Tar Heels Saturday will present a halftime show featuring a cartoon for the Homecoming game, said Robin Gorham, field conductor for the band.

The cartoon, which is performed by the band and a small cast, has the traditional theme of a villain, a hero and a damsel in distress. The band is providing the music for the cartoon and has a small part in the cartoon's action, Gorham said.

The cast features a villain, Kelly Johnston; a hero, David Tyndall; and a damsel in distress, Michelle Rodgerson. The band performed a short version of the cartoon during its halftime show Saturday at North Carolina State University.

Band Director James Hile said the crowd at NCSU, especially the student section, got involved in the show. He directed a similar show at the University of Illinois two years ago.

Band President Monte Boyer said, "This is the best show to involve the crowd that the band has done in the past 15 to 20 years."

"The crowd at State responded better to our show than they did their own band's show."

All of the good elements of a melodrama are in the show, which allows the crowd to pull for the good or the bad guy, he said.

Gorham said, "The show is really something everyone will enjoy. I think the crowd will be pleasantly surprised." The crowd is tired of watching the band just march around, she said, and because this show has a theme, the crowd will want to watch the theme develop.

The show begs for the audience to get involved, Hile said. "The show is real entertaining for everybody in the audience, particularly at homecoming when there are alumni in the crowd," he said.

"The hard work and dedication of all the band members has really paid off," Gorham said.
