Police charge two in assaults

By Dale Castle
Staff Writer

A Durham resident escaped two attempted stabbings Monday night on East Franklin Street without injury, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Steve Leistriz and Vernon Myers, both of 711 Edwards St., Chapel Hill, were arrested and charged with assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the incidents, police reports stated.

Eddie Oaks reported at 8:15 p.m. being threatened with a knife on the 100 block of East Franklin Street, reports stated.

Myers was arrested and charged at 8:29 p.m., reports stated. He was placed under a $200 secured bond and taken to Orange County Jail, reports stated.

Later Monday night, University Police Lt. Danny Caldwell was waiting for his dinner at Miami Subs on East Franklin Street when someone got his attention, Caldwell said.

Caldwell looked outside and saw an intoxicated man swinging a knife at another man who was unarmed, he said.

When Caldwell went outside the restaurant to help the unarmed man, the man with the knife took a step toward Caldwell, he said.

"I asked the guy to put the knife down," Caldwell said. "He wouldn't, so I drew (my gun) and told him to drop it." About three or four seconds later, the man put the knife down and lay down in the street, Caldwell said.

Caldwell radioed for assistance, and about six or seven officers arrived in minutes, Caldwell said.

Leistriz was arrested at 9:46 p.m., placed under a $200 secured bond and taken to Orange County Jail, according to police reports.

Chapel Hill Capt. Barry Thompson said Oaks knew both of the assailants and that they did have disagreements.

Myers and Leistriz will appear in Chapel Hill District Court Dec. 17, according to police reports.

Forum

Chapel Hill resident James McHenry asked the panel: "How do you rely so heavily and glibly on state requirements (for school standards)? Is it a requirement or a suggestion?"

Neil Pedersen, superintendent of Chapel Hill-Carboro schools, replied that at one time school standards were mandated but that now they were seen as recommendations.

"I would think that in Chapel Hill, the number one school district in the state, we would not want to build schools that were below state standards," Pedersen added.

Bushnell said, "The bricks and mortar don't perhaps figure in the teaching, but they directly figure into what the teaching can incur."

Sherria Reid, a teacher at Chapel Hill High School, said there was not enough room at the school for the children and the furniture.

"Your children are crowded into classrooms where there is no elbowroom," Reid said.

"I could teach in a tent. I could teach with a slate board. But why should I have to?"

Reid compared the present educational facilities to state prisons in structure and atmosphere, adding that it was not an environment conducive to teaching.

"Think about it not in terms of cost, but think about it in terms of what it is going to cost the children if we don't pass this bond referendum," Reid said.

Chapel Hill resident Johnnie Peace, who also is an applicant for the vacant seat on the Chapel Hill Town Council, asked the panel, "Am I getting my money's worth?"

Ralph Warren, the chair of the Orange County Board of Education, said, "We intend to deliver more for the money."

law made by the Court of Appeals and the significant impact the Court of Appeals decision will have on the public and the jurisprudence of this State."

Parker, who currently is vacationing in Paris, was unavailable for comment.

The Supreme Court also approved Parker's request for a stay in the case, which prohibits any ruling by the SPC until after the Supreme Court makes its ruling, McSurely said.

It should take about a month for the state Supreme Court to decide whether to hear the case. Edwards and McSurely have said that a decision in Edwards' favor could result in her being promoted.
