

Carl Smith to Head Parking Concern Here

The Chapel Hill Parking Assn. Inc. was organized Wednesday to conduct an off-street parking business for the benefit of East Franklin street merchants.

Carl Smith was elected president by the board of directors. Other officers named were Bill Sloan, vice president; Miss Beppie Branson, secretary; and H. D. Bennett, treasurer.

Directors, elected earlier by the stockholders, of which 17 were present included Smith, Sloan, Miss Branson, Bennett, Vic Huggins, Bob Cox and Joe Robbins.

A concerted campaign for stock subscriptions to finance the acquisition of property for parking will get underway immediately.

Herb Wentworth, chairman of a steering committee named several weeks ago by interested merchants, presided until Emery Denny Jr. was elected temporary chairman.

Details of the operation of the association were left to the directors.

New P.O. Truck

The Post Office has added a fourth truck to its mail-delivering fleet in Chapel Hill. Postmaster Paul Cheek announced this week that the new red-white-and-blue vehicle went into service on Sept. 1. It makes the third truck out of the four that is painted in the bright colors.

Roy Teague Birdies Play-Off Hole to Defeat Archie Meekins in Jaycees' Annual Golf Tourney

Roy Teague calmly collected a birdie 3 on the 37th hole at Finley golf course Monday afternoon to defeat Archie Meekins in a one-hole playoff for the second annual Chapel Hill Amateur Golf Championships crown. Mr. Meekins bogied the hole with a 5.

A field of 62 people participated in the 36-hole tournament on a wet course. The event was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Both Mr. Teague and Mr. Meekins finished their 36 holes with 148. Five minutes after they reached the clubhouse, they drove off the number one tee for the quick death playoff.

From the tee, Mr. Meekins drove with a slight slice, putting his ball 225 yards down the fairway. Mr. Teague slammed a

Jeff Thomas Athletic Trophy Fund Half Subscribed; Campaign Will Be Resumed

Progress of the campaign to establish an athletic trophy to honor Jeff Thomas, long-time Chapel Hill sports fan who is ailing in Durham, is slow, but backers of the move hope to strike for their goal within the next month.

A spokesman for the group said yesterday that a goal of at least $100 had been set, "but we don't want to collect too much." Almost half the amount has already been raised.

"Contributions which have been received so far have not yet been acknowledged," the spokesman said, "but they will be within the next month. We plan to send out letters to persons we think would be interested in contributing, and we will ask the sports editors of the state newspapers to let their readers know what we are doing so they can help out."

Contributions may be turned in to Pritchard and Little Motor Company, or mailed to Box 1058. Maximum donation being sought is $5.

Mr. Thomas, for whom the trophy will be named, for years ran the Campus Confectionery on East Franklin street. The business is better known by the name of "Jeff's."

Rainfall in August Was Above Normal

You say you got your feet wet during August? Its no wonder, because a total of 8.02 inches of rain—two and a half inches above the normal—splashed down on Chapel Hill last month.

"That's real heavy, but it's no record," Superintendent Max Saunders of the University Filtration Plant said yesterday. Mr. Saunders operates the local official weather station at the plant.

The average August rainfall for North Carolina, based on records maintained since 1887, is 5.53 inches. The year-round monthly average is a little less than four inches.

August rainfall for last year hit 4.73 inches as welcome precipitation ended the devastating summer drought. August of 1953, however, saw only 1.77 inches of rain. Another light year was 1951, with 1.64 inches.

Two recent years which topped 1955 for heavy August rainfall were 1952, when 9.85 inches fell, and 1949, when 9.07 inches hit the community.

Pot Luck Supper

All friends and members of the Glen Lennox Methodist Church are invited to bring their families to get acquainted at a pot luck fellowship supper to be held in the basement of the Glenwood School at 6 o'clock on Sunday evening. Each family should bring a covered dish and individual table service. Following the supper, the last evening worship service of the summer will be held. Regular morning services will begin at 11 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 18.

Circle Meets Monday

Circle No. 3 of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. Roddey Ligon Jr. on Powell street at 8 o'clock Monday night.

W. E. Thompson, executive vice-president of the Bank of Chapel Hill, turned 57 years old Wednesday, said that he felt like 80 but had only 70 candles on a birthday cake which his friends provided as a surprise at his daily coffee break. On hand to congratulate him were: J. S. Henninger, and Bill Poe. For details see "I Like Chapel Hill" in Tuesday's Weekly.

Schools Offering Insurance Plan For Students

Parents of Chapel Hill school pupils again this year may purchase Scholastic Accident Insurance Policies for their children, but only if they meet a Sept. 14 deadline.

In a letter to parents, Superintendent of Schools C. W. Davis said benefits under the policies include up to $2,500 in medical payments. The premium per policy is $1.50 for a student or teacher.

"We consider this a good plan and feel that your money will be well spent," wrote Mr. Davis.

Children may be enrolled in the plan during the three-day period from Sept. 12 through 14. They will be given instruction sheets and envelopes to be taken home. The premium should be placed in the envelope and turned in to the home room teacher. Checks should be made payable to "Chapel Hill Schools."

If a child is not enrolled in the plan during the three-day period, he will not have another opportunity to purchase the insurance coverage.

Dance Saturday Night

A dance will be held at the Recreation Center in the old Methodist church here Saturday night from 8:30 to 11 p.m. Proceeds will be used to help pay for new uniforms for the Chapel Hill High School cheerleaders. It will be the first dance of the new school year, and refreshments will be served. Admission will be 25 cents for couples and 50 cents for stags.

Club Plans Picnic

The Chapel Hill Exchange club is now planning a picnic to be held at "Panther Lake" near Fuquay Springs Saturday afternoon, September 17. The lake belongs to Bill Poe and he has invited the club to use it for an outing. Arrangements are in charge of Charlie Stancell.

$1,414 Contributed For Flood Relief

Chapel Hillians contributed a total of $1,414.04 to the Red Cross' appeal for flood relief donations, chapter treasurer W. R. Cherry reported yesterday. Mr. Cherry said that one remittance already had been sent to national headquarters and that another representing the balance of the contributed funds would be dispatched immediately.

The Red Cross has announced that its $10,000,000 nationwide campaign goal has been met and that no further contributions are necessary. Chapel Hill exceeded its $400 goal by more than $1,000.

Alabama Dean Visits Here

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Moore of the University of Alabama are here visiting their daughter, Mrs. Joseph Kiger, and Mr. Kiger. Mr. Moore is dean of the graduate school of the University of Alabama and a good friend of Fletcher Green and W. W. Pierson.

Local Best Sellers

Aldous Huxley's new novel, "The Genius and The Goddess," continues as the fiction best-seller in the Bull's Head Bookshop while "Hiroshima Diary" still holds first place in the field of non-fiction.

Whitehills Return

The A. M. Whitehills and children, Murray and Barbara, returned to Chapel Hill after spending the summer at Ivy, Va., and Nantucket, Mass. They are back at home now on Coker drive.

Chapel Hill Chaff

J. J.

Working on the Weekly is much tougher now that it comes out twice a week. I used to experience a fine glow of relief on Thursday when the paper went to press and a weekend of freedom beckoned. Now all days are alike. As one paper hits the press the linotype operator begins yelling for copy for the next. There's never any letup and after going at this dead run all summer I'm thankful to be taking off on a delayed vacation.

It would be delayed further but for the unselfishness of Charles Dunn of Ahsokie, a University student who has been with the Weekly two years and is now leaving us. After twenty-four months of school work and newspaper work without a break, Charles was planning a trip to Florida between his resignation from the Weekly and the opening of the University. But he gave it all up to help out here while the rest of us had vacations, Chuck Hauser last month and Oliver Watkins and I now in the first week of September.

This is typical of Charles, whose middle name is loyalty. He has been my right arm ever since the day he walked in here a stranger and Mr. Graves hired him five minutes later over the telephone, on my recommendation, without even seeing him. It was a hiring nobody here has ever regretted. He has never hesitated to work all day and most of the night and all day Saturday and Sunday when it was necessary. Ever dependable, ever ready for the dirty work and disagreeable task nobody else wants to do, he has made my job less of a burden and as near a pleasure as it could be. I hate to see him go. 2,752 Pupils Are Enrolled in Communities' Schools; 1,900 New University Students Here

Chapel Hill and the University were coming back to life yesterday.

The period between sessions of University classes when one could find a parking space easily first showed signs of ending on early Wednesday. Cars bearing more and more freshmen students began arriving and added to the traffic caused by local parents taking their children to elementary and high schools for the abbreviated session which ended for them at noon.

Total enrollment for Chapel Hill and Carrboro schools had reached 2,752 yesterday, with the figure expected to increase slightly by next week. Enrollment by schools: Chapel Hill High School 400, Elementary School 580, Glenwood 385, Lincoln High School 384, Northside 573, and Carrboro Elementary 430.

Most of the foot and motor traffic was caused, however, by some 1,900 new students arriving to take part in the annual orientation week. Some 1,300 freshmen met at Memorial Hall last night for the first phases of orientation and an official lay welcome from Crowell Little, president of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants association.

Today's agenda includes placement and aptitude tests in various academic areas, campus tours, physical examinations for men, and a general assembly at 7 p.m. in the gymnasium at which a motto, "In the Name of Freedom," will be shown.

Chancellor Robert B. House will be the main speaker, and Dr. J. Harris Purks, acting president of the University, will also speak briefly.

Testing will continue tomorrow, along with group meetings. An open house for new coeds to be given by the Women's Athletic Association has been planned for that afternoon, and a Graham Memorial party has been announced for Saturday night.

A welcome from community churches, the annual Chancellor's Reception, and a student government meeting will be the major events Sunday.

The orientation process will continue Monday with registration for classes and more physical examinations. Regular classes will meet for the first time Thursday, September 15.

Gymnasium Bids' Deadline Nears

The Chapel Hill School Board's troubles in getting a gymnasium for Lincoln High School seemed to be about solved this week. Board Chairman Carl Smith commented, "I think we've got it."

Bids on the gymnasium, opened last month, totaled $107,767, including architect's fees. This was roughly $27,000 above the money that was available. The extra money, under provisions of a resolution approved by the County Commissioners on Tuesday, will come from the following sources:

- The County Board of Education, $100,000.
- Chapel Hill School Board $10,000 of its share ($17,000) of $24,000 in bonds being issued by the commissioners. (Chapel Hill schools were already scheduled to receive the other $17,000.)
- About $17,000 of the items in the gymnasium construction will be included in the 1956-57 budget, which will be approved before the completion of the building.

The commissioners slated a public hearing on the sale of the bonds for 10 a.m. on Sept. 19.

The Chapel Hill School Board has until tomorrow (Saturday) to accept the bids on the gymnasium. School officials said they could sign the contract before they actually had the funds in hand, so long as the money was definitely committed.

Cowdens Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cowden have returned from the north, where they visited in Short Hills and Englewood, N. J. Mr. Cowden attended the Davis Cup matches at Forest Hills, N. Y., and visited at the matches with Dr. Henry Clark, W. P. Jacobs, Gerald Barrett, and the Herbert Baers. Mr. and Mrs. Cowden and their friends from Short Hills had a short vacation in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania.

The Tyrees Return

Mr. and Mrs. Young Tyree, who have been in Washington, D.C., on a year's leave from the University, have moved back to Chapel Hill and are residing on Hillsboro street.

Cates Reunion Sunday

The annual reunion of the descendants of Thomas S. and Adeline P. Cates will be held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Perry at Orange Grove.
