

Big Plans for Dairy Events Described by Robert Todd

A big kick-off breakfast and a gala Dairy Farm Festival Day will be the highlights of the annual June Dairy Month celebration in the Chapel Hill - Carrboro area, according to Robert Todd, local chairman of the Dairy Month Committee. The breakfast will be on June 6, probably at the Carolina Inn, and the Dairy Farm Festival Day will be June 10.

Plans for these and other events of the month-long celebration were discussed at a meeting of the Promotions Committee of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association Friday morning and at a meeting of the entire Association last night. Work has already started on some of the projects for the Dairy Farm Festival Day, which will bring many of the county's dairy farmers to Chapel Hill and Carrboro.

The annual Dairy Month breakfast is under the direction of George Cline, manager of Dairyland Farms. The breakfast will be made up of dairy products and will be attended by merchants, civic leaders, and town and University officials. There will be a speaker, and door prizes will be given.

The Dairy Farm Festival Day will include a big parade, a milking contest, decoration of windows with the Dairy Month theme, a display of registered cattle, and the selection of a Dairy Queen. Ralph Howard and Bill Alexander are in charge of preparations for the Festival Day.

Invitations will be sent out to most of the dairy farmers in this area inviting them to attend the Dairy Farm Festival Day. Included in the letters will be information of the dairy industry and free theatre tickets. Also some of the merchants will mail enclosures on Dairy Month with their statements for May.

William Alexander Probable Alderman

At its meeting last night the Board of Aldermen was scheduled to choose a new member to replace Rogers Wade, who resigned last week because he had not been a qualified candidate when elected to the board on May 3. It was practically certain that the Aldermen would select William Alexander, who placed fourth in the contest for the three vacant seats.

Just before press time yesterday (Monday) afternoon Mayor O. K. Cornwell said, "I have every reason to believe that Mr. Alexander will be our new Alderman." However, the final decision was up to the Board. The vacancy could be filled as the Aldermen saw fit and not automatically by the next highest candidate.

Mr. Wade was ineligible for the office because he was not a properly registered voter.

Chapel Hill High School Wins Conference Baseball Title

The Chapel Hill high school baseball team, above, won the District III Class AA championship last week for the fifth time in the seven years it has been coached by Bill Grice. The 1955 title, which puts the Wildcats in the regional play-offs against Roanoke Rapids, is a going-away present to Coach Grice, who is leaving Chapel Hill to join the coaching staff of Oberlin College. Pictured are (l. to r., front row) Don Loomis, Jim Faust,

The Wildcats assured themselves of at least a tie for the conference title Thursday night when they beat Durham County, 11-6, in Durham. But it took a little help from Hillsboro to save them from playing a play-off game with Roxboro. Hillsboro defeated Roxboro Friday, 7-5, to give the Wildcats conference honors.

The first game in the regional play-offs with Roanoke Rapids will be played tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock on Emerson field. The second game of the series will be played Friday in Roanoke Rapids, and if a third game is needed it will also be played in Roanoke Rapids. Should Chapel Hill win the regional play-offs, it will compete for the Eastern championship and the winners of that series will compete for the state championship during the second week in June.

In the game with Durham County last Thursday night, the Wildcats were two runs behind going into the last inning. They got two men on base, but there were two men out and a 3-2 count on the batter. However, he singled, scoring the two men on base and causing the game to go into an extra inning. Then in their half of the eighth the Wildcats scored five runs to win the ball game, 11-6.

The win Thursday night gave the Wildcats a 10-2 conference record, and a 12-2 season record. Coach Grice said that much of the credit for the successful season has been the spirit of the team and the fans. In addition, he said, "we have just been hitting over .300, and we have also had some good pitching."

In the games with Roanoke Rapids this week Coach Grice is planning to start Gordon Neville on the mound for the first game. Phil Rigdon will start the second game, and Dan Fowler, who has a 4-0 pitching record, will be used in the third game should it be necessary to play one. Coach Grice will be counting on heavy hitters like Dan Carroll, Archie Dollar, Clyde Campbell, Hayward Pendergrass and Harold Williams in the series.

However, the Wildcats will be playing without the service of third baseman Tommy Goodrich and second baseman Eddie Clark. Clark has been out for several weeks, and Goodrich broke his hand last Friday.

The winning of district honors is not new to Coach Grice. His first year as coach here found his teams winning conference championships in football, basketball and baseball. Since then his teams have won several other district titles and have advanced in the playoffs.

Chapel Hill Chaff

L. G.

I have known many persons afflicted with arthritis and have heard them tell of the various drugs and kinds of treatment they have tried in the effort to get rid of it. It is the most mysterious malady I have ever heard of, by which I mean that I have never heard of any other that the medical profession seems so helpless to do anything about.

When I met Roulhac Hamilton on one of my five-minute-before-midnight visits to the post office last week I asked him: "How's your arthritis?"

"I'm not having any trouble with arthritis now," he said. "My trouble now is with my feet. Not enough circulation in them." I asked him what caused that and he answered: "Tobacco. Too much smoking."

It appears—this may be widely known, but it was unknown to me before this conversation with Mr. Hamilton—that tobacco shrinks the blood vessels. If they shrink a little, not enough blood gets to the feet. If they shrink a lot, not enough gets to the legs. If this happens, and the shrinkage is severe, one leg or both legs may have to be cut off. The cheerful look on Mr. Hamilton's face when he told me this indicated that he felt sure he would be able to keep his blood vessels from shrinking to that extent. He said he had noticed an improvement since he quit inhaling.

"How many cigarettes do you smoke in a day?" I asked him. He smiled and said: "God knows." He rolls his own cigarettes, a practice that has pretty nearly gone out of existence.

Tobacco's entrance into the conversation had sidetracked me from my questioning about arthritis. When I asked Mr. Hamilton (Continued on page 4)

Industrial Committee Is to Meet Tonight for Discussion Of Best Methods of Drawing New Businesses to Community

The Chapel Hill-Carrboro Industrial Committee will meet at 7:30 tonight (Tuesday) in the Merchants Association's office on North Columbia street to try to make some definite decisions in regard to its endeavor to attract industry to this area. Members of the County Board of Commissioners, the Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen, the Carrboro Board of Commissioners, and the University's service department have been invited to attend. The object of the meeting is "to get something concrete as to where we are going," according to Raymond Andrews, chairman of the committee. It is hoped that some important decisions, including those on water and sewer service, will be made so that the committee can tell an electronics industry which is said to be interested in this area just what Chapel Hill-Carrboro has to offer.

The water problem will be one of the chief topics at tonight's meeting. The University owns and operates the community's water system, which would be called on to supply industries coming here. Sewage disposal facilities for new industry here will also be discussed. Clarified information on these services will go into a booklet which will also include information on local education facilities, hospitals, churches, housing facilities, population figures, and tax rates.

It was rumored last week that the industry interested in this community had chosen a site near Raleigh. This has not been authenticated, and it is felt that Chapel Hill-Carrboro still has a chance if it can submit positive information about its qualifications.

It is reported that the firm interested in this area would build a plant employing about 700 people. According to a report from the Chamber of Commerce (Continued on page 4)

McCallisters Will Pass Winters Here

In sending in his renewal check, Mr. Ralph McCallister of Chataqua, N. Y., writes: "We shall be here until September and then move to Chapel Hill, where we expect to make our home for about eight months of each year between our regular period at Chataqua. We recently had a scouting trip through the Southeast, including Florida, and must say no community pleased us as much as Chapel Hill."

The McCallisters lived here during the winter of 1952-53 in the Preston Farrar home on Laurel Hill road. Mr. McCallister is program and education director at the annual Chataqua assembly held every July and August at Chataqua.

Arrangements Being Made for National Collegiate Tennis Championships Here

Invitations to the national collegiate tennis championships, to be held here June 20 to 25, have been mailed by the University to more than 400 institutions. All schools affiliated with the National Collegiate Athletic Association are eligible to have representatives in the tournament, but they are requested to enter only players who have won a majority of their matches. This assures an all-over class field. Usually between 80 and 100 players from institutions in all sections of the country compete.

Hamilton Richardson of Tulane has already advised that he will be unable to defend his singles title as he will be playing in the Wimbledon championships. The singles will be wide open.

A team champion is determined on a point basis. The University of California at Los Angeles won this title last year and retired the Penick Bowl. The Ackerman Bowl is being put into competition by UCLA to replace the Penick Bowl and will be awarded for the first time this year.

The draw will be made Saturday, June 18, with first round matches scheduled Monday. Consolation matches will be played and all finals will be run off on Saturday, June 25.

Coach John Kenfield of the UNC team, a member of the NCAA tennis committee, will have charge of local arrangements. The tournament will be run by the tennis committee, of which Paul Bennett of Northwestern University is chairman.

Other members, along with Mr. Kenfield, are William Ackerman of UCLA; Norman B. Bramall, Haverford College; D. A. Penick, University of Texas, and Harry J. Schmidt, Iowa State College.

A local championships committee consists of C. F. Erickson, chairman; Dr. Henry Clark, W. D. Carmichael, Jr., H. S. McGinty, Dr. W. P. Jacobs, Caesar Cone, and Spencer Love.

Finals Planned by Creative Workshop

The Creative Arts Workshop, a school of creative drama, art, and eurythmics for children, will have its closing exercises at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, May 26, at the Hill House of Cameron avenue.

"In these exercises," an announcement says, "the children from all the classes will have a chance to work with each other in spontaneous situations based on the work they have been doing this year, using the media of drama, painting, and rhythm."

"Mrs. Both Okun, in eurythmics; Mrs. Dorothy Jenner, in art, and Mrs. Marian Rosenzweig, drama, will work with the children, as they have done in class work, integrating these three major expressions of creativity."

Mrs. Rosenzweig is the director of the school.
