Seminoles chop women's basketball, 70-61

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — After an emotional 82-77 victory against N.C. State Wednesday night, the No. 25 UNC women's basketball team dropped an ACC game to Florida State Saturday, 70-61.

The Seminoles upped their record to 10-5, 5-4 in the ACC, while the Tar Heels dropped to 14-3 and 4-2.

Florida State used 54-percent shooting, including a scorching 67 percent in the first half, to overcome 20 turnovers and capture its third consecutive league win.

FSU junior Tia Paschal led the Seminoles with 18 points and 10 rebounds, while freshman Chantell Dishman and sophomore Christy Derlak each added 12.

North Carolina was led by freshman Charlotte Smith who poured in 20. Smith also pulled down 12 boards to record her sixth double-double.

Gymnasts glide by Radford

RADFORD, Va. — The North Carolina gymnastics team improved to 3-1 Saturday with a 186.10-180.95 triumph against Radford in Radford, Va.

Tar Heel sophomore Tracy Knowles keyed the victory, scoring a career-best 37.95 in the all-around competition. The Darnestown, Md., native notched a 9.65 in the balance beam competition and a 9.70 in the floor exercise.

UNC sophomore Alisa Musser compiled a season-high 37.45 in the all-around. Musser's performance was highlighted by a 9.65 on the beam.

Brown pole vaults to school record

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. — North Carolina junior pole-vaulter Kevin Brown set a school indoor record Friday in the USAir/East Tennessee State Invitational.

Brown vaulted 17 feet, 3 3/4 inches to break his own record. A two-time ACC champion, Brown had previously jumped 17-1 1/2 indoors.

Saturday, UNC sprinter Reggie Harris won the 400-meter dash in 46.35 seconds, missing the NCAA qualifying mark by .25 of a second.

In the women's high jump, UNC senior Tisha Waller qualified for the NCAAs with a second-place jump of 6-0 3/4. Waller was followed by teammates Nicky Hudson and Angela Boice, who tied for third with a leap of 5-11.

The women's two-mile relay squad swept to a second-place time of 9:05.66, while the men's two-mile relay team pulled into fourth place in 7:41.25.

In the high jump, UNC's William Darity (7-1) and Ruben Patel (6-11) finished third and fourth in the high jump.

Fencers take stab at Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — The UNC fencing squad completed another successful weekend, traveling to Penn State and competing against six schools.

The men's squad finished 4-1, beating Stanford, Northwestern, Cornell, and Cal-State Long Beach. The loss was to 1991 NCAA champ Penn State.

The women were less successful, going 1-4. They dropped matches to Stanford, 9-7; Northwestern, 9-7; Fairleigh Dickinson, 10-6; and Penn State, 12-4. The Tar Heels rallied to knock off Cornell, 10-6.

UNC was led in the foil by Drew Thompson, who lost only one match on the weekend, and Kevin Bruen, who went 12-2.

Redskins blitz Buffalo in 37-24 Super stomp

The Associated Press
MINNEAPOLIS — The no-names on Washington's defense were too much Sunday for Buffalo's no-huddle offense.

The Redskins won their third Super Bowl in 10 years, 37-24, putting the game away with 24 straight points after a scoreless first period in which they blew two touchdown chances.

The Bills, one-point losers to the New York Giants in the Super Bowl a year ago, never were in this meeting of the teams with the two best records in the NFL, despite two late touchdowns.

Sure, MVP Mark Rypien was 18 of 33 for 292 yards and two touchdowns as Washington ran the NFC's streak of Super Bowl wins to eight.

Sure, the "Posse" — receivers Art Monk, Gary Clark and Ricky Sanders

— led a 17-point explosion in five minutes, 45 seconds of the second quarter after a scoreless first period. That surge saw the Redskins use the no-huddle offense themselves in a modified reprise of their record 35-point second quarter in their Super Bowl rout of Denver four years ago.

And sure, Rypien hit Clark with a 30-yard TD pass with 1:24 left in the third quarter after Buffalo had cut a 24-0 lead to 24-10.

But just as important was the work of a blitzing defense that shut down the NFL's most explosive offense until the Redskins had that lead.

It sacked Buffalo quarterback Jim Kelly five times, held tailback Thurman Thomas to 13 yards on 10 carries, snatched four interceptions and forced a fumble.

the chancellor designate a development officer to raise money for student projects. She also wants to form a graduate students' political organization to lobby for pro-education candidates.

Programs such as a.p.p.l.e.s. that offer hands-on learning through community service are becoming more important nationally, she said, and funding must be found for it.

"Obviously there's a problem with the fact that we can't control our student fees."

Airan said her most important role as student body president would be to listen to all students and be accessible to them. "I think student body president is a job, basically, and you have to be willing to give it all your time."

This would help her combat student apathy, she said, "because if you give students what they want, then they won't be so apathetic."

"Part of apathy comes from this belief that student government people are only after one thing, but I'm not like that."

Some difficulties faced by student government, including its image problem, could be alleviated if communication between the legislative and executive branches increased, she said.

"I think the one thing I've seen every year, there's going to be problems and conflicts — and each year it's getting better," she said.

Putting new lights in the residence halls will save money, make them safer and help the environment, Bibbs explained.

Installation costs are relatively low, and new lights will eventually save the University a lot of money.

Bibbs said his most important achievement at the University was his work on two state laws.

He worked with legislators to place a student representative on the UNC Board of Governors and to create collegiate license plates to raise unrestricted revenues for the University.

Accessibility to student government will help combat the problem of student apathy, Bibbs said.

He plans to hold office hours in the Pit and work with student groups by attending some Black Student Movement, dormitory, fraternity and sorority meetings.

His most important role as student body president is bringing in and cultivating freshman student leaders, Bibbs said.

Getting these students involved early will establish a continuity in government and help it run more efficiently, he said.

Efficiency is now a problem in student government, he said.

"We have about the worst system of student government in the UNC system," can do is change the way people portray student government. Right now it's portrayed as a bunch of people with political aspirations running around."

Changing that image starts with the SBP, whose most important role should be that of a servant, Moody said.

This is why he is running for office. "I was just dissatisfied with the whole system," he said. "Starting last year, people were always talking about student government and not doing anything about it, and I decided to do something about it."

He considers his greatest achievement at the University to be his good grades. "I guess I would say getting the grades I would like and still having time to do other stuff."

While Moody centered his platform on the little things, he said he also is concerned with major issues — and one of his biggest concerns is race relations.

Creating an African-American studies department is a priority, as is adding the multicultural curriculum requirement.

These and other issues need to be handled in a direct manner, he said.

"Instead of focusing on rallies and marches, ... I would like to directly address the people who can grant a department," he said. "And we think there definitely should be a building established dedicated to race relations — a multicultural center and expanded BCC."
