

The Chapel Hill Weekly

Vol. 13, No. 12

LOUIS GRAVES
Editor

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, JULY 5, 1935

$1.50 a Year in Advance. 5c a Copy

County Provides Free Inoculation Against Typhoid

First Clinic in Hillsboro Tomorrow; One Is Scheduled Here Next Wednesday

PROCLAMATION SENT OUT

Free inoculation against typhoid for everybody in Orange county who needs it—which means everybody who has not received the treatment in the last three years—is announced by Dr. G. H. Sumner of the United States Health Service, who is now Acting Health Officer for the county.

The first clinic will be held tomorrow (Saturday) in Hillsboro; for white people from 9 to 12:30 in the courthouse in the morning, for Negroes from 1:30 to 2:30 at the school in the afternoon. The first clinic in Chapel Hill is scheduled for next Wednesday, the 10th, at the white school from 9:30 to 1, at the Negro school from 2 to 4.

The proclamation of the campaign against typhoid has been printed on placards which are being posted all over the county.

"Inoculation with typhoid fever vaccine," says this proclamation, signed by Dr. Sumner, "has been one of the major factors in reducing the number of deaths and cases in our state. Take it—your neighbor may be careless. Three treatments of typhoid fever vaccine are necessary. It is harmless—practically a certain preventive and almost painless. Remember your

(Continued on last page)

Three Students Killed

And a Fourth Injured, in an Automobile Accident on Durham Road

Three students in the University summer session were killed and a fourth was seriously injured late Wednesday afternoon when the light coach in which they were riding at high speed got out of control near the Glenridge filling station about six miles from Chapel Hill on the Durham road.

T. A. Fulghum, Jr., of Danville, Va., Miss Frances Dancy McGraw of Fitzgerald, Ga., and Sam S. Hermon of West Chester, Pa., were killed. Miss Grayce Peele of Rich Square, N. C., had her collar-bones and several ribs broken and was badly lacerated. Now in a hospital in Durham, she is expected to recover.

Fulghum had a deformed right arm and was driving with his left arm.

The automobile, coming toward Chapel Hill, apparently got out of control about 115 yards east of the filling station, and after going about 80 yards on its wheels began to roll over and over. Miss McGraw died in a few minutes, Fulghum on the way to the hospital, and Hermon about half past eight o'clock in the hospital.

Mrs. Felix Riggsbee, an attendant at the filling station, and a passerby put the four students into an automobile and took them to the hospital.

The McCorkles' Recital

Mr. and Mrs. T. Smith McCorkle will give a violin and piano recital at 8:30 Sunday evening in the Hill Music hall, their only performance in Chapel Hill this summer. There will be no admission charge, and the public is cordially invited. Mr. and Mrs. McCorkle returned recently from a year's leave of absence.

Josephus Daniels above the Clouds

When I read that the floods had prevented Ambassador Josephus Daniels from completing his trip to Mexico City by train, and that he had taken a plane at the border, I wrote and asked him to write me a letter about the flight. This is his reply.—L.G.

You ask me to write you about my flight to Mexico City. You say that "no matter how much I hear and read about aviation it never ceases to be a romance to me." You express my feeling exactly.

Though I have been flying now and then since May 1913, I never go up in a plane without a thrill or read about aviators making new records without a feeling that there is something akin to the miraculous about a man invading what was once the undisputed realm of the bird.

Before writing about my flight at an altitude of 15,000 feet to reach Mexico City, let me relate the feeling among my associates when I flew over the Severn river in May 1913. I had not planned a flight, but when I was in Annapolis it was suggested that I visit the small aviation base at that Navy centre. Upon my arrival Commander Towers, one of the first and best of navy aviators, suggested that he would like to be my pilot in a flight over the Naval Academy. I had seen it from land and sea. Why not inspect it from the air? It was a warm day, but it was necessary to borrow an overcoat, for the simple planes of that day had no protection from the coolness of the upper air. We went up something over 1,000 feet and came down safely on the waters of the Severn river. "Look, look in the sky," said

(Continued on page two)

Summer Session Bulletin

FRIDAY, JULY 5

10 A. M.—Dr. Frank Misner, "Curriculum Construction," 103 Bingham. Secondary Education Conference.
12 M.—Professor H. W. Crane, "The Teacher as a Mental Hygiene Factor," 103 Bingham. S. E. C.
4 P. M.—Dean F. F. Bradshaw, leader of discussion work up to present, 103 Bingham. Higher Education Conference.
7:15 P. M.—Vesper Service at the Davie Poplar.
9 P. M.—Co-ed dance, Bynum Gymnasium.

SATURDAY, JULY 6

9 P. M.—Dance, Bynum Gymnasium.

SUNDAY, JULY 7

8:30 P. M.—Violin and piano recital, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. McCorkle, Hill Music hall.

MONDAY, JULY 8

4 P. M.—Dean F. F. Bradshaw, "Why Have Guidance for College Students?" 103 Bingham hall. H. E. C.
7:15 P. M.—Vesper Service at the Davie Poplar.

TUESDAY, JULY 9

10 A. M.—Dr. E. T. McSwain, "The Elementary School Curriculum," 103 Bingham hall. S. E. C.
4 P. M.—Dean F. F. Bradshaw, "Minimum Essentials in Guidance at the College Level," 103 Bingham hall. H. E. C.
7:15 P. M.—Vesper Service at the Davie Poplar.
8:30 P. M.—Rabbi Sidney Regner, Reading, Pa., Hill Music hall.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 10

10 A. M.—Dean F. F. Bradshaw, "Minimum Essentials in Guidance," 103 Bingham hall. S. E. C.
4 P. M.—A. W. Hobbs, "Educational Aims in the Undergraduate College," 103 Bingham hall. H. E. C.
7:15 P. M.—Vesper Service at the Davie Poplar.
8:30 P. M.—Rabbi Sidney Regner, Reading, Pa., Hill Music hall.

THURSDAY, JULY 11

10 A. M.—Dean A. W. Hobbs, "Education Aims for the Public Schools," 103 Bingham hall. S. E. C.
12 M.—Dean D. D. Carroll, "Recent Economic Developments and Their Effect upon Education," 103 Bingham hall. S. E. C.
4 P. M.—A. W. Hobbs, "Educational Aims in the Undergraduate College," 103 Bingham hall. H. E. C.
7:15 P. M.—Vesper Service at the Davie Poplar.

FRIDAY, JULY 12

10 A. M.—A. R. Newsome, "Federal Aid for Education," 103 Bingham hall. S. E. C.
12 M.—D. D. Carroll, "Recent Economic Developments and Their Effects upon Education," 103 Bingham hall. S. E. C.
4 P. M.—Miss Geneva Drinkwater, "The Extra-Curricula Program," 103 Bingham hall. H. E. C.
7:15 P. M.—Vesper Service at the Davie Poplar.
9 P. M.—Dance, Bynum Gymnasium.

Meetings Called Off

Upon the advice of Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer, no further public gatherings attended by people from other communities will be held at the University or in Chapel Hill until the end of the infantile paralysis epidemic.

The North Carolina Rural Letter Carriers Association changed the place of its annual convention this week from Chapel Hill to Charlotte.

E. R. Groves' course in teaching marriage and the family, and the annual meeting of the North Carolina superintendents of public welfare, scheduled for next week, may be held during the second term of the summer session. The state conference on adult education may meet here later in the summer.

The art institute for teachers and amateur artists, July 19 to 20, will probably be held but will be limited to local people.

The North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs had planned for the latter part of this month a two-day institute which cannot now be held.

Mrs. Harvey Bennett was in Dunn with relatives this week.

Conference Speakers

Higher Education Conference guest lecturers during the past week included Dean Paul C. Packer of the State University of Iowa and President James L. Meader of Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y.

Lecturers for the next two weeks will include Harry Carman of Columbia University and Miss Mathilde Parlett of Hendrix College, Conway, Ark. Mr. Carman will give lectures July 15 and 16 on "Survey and Orientation Courses in the Colleges" and "Honors Courses in the Colleges." Miss Parlett will describe the Hendrix College plan July 19.

Among the members of the University faculty who will participate in the conference are W. W. Pierson, F. F. Bradshaw, A. W. Hobbs, D. D. Carroll, Miss Geneva Drinkwater of the Woman's College, J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the General Alumni Association, and Felix A. Grisette, director of the Alumni Loyalty Fund.

Summer Coal Prices

The University Consolidated Service Plants has announced its schedule of reduced coal prices for the summer.

Chapel Hill Chaff

Chapel Hill is a heaven for rabbits. Not only because of the great area of yards and gardens and vacant lots, and the excellent hiding places in underbrush and shrubbery, but also because of the indulgence of the population.

Often I reflect upon the change that has come about in the feeling toward animals, specially birds and rabbits, since I was a boy here. It was the usual thing then for boys to go out and rob birds' nests, and a collection of bird eggs was to be found in almost every home; and a rabbit was something to be shot at whenever it came into view. In these days children are brought up to be friendly to wild life, and grown people of the more civilized sort have been educated out of the savagery that was once part of their nature—at least to the degree that they do not kill wantonly. Nor-dics and Latins and Slavs are still more brutal to dumb creatures than Hindus, but they are less brutal than they used to be.

Hardly ever do I go out of the house that I do not see a rabbit scampering across the yard or along the stone wall, and they are frequently seen in the middle of the street. Automobilists slow down to let them get out of the way. Now and then a boy or girl is thrilled by the discovery of a nest of baby rabbits, under a bush or in a thicket. Not long ago my young neighbor, Dan Hamilton, came upon one of these infants in the open. It had evidently been lost, and Dan took it home and cared for it. When I saw it, it was sucking milk through a nipple.

Our Scotch terrier passes a

(Continued on last page)

Fishing Ends Tomorrow

After two weeks of what village fishing enthusiasts are unanimous in describing as fine sport, the preliminary fishing season in the University lake will close tomorrow (Saturday) night.

Mrs. Jo Sparrow and Judge C. P. Hinshaw landed the largest fish of the week, bass weighing 3 1/4 and 3 1/2 pounds, and T. E. Best caught the bag limit twice. It is estimated that over 100 fishermen have tried their luck during the two-weeks period. The largest catches have been made in the shallow water at the mouths of the tributary creeks. J. S. Bennett, head of the University Consolidated Service Plants, says that more bass, crappie, and perch from federal and state hatcheries will be put in the lake this month or next. It has not yet been sufficiently stocked to be opened permanently for fishing, but it will be ready either this fall or in June of next year.

Salient Facts about the Plan to Put New School Buildings in Orange County

Estimated cost of entire project, covering construction in Chapel Hill, Hillsboro, and Carrboro (including $30,000 for land and $30,000 for furniture)	$471,000
Outright grant from Government, under latest standard P.W.A. plan (45% of whole)	$212,000
To be provided by county (55% of whole; may be obtained through 30-year, 4% Government loan)	$259,000
Approximate amount county will have to include in annual budget to cover interest and installment on principal	$14,000
County's present tax rate (per $100 of assessed valuations)	78 cts.
Increase in tax rate required to provide $14,000, based on county's present tax valuations of $13,723,353	10.2 cts.
Cost of proposed schools in Chapel Hill	$234,500
Cost of proposed schools in Hillsboro	$213,000
Cost of proposed addition to Carrboro school	$4,500
Approximate cost of architects' and engineers' services, and miscellaneous items, which bring entire cost to $471,000	$19,000
County's present net bonded debt (gross $664,500, less $149,000 in sinking funds)	$515,000

School Buildings Costing $234,500 May Be Erected Here with Government Aid

Bosts' Costly Absences

Being absent from the Carolina theatre on Friday evenings recently, when cash prizes were given, was costly to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Bost.

About a month ago the drawing of Mr. Bost's ticket from the box entitled him to $45. His name was called first inside the theatre and then on the sidewalk at the entrance. The rule is that unless the holder of the lucky number is present to answer the call he gets nothing, and the week's prize is added to the next week's. Mr. Bost was in Eubanks' drugstore, close by yet far enough away to be out of hearing.

Last Friday Mrs. Bost's number was drawn. If she had been there she would have got $40—but she wasn't there. The $40 is held over, and tonight the person who is lucky enough to hold the number drawn from the box, if also lucky enough to be present, will receive $60.

Applications to P.W.A.

Applications filed at state P.W.A. headquarters by county and municipal governments call for permanent improvements the estimated cost of which is about $300,000.

Under the plan recently announced in Washington, the Government will contribute 45 per cent of the cost of an approved project, and the local government 55 per cent; the 55 per cent may be obtained through a 4 per cent loan from the Government.

The applicants are Watauga county (schools, $165,000); town of Jackson (water-sewer systems, $100,000); town of Fuquay Springs (waterworks, $81,000); town of Angier (water-sewer systems, $87,000); town of Pittsboro (water-sewer systems, $60,000); town of Mars Hill (sewage disposal plant, $73,000); town of Stoneville (water-sewer systems, $72,500); Cabarrus county (schools, $76,000); Orange county (schools, $471,000); town of Siler City (water supply system, $58,000); town of Mebane (auditorium, gymnasium, and market, $17,000); city of Burlington (two tobacco warehouses and curb markets, $46,000).

Coker on Research Council

R. E. Coker, professor of zoology in the University, has been appointed by the National Academy of Science to the National Research Council, in the division of biology and agriculture, for a term of three years.

Proposal to P.W.A. Calls for Total Outlay of $471,000 in County of Orange

2 SCHOOLS FOR HILLSBORO

If the application presented this week to the Federal Public Works Administration by the board of commissioners of Orange county is approved, Chapel Hill will have two new school buildings—one for white children costing $180,500 and one for Negro children costing $54,000.

The plans for the white school show the present building retained as the east wing, for the high school. A duplicate of it will be the west wing, for the elementary school. The central unit, with a colonnaded facade in the Grecian style, set back from the front line of the wings, will be the auditorium. This unit will be connected with the wings by covered corridors which form, architecturally and for practical purposes, integral parts of the whole structure.

The west wing and the greater part of the auditorium will stand on the lot where the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity house (the former Hume house) now stands.

A rear addition to the present building, new floors, and an addition to the gymnasium are embraced in the plans.

The application presented by the county calls also for white and Negro school buildings in Hillsboro (both together to cost $213,000) and a two-room addition to the Carrboro school

(Continued on last page)

Play in Kenan Stadium

Playmakers to Appear in "Iphigenia in Tauris" Tuesday, July 16

The Carolina Playmakers will present Euripides' "Iphigenia in Tauris" Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, July 16 and 17, in the Kenan stadium under the direction of Harry Davis. The text will be the Gilbert Murray translation.

This will be the Playmakers' third performance of a Greek drama in the stadium. The first was "Agamemnon" by Aeschylus and the second "Alcestis" by Euripides.

Marion Tatum will appear as Iphigenia, daughter of Agamemnon by Clytemnestra and priestess of Artemis in Tauris. Urban T. Holmes has the role of Thoas, king of the barbaric Taurians, and the chorus will be led by a Greek girl, Athena Campourakis. Other members of the cast are Richard Waiser (Orestes), Fred Howard (Py-lades), Kenneth Bartlett (a herdsman), Lawrence Cheek (a messenger), and Josephine Nig-gli (the goddess, Pallas Athene).

Phoebe Barr will direct the dances, and Thomas Teer will play the piano accompaniment. The costumes were designed by Ora Mae Davis with the assistance of students, and the lighting and setting by John Walker. "Iphigenia in Tauris," the scene of which is a temple of Artemis on the desolate shores of the Black Sea, was first performed about 412 B.C.

The Henningers have moved into one of the Warren cottages. Mrs. Henninger returned to the village last week from Wychville, Va.