Major League Baseball Baltimore Detroit

Boston

Toronto

N.Y. Yankees Cleveland Chi. White Sox

Minnesota

Seattle Milwaukee Texas

Oakland

12 Atlanta Los Angeles

San Francisco

Cincinnati

Late

8

St. Louis Chi. Cubs

Pittsburgh

Philadelphia

Houston San Diego

11

0 (11) N.Y. Mets

11

SPORTS MC

UNC sports have won 8 ACC titles in 1991-92

Montreal

10/The Daily Tar Heel/Monday, April 20, 1992

3-2-1...Tar Heels rocket to ACC success

Staff report TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — The North Carolina men's track team took its first ACC title since 1955 this weekend as it eked out a half-point victory against Clemson in the ACC Track and Field Championship.
The Tar Heels scored 178.5 to Clemson's 178. Tournament host Florida State finished third with a 123. UNC senior Sean Murray set the tone Saturday as he heaved the javelin an

ACC-record 240 feet, eight inches to take first place After Saturday's action, North Caro-lina had amassed 73 points, compared to Florida State's 40 Sunday, the Tar Heels only managed wins in the discus and 400-meter competition, but held off late-charging Clemson for the crown

In the discus, senior Harlis Meaders, a Monroe native, defended his 1991 championship with a toss of 182-5. Meaders won in 1991 with a throw of Junior Reggie Harris outran the competition in the 400, placing first with a time of 45.41 seconds. Harris was also second in the 200 logging a time of

Also Sunday, Reggie Harris

UNC took two of the top three spots in the decathlon and in the high jump.

In the decathlon, Tar Heel junior Paul Foxson finished second with a score of 7,749 points and senior Dennis McGorty took third (7,350 points). Junior Tom Schmitt finished fifth with 6,916

Junior William Darity cleared 7-feet 1 1/2 inches to place second in the high jump, while sophomore Ruben Patel leaped 6-11 to take third.

Staff report TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — The North Carolina women's track team won its fourth ACC outdoor championship in the past five years this weekend at the ACC Championships, running away from Virginia 171-164.

For Coach Dennis Craddock's squad, the win signalled a return to the top of the league after losing the 1991 outdoor and 1992 indoor crowns to Clemson. UNC senior high-jump star Tisha Waller, paced the Tar Heels Saturday with a win in the high-jump competi-Her leap of 6-feet, 2 3/4 inches was good enough for a meet record. The win was Waller's third consecutive ACC championship in the high jump. After Saturday, the Tar Heels led Virginia 75-62.

Sunday, North Carolina got wins in the heptathlon, 400-meter hurdles and discus to secure the victory. In the heptathlon, senior Nicky won the javelin in 1991. In the triple jump, UNC senior Penny with 5,431 points.

Hudson, from

Angier, also won the ACC crown in 1990 Senior Rebecca Russell, a Fancy Gap, Va. native, won the 400 hurdles in 57.03

For Lipson, the win was her second ACC title in two different events. She

Blackwell finished second with a jump

Track men win 1st since '55 | Women's track back on top | Men's tennis aces ACC foes

Staff report CHARLOTTE — The North Carolina men's tennis team used an MVP performance by senior Bryan Jones to upend Duke 5-4 Sunday and take the ACC championship at the Renaissance Park Tennis Center

The win upped UNC's record to 24-4, 11-0 in league play, and avenged a 5-2 loss to Duke in last year's ACC Tournament final. Duke fell to 19-6.

The win marked the eighth ACC title North Carolina has captured this school year, encompassing all sports. That ties UNC's own ACC record, set in the 1989-90 school year.

Jones, named the tournament's most outstanding player, clinched the title with an ace at No. 2 doubles, giving him and teammate Joe Frierson a 6-4, 7-6 (7-3) victory versus Duke's David Hall and Chris Pressley.

Jones, 24-2 in singles this season, defeated Hall 6-4, 6-2 at No. 2 singles. In the day's most pivotal match, UNC's Chris Mumford upended Willy Duke's Willy Quest 2-6, 6-4, 7-6 (8-6) at No. 5 singles after having trailed 4-1 in the third set. Mumford's victory evened the team score at 3-3 heading into doubles play. In doubles, Duke's team of Phillippe Moggio and Quest defeated UNC's Sean Steinour and Wells Brabham 6-2, 6-1 at No. 3. The Tar Heels' top-seeded pair of Mumford and Roland Thornqvist then prevailed against Geoff Grant and Lars Beck 7-5, 6-0, tying the teams at 4-4 and setting up the championship-clinching effort by Jones and Frierson.

Bryan Jones

Top-seeded UNC reached the finals by beating N.C. State 5-1 Friday and then rolling past Clemson 5-1 Saturday.

Women's golf refuses to putter out in

UNC's Debbie Doniger captured top individual honors at the ACC Golf Championship

By Amy McCaffrey

ADVANCE - It was the greatest women's golf ACC Championship ever

OK, the tournament at Bermuda Run this weekend was the first held in six years, and only the fourth overall, but time will uphold the excitement of the 1992 tournament. A precedent has been

No. 10 North Carolina won the tournament with its final player on her final hole of what might have been her final collegiate tournament. (The bids for the NCAA Tournament won't come out

The team's three-day score of 921 bettered by two that of runner-up Florida State, whose inauguration into the conference added a fourth team to the tourney and made the renewal of the ACCs possible. Duke finished third with a 934, and a 957 left Wake Forest in last

those scores, but the numbers don't tell

Numbers won't show the gallery of players, coaches, parents, roommates and interested onlookers who were perched around the 18th green Saturday for an agonizing 20 minutes, waiting

Numbers won't record the screams

As Doniger approached the 18th green, she was oblivious to her team's ### situation. "As a team I thought we'd won," she said. "I didn't realize it came down to that putt, and I'm glad I didn't

Doniger had no reason to believe her team was in jeopardy - UNC had led the field by 12 strokes after two days, and FSU had only picked up a stroke on the front nine Saturday. Doniger did but Cobick was persistent.

Each of the pair's second shots at 18 landed in a bunker to the left of the green. As Doniger laid her bag down green-side, she asked her teammates how they were doing. All reassured her they were fine. Doniger later said that she was glad her teammates didn't tell

'I would have died," she said. "I wouldn't have putted."

her shot bouncing near the pin and landing on the back fringe of the green. Cobick's ball had more life and landed 10 feet in back of Doniger's.

ing it still short of the green. Doniger putted off the fringe and brought the ball within four feet of the hole. Cobick also used her putter on the fringe, and then tapped in for a double-bogey 6. Doniger's final putt for bogey and an overall score of 220 brought the gallery rushing to the green and the tournament

"Debbie didn't know how we stood ### or anything; she just played like a true champion," said UNC coach Dot Gunnells.

"Debbie is never going to give you a high score," Gunnells later added, and Doniger's steady totals of 73-73-74 evidenced that. No other golfer in the tourney broke 75 more than once on the Gunnells spoke with limited authority on Doniger's play, as she doesn't shadow her captain during tournaments. "Deb's a little superstitious about me following her," she said. "She says she doesn't play well when I follow her, so I usually don't follow her.

Doniger was joined on the All-ACC squad by teammate Kim Byham, Wake's Stephanie Neill, Duke's Kim Cayce and FSU's Erica Firnhaber. FSU's Debbie Miles-Dillman was voted

ACC Coach of the Year, Byham's total of 229 qualified her for fourth place. Other Tar Heel finishers were: Amber Marsh, whose 236 tied for 11th place; Jessica Wood, who shot a 238 and placed 13th; and Meredith Quimby, who shot a 245 and placed

But those are numbers again - numbers that can't reflect the drama of the moment. Possibly it was Byham who best recognized the tradition being set in her team's victory. As she told Doniger on the way to the awards presentation, "How perfect is this? Senior wins the tournament, and the team wins on the last hole."

Women drop net

Staff reports
CHARLOTTE — The UNC women's tennis team lost in the semifinals of the ACC Championship this weekend at the Renaissance Park Tennis Center.

The Tar Heels moved to 14-9 on

In Friday's quarterfinal, fourth-seeded North Carolina cruised by Clemson 6-0. UNC junior Cinda Gurney, ranked 10th nationally, defeated Mimi Burgos 6-1, 6-2 at the No. I singles spot.

At No. 3 singles, UNC's Alisha Portnoy clinched the win for the Tar Heels. Portnoy dropped the first set 4-6 to Amy Hise, but stormed back to take the next two sets 6-1, 6-1.

In the closest match of the day, Tar Heel sophomore Scotti Thomas outlasted Karolina Jutkiewicz in three sets. Jutkiewicz won the first set 7-6 (7-1), but Thomas rebounded to win the final two sets 6-3, 6-2.

UNC's Angela Bernal, No. 60 in the country, beat Shannon King 7-5, 6-1 at No. 2, Nicole Transou trounced Janice Durden 6-1, 6-4, and Gigi Neely outlasted Tara Lynch 7-5, 7-5 to round out the win. In semifinal action Saturday, UNC fell 5-1 to top-seeded and fourth-

Gurney recorded the only win for the Tar Heels, as she pounded Julie

Softball falls in ACCs; Jackets sting baseball

Staff reports TALLAHASSEE, Fla. --- The North Carolina softball team failed in its quest to win the inaugural ACC Championship this weekend, going 1-2 in the double-elimination tournament.

Friday afternoon, the Tar Heels knocked off Virginia 2-0 to move their record to 42-12

UNC pitcher Paige Lauby upped her record to 23-6, as she held the Cavs to two hits in seven innings. UNC managed only 3 hits off

UVa. 's Kerry Lewis but benefited from three Cavalier errors. Tar Heel catcher Lisa McGloin paced North Carolina, going 1 for 3 and scoring a run. Saturday, the Tar Heels dropped to 42-14, losing 11-0 to eventual-champion Florida State and 3-1 to Virginia. Against host Florida State, UNC hurler Beverly Smith was pounded for 11 hits, eight walks and 10 earned runs. Smith's record dropped to 19-7. Meanwhile, FSU's Toni Gutierrez held North Carolina to four hits. In a rematch of Friday's tilt, Virginia got the better of the Tar Heels. Once again, Lauby and Lewis battled for seven innings. This time, though, Lauby allowed six hits and three runs. Lewis gave up nine Tar Heel hits, but ### they translated into only one run. Baseball swept by Jackets

ATLANTA - Georgia Tech outscored North Carolina 29-8 this weekend as the Yellow Jackets swept a three-game series from the slumping Tar Heels at Chandler Stadium.

Tech defeated UNC 8-1 Friday and 15-4 Saturday before taking a 6-3 win Sunday. The Jackets upped their record to 33-9, 10-7 in the ACC. North Carolina fell to 24-19, 8-13 in the league.

Sunday, Tech's Michael Smith blasted a two-run homer in the second inning to put the Jackets ahead for good. The hit was Smith's second homer of the series, the first a threerun blast Saturday.

Manny DaSilva led the Tar Heels with two doubles on 4-of-4 hitting, his second four-hit game of the season. The Tar Heels' game Tuesday versus UNC-Greensboro, originally slated to be played at Boshamer Stadium, will instead be played at 3 p.m. in Greensboro.

Men's golf finishes 10th

TEMPE, Ariz. - The UNC men's golf team finished 10th this weekend in the Sun Devil/Thunderbird Classic at the Karsten Golf Course. North Carolina completed three rounds in 895. The event was won by host Arizona State with a score of 854 Arizona followed with a 859.

In individual play, ASU's Phil Mickelson was low scorer, with a 209. UNC's top finisher was junior Tom Scherrer who carded a 222, to place 27th. UNC freshman Brian Brown was 30th (223), senior Pat Moore finished 34th (224), junior Bill Smith ended up in 37th (226).

until May 18th.)

Conference officials will file away for the final foursome to arrive.

of relief given by the UNC golfers as senior co-captain Debbie Doniger putted out, and numbers certainly won't describe the tears Doniger cried after it was all over.

know that she was 2-up on FSU's Mary Lee Cobick for the individual title but that she wasn't safe yet. Cobick had begun Saturday with a two-stroke edge on Doniger, but the pair were tied at the turn. Doniger added as many as three shots on her opponent on the back nine, her where they really stood.

Doniger chipped out of the sand first,

Cobick muffed her fourth shot, leav-

How perfect indeed. The pioneering ranked Duke. legends of ACC golf were crowned Saturday ... they just don't realize it Exum 6-2, 6-4.

By Jennifer Dunlap

The North Carolina lacrosse team showed over the weekend that, sometimes, quantity is just as important as UNC head coach Dave Klarmann cleared his bench Sunday as UNC finished its regular season with an 18-7 win against Villanova in the second round of the fourth-annual Triangle Lacrosse Classic. Saturday in Durham, the Tar Heels defeated Michigan State 18-8 in the first round.

Sunday's game showcased the North Carolina reserves, who were responsible for nine of the Tar Heels' 18 goals. The invitational was a chance for some less-experienced Tar Heels to shine.

This weekend was the first weekend where we were able to play everybody, because over the course of two months we had to fight and scratch for every game," said UNC head coach Dave Klarmann. "The guys that don't get to play need a chance to play to show me why they should or shouldn't play."

Klarmann said his team did not play very intensely Sunday, but won the game with talent. "It had to do with the fact that North Carolina had more physical ability than their opponents on two consecutive days," he said. "We just have more guys. We have more scholarships. We have more tradition. We're just Seniormidfielder Dan Donnelly, who had a goal and four assists Sunday, said he enjoyed watching his younger teammates come of age.

realize that we're a more talented team

"When we play games like these, we than them, and as long as we play hard, we should be able to handle them," he said. "That's kind of a goal for me, anyway, and for a lot of the seniors-to work real hard in the beginning so that you can give the other guys a chance. Those guys work really hard in practice, just as hard as anybody. I think it's great watching some of the freshmen get their first career goals - I remember back to those days. I see a lot of potential in those guys, and I'm real glad they're here." Donnelly was one of a slew of veterans who helped give UNC a chance to show its depth. Junior attackmen Steve Speers and John Webster scored three goals apiece and sophomore Ryan Wade drilled in two. Villanova attackman Sol Mahoney opened the scoring Sunday seven minutes into the game. But that was the only time the Wildcats had the lead. In the first half, UNC middle Steve Muir and attackman Danny Levy tallied two each and attackman Rick Codd scored one. At the end of the first half the score was UNC 12, Villanova 5. The second half saw the UNC defense step up its play and hold Villanova to just two goals, one in each quarter. Also in the second half, middle Steve Schattner found the net twice. His first goal, at the 11:22 mark of the third period, came off a rebound of a shot that hit the post.

career point.

Schattner notched his second goal off a pass from freshman middie Scott Bulkley. The assist was Bulkley's first Two other freshmen garnered their first career goals in the game's closing scored an unassisted goal at the 9:29 mark of the fourth quarter. Four minutes later, middle Clint Harris tallied his first career goal with a diving shot past Wildcat goalkeeper Brian Kash. Senior middle Steve Gilhuley, , who received UNC's George Browne Most Valuable Player Award Sunday, said the team's younger players deserved the chance to play in games like these. "I think it's a big thing for the freshmen," he said. "They're a big part of our team. This is a reward for them. Klarmann said he thought his team had room for more improvement. "I still think we have a long way to go as far as how well we can play," he said. "I don't think we've gotten to that game lassic Donnelly agreed. "I think we can play a lot better," he said. "I think everybody realizes that. That's kind of a good feeling because we're on a winning streak. "We haven't lost since those first two games, and yet we're still not playing the best that we can.' In the Triangle Classic's other two games, Duke defeated Michigan State 22-5 Sunday and upended Villanova 16-6 Saturday. The tournament was fashioned so that Duke and North Carolina do not play one another. The Classic is a traditional primer for the ACC Tournament, which begins Friday in College Park, Md. The Tar-minutes, UNC middie Kyle Durkee Tar Heel attackman Danny Levy looks for an opening in UNC's 18-7 victory Saturday