

Reward

to us that the information was given of free will.

"My feeling is that he has decided that this ought to be a sweepstakes, and that's not our game," he added.

Daniel said the monetary amount of rewards for informants was predetermined.

"Information is presented to the Crime Stoppers board by a police representative," Daniel said. "The Crime Stoppers board has a set schedule in order to determine the (amount of the reward)."

"About a dozen people sit on the board and discuss (the situation) using the parameters that are set in the by-laws," he added.

Daniel said the amount for rewards depended on the crime. Murder ranges from $500 to $1200, rape from $350 to $1200, kidnapping from $300 to $750, robbery from $250 to $500, arson from $200 to $400, burglary from $150 to $350 and most other felonies from $100 to $200.

Rick Ennis, a liaison officer from the Chapel Hill Police Department to Crime Stoppers, said, "It's decided on the merits of the case."

Ennis said that one crime, such as murder, was not necessarily weighted over another, such as rape.

He said murder and rape crimes were both very serious, and they could not be compared. He added that some might see murder as worse because of the loss of life.

"I would hate to try to put weight on one over the other," Ennis said. "It's an ethical question."

"We discussed it at length," he said in reference to Boardman. "I think it's a shame that somebody would complain about receiving money for doing a good deed."

Ennis added that in the three years that he had been with Crime Stoppers, Boardman had been the only person to complain.

Ennis said the reason Crime Stoppers used Boardman's tip for publicity in a fund-raising attempt was to try to highlight the most recent and biggest cases.

"We are trying to get people to see that we have a viable program," he said. He said he did not know what would happen with Boardman's efforts to supplement the reward money he had already received.

"It's awful strange that someone would complain about this," Ennis said.

from page 1

BCC

from page 1

McCormick, reached at home Tuesday night, said he had not heard about the advisory board's demand.

"I'm surprised and chagrined," McCormick said. "I had believed on the basis of (Monday's) meeting that I would get a phone call tonight or tomorrow telling me when I could meet with members of the advisory board."

"This is extremely disappointing. I thought previous statements had made it clear that Ms. Crawford's job is not in jeopardy."

But Merchant said McCormick knew Monday that formal talks would not begin until an official statement was made regarding Crawford.

"I have made this clear to the provost," she said. "He knew this Monday."

Merchant said the demand did not mean the BCC Advisory Board was not going to back out of the agreement, just that the start of talks would be delayed.

"That is not to say we will not be proceeding with plans," she said.

Boulton, reached at home Tuesday night, said he had not heard about the demand that he make a statement. Boulton said he already had made his statement of support regarding the BCC director.

"This is the first I've heard of this (demand)," Boulton said. "The record shows I've already spoken on that."

"If you ask me, this is all kind of off-the-wall."

On Friday, Crawford and other coalition leaders told members of the press that a memo written by journalism Professor Chuck Stone detailing a heated conversation he had had with Crawford and four others was a sign that several faculty members were trying to have the BCC director fired.

At the time, Boulton told members of the press that he was pleased with the job Crawford was doing.

During the Monday meeting, members of the Black Awareness Council said that while they would rescind the Nov. 13 deadline they had given Hardin to pledge his support for a new center and designate a sign, the administration still must stop alleged threats that had been made against Crawford.

Corrections

In the Oct. 19 Daily Tar Heel Homecoming article "Eight women qualify for Homecoming Court," Elizabeth Pierie's name was misspelled.

In the Oct. 19 DTH Homecoming article "Variety-filled week to culminate at Kenan," Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity should have been identified as one of the co-sponsors of the Thursday night step show.

The DTH regrets the errors.

Grad

search or a teaching assistantship."

Rodriguez added that students should see their advisers for advice.

"The Health Professions Advising Office was of great help to me," she said. "Students needing additional information should go there."

David Lowery, chairman of the political science department, said students should not allow alternative prospects affect their decisions. "Do you really have a passion for scholarship? And if you do, then you should consider graduate school," he said.

Donna Redford, administration assistant of the political science department, said 187 applications were submitted in the fall of 1988 for graduate work in political science. The number of applications submitted for the fall term of 1992 was 379, an increase of more than 100 percent in the past four years.

At UNC, the application number had leveled off at between 150 and 170 several years ago.

But applications for the fall term of 1992 numbered more than 500, an increase of more than 300 percent, Griffin said.

from page 1

Campus Calendar

WEDNESDAY

11 a.m. Zeta Phi Beta Sorority will sell Halloween-ograms in the Pit until 2 p.m.

NOON: Black Faculty/Staff Caucus will sponsor a "Community Forum" featuring Richard McCormick, who will speak to academic matters of concern to the African-American Community of UNC on the second floor of the Union.

12:30 p.m. Minority Career Fair, sponsored by UCS, will be held until 5 p.m. in Great Hall.

3 p.m. University Career Services will offer basic information on how to use the UCS office for senior and graduate students in 209 Manning.

4 p.m. Sociology Club will welcome William Small of the School of Public Health to speak in 517 Hamilton.

Political Science Honors Program will hold an informational meeting for juniors in 355 Hamilton.

Study Abroad Office will hold an informational meeting concerning the honors semester to the London School of Economics in the basement of Caldwell.

5 p.m. UNC Hillel will meet at the Old Well to go to dinner on Franklin Street.

AIESEC will hold a general members meeting in the Union. Check the front desk for room.

UNC Vegetarian Club will provide a free meal across the street from the Franklin Street Post Office. Bring your own utensils if possible.

5:30 p.m. Newman Center will have a program on the Role of Mary in the Church given by Connie Eble after dinner.

6 p.m. American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee will meet in 213 Union.

7 p.m. Zeta Phi Beta Sorority and Residents Assistants from Morrison and Hinton James will hold an open forum on sexuality in Hinton James' first floor lounge.

Student Peace Initiative will have a general meeting in 218 Union.

Big Buddies will have a mandatory educational program in 209 Manning.

UNC Student-led New Alliance Party will hold its weekly meeting at the NC Lenori B. Fulani For President campaign headquarters in Durham. Carpool/directions: 490-5253.

CUAB will present "Message Away Your Stress," part II of the stress management, reduction and relief series in 209 Union.

7:30 p.m. UNC-CHAPS will meet in the Union; Check the Union Board for room.

CUAB will present "Lorenzo: Poems of D.H. Lawrence," a reading by John Dougall in the Cabaret.

8 p.m. Health Science House will tour the Gross Anatomy Lab. All interested students should meet on the second floor of Carmichael.

Muslim Students' Association will present a lecture entitled: "Misconceptions about Women in Islam" in 224 Union.

Rainforest Action Group of SEAC will discuss GATT in the Union.

CAA will present Comedy Night in the Union Film Auditorium.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

CUAB-Salty Slug Productions will present the UNC Juggling Club today in the Pit.

Seniors! Senior block tickets for the Thursday step show will be on sale today in the Pit.

Rainforest Action Group of SEAC will have a table for World Rainforest Week until Friday in the Pit.

UPCOMING

UNC Young Democrats will sponsor Rock the Hill for Bill, a benefit featuring Archers of Loaf, the Secret, Pipe and F at 9:30 p.m. Thursday at the Cat's Cradle. Tickets are $5 and are available at SchoolKids.

Basic Science	Applied Sciences	Engineering
---------------	------------------	-------------

The 1992 Hanes-Willis Lectures

Arranged By The Curriculum in Applied Sciences
College of Arts and Sciences
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Professor David A. Tirrell
Department of Polymer Science and Engineering
University of Massachusetts

POLYMERS: A MEETING PLACE FOR MATERIALS AND BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES
The Emerging Science of Biomolecular Materials
Thursday, October 22 at 4:00 PM

Genetic Engineering of Crystals, Films and Surfaces. Part I. Biological Issues
Friday, October 23 at 4:00 PM

Genetic Engineering of Crystals, Films and Surfaces. Part II. Materials Issues
Monday, October 26 at 12:00 PM

Macromolecular Signaling Processes in Synthetic Bilayer Membranes
Tuesday, October 27 at 4:00 PM

All Lectures in Venable Hall, Room 308

Vote YES for Education

Support the Public School Bond on November 3rd

Chapel Hill/Carrboro School District...the fastest growing school district in the state!

Paid for by the Committee to Support the School Bond
Political Advertisement

Be Your Own Boss

Donate Plasma!

Financially rewarding! You can earn $28 (regular donor) or $33 (Buddy Plan donor) a week!

SERA-TEC BIOLOGICALS

109 1/2 E. FRANKLIN ST. ■ 942-0251

OPEN HOUSE

Fidelity Investments® Has Arrived On Your Home Court

Open House Thursday, October 22! 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

2200 West Main Street
Erwin Square, Durham

Please stop in, meet our staff, and take home a FREE Retirement Planning Kit that shows you how Fidelity can help you reach your long-term retirement goals.

Visit our new Raleigh/Durham Investor Center today and discover:

- Information on Fidelity's wide array of investment choices designed to meet your financial needs.
- A team of qualified Investment and Retirement Representatives available to answer your questions.
- Free investment seminar series.
- A comprehensive investor library provided to help you make informed investment decisions.
- Retirement plan information for employees of North Carolina State University, University of North Carolina and UNC Hospitals.

Call now for more information:
919-286-4006 ask for Gary Corderman
OR
1-800-343-6608 ask for Donna Seymour

Fidelity Investments Tax-Exempt Services Company, a division of Fidelity Investments Institutional Services Company, Inc. Fidelity Distributors Corporation. General Distribution Age 21 or over 50 funds.

ZERO PROOF DAY THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1992

FACULTY, STAFF & STUDENTS

Make A Pledge To Abstain From Using Any Form Of Alcoholic Drink Or Illicit Drug For 24 Hours.

I pledge not to drink any Alcoholic Drinks or use any Illicit Drugs for a period of 24 hours on October 22, 1992.

Signature

Return to Bill Riddick, Health Education Dept., CB #7470, Student Health Service.