

PTA Talk by Harris Purks Will Be Open To the Public

J. Harris Purks, Acting President of the University, will talk on the White House Conference on Children and Youth at the January meeting of the Chapel Hill Parent-Teachers Association at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, January 12, in the High School auditorium. This will be his first public appearance since his recent appointment to the post of administrative officer of the North Carolina Board of Higher Education, which he will assume in March.

Mr. Purks was one of the 38 official delegates sent by Governor Hodges to the conference. A meeting of educators called last month in Washington by President Eisenhower. The proceedings of the meeting received wide publicity, and Mr. Purks's report of the event is expected to be vitally interesting to all who have the interests of the schools at heart. Everybody is invited to come and hear him, whether or not a member of the P.T.A.

The program will be preceded by a short business meeting at which details of the organization of a Parents' High School Council will be presented to the membership, and the approval of the membership will be sought for the expenditure of up to $500 of P.T.A. funds on publicity designed to put across the forthcoming school bond issue.

Tyson Transferred To Town in Virginia

J. B. Tyson, manager of Rose's Store here, was transferred on Monday to a store in Hilton Village, Virginia, a residential suburb of Newport News. It was unknown yesterday who would replace him here.

Mrs. Tyson and their two sons, Joe, six years old, and Terry, four years old, will follow Mr. Tyson as soon as he locates a new home for them. They will sell their house here in Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Tyson told the Weekly yesterday to let everyone know that they are leaving here "with regret."

In-School TV Booms
More educational television programs beamed to children in North Carolina school rooms are on the schedule of WUNC-TV, Channel 4. From Chapel Hill geography and physical education will be taught. Another UNC program will deal with choice of vocations for students. Many P.T.A. groups, civic clubs and other organizations are buying TV sets for school rooms to hear the educational programs sent from Chapel Hill, Raleigh and Greensboro.

Miketa Family Here
Mr. and Mrs. Andy Miketa and their month-old daughter, Mary Jane, have returned to Chapel Hill from Detroit, Michigan, where they had been living for the past six months while Mr. Miketa was playing football for the Detroit Lions. He is now a pre-dental student at the University here. They are living at 95 Maxwell Road.

Clyde Campbell on Mend
Clyde Campbell, son of Mrs. Maxine Campbell, is well on the mend after having suffered a fractured arm while playing basketball on the Chapel Hill High School team. He had previously broken his collar bone while playing football.

It's Now Official

Jim Tatum's Our Football Coach, May Bring Chapel Hillian to Assist Him

For the next five years—God and the alumni willing—Jim Tatum will coach the University's football team.

It became official Sunday in dual announcements by Chancellor Robert B. House of the University that Mr. Tatum had signed a contract and by the president of the University of Maryland that Mr. Tatum had resigned there, effective January 31.

Thus a 12-year effort by staunch friends and supporters to return Mr. Tatum to his alma mater as football coach ended. Mr. Tatum had been here Friday for conferences with University administration and athletic officials. He is now in Los Angeles at the NCAA convention with Chuck Erickson and Ollie Cornwell. Chancellor House said the University is "very fortunate" in securing him, and Maryland officials regretted the resignation, adding that he had made a "great contribution" to the university and the state.

Mr. Tatum's contract calls for a reported $15,000 annual salary, less than what he got at Maryland, but he and his family have always desired to return to Carolina. "I passed up a chance to go back once before, and at times I have regretted it," Mr. Tatum said.

Strong ties bind him here. A nephew of W. D. Carmichael Sr., Mr. Tatum will be near his McGill, S. C., home and Mrs. Tatum's native Ayden. They have three children, Becky who is in the fifth grade, Jimmy who is in the third grade, and another daughter, Reid, who is three years old.

Mr. Tatum also is an alumnus of the University, class of 1935, its football coach in 1942 and director of freshman athletics. He is regarded as one of the nation's best defensive coaches, possessing much energy and great organizational ability.

It is believed that Mr. Tatum may bring Emmett Cheek of Chapel Hill with him as an assistant coach, and that Marvin Bass and Steve Belichick, two present assistant coaches, may be retained.

Another factor influencing his decision to leave Maryland was his holding down two jobs. "Every time I catch up on my coaching job, I find myself buried in athletic director work," he said. "I now have some time to play golf, fish and go hunting. It's like an old br'er rabbit going back to the briar patch."

William Newman's Piano Recital Tonight To Be Final Program for This Semester

For the final program in the Music Department's Tuesday Evening Series for this semester, William S. Newman will give a piano recital tonight (Tuesday) at 8 o'clock in Hill Hall. The public is cordially invited.

Mr. Newman will give the first performance of "Sonata, 1952" by Duke University faculty member, William Klenz. The other works on the program are: Bach's "Partita in C Minor"; Schumann's "Phantasie in C Major, op. 17"; "Gaspard de la nuit" by Ravel.

William Klenz, native of Washington state, is a graduate of Curtis Institute of Music and the University of North Carolina. A former student in composition of Ernest Bacon and Paul Hindemith, he is assistant professor at Duke University in the Department of Aesthetics, Art, and Music. He is currently completing his doctoral studies at UNC.

The present sonata for piano, one of numerous compositions by Mr. Klenz, was shown to Mr. Newman during a recent graduate seminar and is now receiving its premiere performance. It is a neo-classic work in that it returns to traditional practices in the general forms, character, and number of its movements. It explores modern sonorities, especially chords built in fourths, and modern uses of the keyboard. But it does not depart from a clear system of key relationships and a clear organization.

University Plays Virginia
One of the oldest athletic rivalries in the South will be renewed tonight (Tuesday) as the University plays Virginia's basketball team at Woolen Gym. The game will begin at 8 o'clock. In a preliminary game, the University freshmen will play Atlantic Christian College's junior varsity team, beginning at 6 p.m.

Medical Course Speakers
Two postgraduate medical courses open this week in Eastern North Carolina with two University Medical School faculty members slated to speak. Dr. Eleanor B. Easley will lecture in Kinston today (Tuesday) and Dr. Leonard Palumbo Jr. will speak tomorrow (Wednesday) in Ahoskie.

Schools Allotted Building Funds

Chapel Hill schools have been allotted $69,516.40 for capital outlay from the second portion of the $50,000,000 state school bond issue.

Orange County's other schools were allotted a total $134,317.57 from the same fund for capital outlay purposes.

The funds will be made available immediately.

The allocations were made by the state on the basis of average daily attendance in the schools.

The funds will be used to further the overall school building program which is envisioned in event the proposed $2,000,000 school bond issue carries next spring.

Reserved Seats at Basketball Games

The University Athletic Department announced this week that all seats will be reserved when the Tar Heels meet their arch basketball rival, the North Carolina State College Wolfpack, here on January 18.

Students and University employees whose last names start with the letters "A" through "L" have a priority and may pick up tickets on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 9, 10 and 11. Any tickets remaining on Thursday morning, January 12, will be available to everyone on a first-come, first-serve basis.

A similar procedure will be followed for the Carolina-Duke game on February 24, but names beginning with the letters "M" through "Z" will have priority for the game with Wake Forest on February 15. Reserve seat tickets will be sold to everyone on a first-come, first-serve basis, irrespective of alphabetical listing for book serial numbers.

School Boards Are To Meet Tomorrow

The Chapel Hill School Board and the County School Board are scheduled to meet here tomorrow night to discuss the creation of committees which will set up machinery for the election on the two million dollar school bond issue.

Proceeds from the bond issue, if approved by the voters on March 20, will be used to finance improvements to schools in the Chapel Hill School District and throughout the county.

International Relations
The Community Club's International Relations Department will meet at 8 o'clock this (Tuesday) evening with Mrs. W. C. Ryan at 1303 Mason Farm Road. The speaker will be Miss Leonor Jimenez of the Philippine Islands.

Two UNC Scientists Back from Siam

Two University scientists have just returned from a month's trip to Thailand (Siam) where they photographed an eclipse that took place on Dec. 14.

They are Morris Davis, UNC professor of astronomy, who is a native of New York; and Mack Preslar, Durham native and assistant director of the UNC Communication Center.

Mr. Davis headed the four-man expedition. Mr. Preslar handled the electronics equipment on the trip and was assisted by David Herring, a native of Winston-Salem, who is now at the University of Wisconsin. A Florida geophysicist was the fourth man on the jaunt.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Preslar reported that one way to the location, which was Koke Kathiem 70 miles north of Bangkok, was approximately 12,500 miles. The round trip was 25,000 miles or roughly the distance around the world. The trip was made by airplane with an air speed of better than 200 miles an hour.

The two UNC men reported they had good weather on the day of the eclipse and were able to get some good photographs. The eclipse lasted for 11 minutes and was 85 per cent complete. "This does not mean that 85 per cent of light was excluded from that section of the globe. During the height of the eclipse, it looked as if it were late afternoon," they explained.

The party flew from Washington, D.C. to California, which, incidentally, took longer than any other leg of the flight due to heavy head winds. The itinerary from California was by the way of the Hawaiian Islands, Kwajalein, Guam, the Philippines, Saigon, and then to Bangkok. The same route was followed on the return trip.

Chapel Hill Chaff L.G.

Girls about five years old in Mrs. Wettach's kindergarten were making remarks about marriage. They had heard talk about it in their homes, the subject interested them, and they discussed it freely, specially with regard to their own prospects. Some of them declared, as their teacher stood by, that they had already chosen their future husbands. One of them said: "Mrs. Wettach, will you come to my wedding if you're still alive then?"

Though I've been foolin' around with newspapers more than fifty years I discovered this week that I didn't know something that any man with my experience ought to have known. I was familiar with the name, "masthead," for the block of type at the top of the editorial page but didn't know the name for the big-type top line—that is, the title line on the front page. The reason I made the discovery of my ignorance was that somebody asked me the question. I said I would find out the answer and I telephoned to Dean Luxon of the University School of Journalism for help. He gave it to me, right off the bat. He said there were two names for the front-page title line, "nameplate" and "flag." He said that most journalism textbooks gave the preference to "name-plate" but that there was good sanction for "flag" and many newspapermen liked it better. I am one who does.

Every now and then I hear about a newcomer in the ranks of the reducers. But not all the reducers in my acquaintance are newcomers to the ordeal of dieting. Many of them are repeaters; after they've trained down they yield to temptation, give themselves full rein at the table and ice-box, recover the poundage they

Planetarium Opens New Presentation

"Our Universe" is the title of the new presentation which opened last (Monday) night at the Morehead Planetarium here. The program is a comprehensive discussion and illustration of the great aggregation of stars and cosmic dust known as galaxies, clusters and nebulae which recall periodically the wonders of creation. It is designed to promote a clearer conception of the universe as an orderly and harmonious system.

"Our Universe" will be presented through February 5 at 8:30 p.m. daily with matinees Saturdays at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. and Sundays at 3 and 4.

Folk Music Program

Folk music and dancing will be a major topic of study for WUNC-TV's in-school "pupils" during the coming week, in the series of four shows sponsored by the School of Education at the University. Physical education occupies the scene at 2 p.m. today (Tuesday), when "Play Period" presents activities for seventh and eighth graders, directed by Mrs. Ruth Fink of the UNC Physical Education Department. Folk and square dances will be demonstrated by students from Chapel Hill High School.

Today Is Good Day to Drink Coffee

It is hoped that a lot of coffee will be drunk today (Tuesday) as restaurants, coffee shops, drug stores, and dairy bars in Chapel Hill and Carrboro join others all over the state in serving coffee free of charge, with patrons making a contribution to the March of Dimes instead of paying for their coffee.

Health Department Has No More Salk Vaccine; Children Must Get Shots From Family Doctors

Dr. O. David Garvin, the District Health Officer, announces that the Health Department has no more Salk polio vaccine and advises parents to have their children vaccinated by their family physicians. In making the announcement yesterday, Dr. Garvin said: "The supply of Salk vaccine in the Chapel Hill office has been exhausted and we do not know how soon it will be replenished. A limited number of vaccinations can be done with vaccine borrowed from other counties. I urge that the parents of all children interested in receiving the vaccine carry their children to their family physician who has vaccine. The Health Department can do a limited number of vaccinations but must restrict the number because the vaccine available through health departments is in limited supply."

Holland Assumes Presidency of Chapel Hill Exchange Club, Names Chairmen

J. Herbert Holland, new president of the Chapel Hill Exchange Club, presided at a meeting of the club for the first time last Tuesday evening and announced the appointment of the following committee chairmen: Charlie Stancell, project committee; George Cane-fax, club toastmasters committee; Mac Vandiviere, audit committee; Wallace Williams, house committee; Bill Tyler, publicity committee; Doug Yates, membership and attendance committee; Bill Poe, historical picture scrapbook committee; Father John Weidinger, American citizenship committee; George Poe, club aims and fellowship committee; Pat Pope, finance committee; Dick Young, program committee; Jack Golden, education and public affairs committee.

New officers, in addition to Mr. Holland, include Whid Powell, vice-president; Dr. Duncan Getsinger, secretary, and Lester Foley, treasurer. New members of the board of control are Jack Golden, Vernon Lafock, and Bill Tyler. Mr. Holland succeeded Pat Pope as president.

Chapel Hill Jaycees Ask Cox to Run For Presidency of State Organization

At their meeting last Thursday evening the Chapel Hill Jaycees passed a unanimous resolution asking Bob Cox to run for the office of state president of the North Carolina Jaycee organization. He said he deeply appreciated the request and would give it serious consideration, but he had not announced a decision at press time yesterday afternoon.

Co-owner of the Town and Campus men's clothing store, Mr. Cox was formerly president of the Jaycees here, and last year he was named Chapel Hill's Young Man of the Year in the annual Young Man of the Year event sponsored by the Jaycees.

At present Mr. Cox is one of North Carolina's four representatives on the national Jaycee organization's board of directors. This is the second highest Jaycee post in the state, the highest being the presidency.

The Jaycees' state elections will be held in May. In asking

Police Department Gets New Uniforms

Chapel Hill policemen received new winter uniforms last week from the Fecheimer Bros. Company in Cincinnati, Ohio. Included with the winter uniforms were new caps and summer trousers. The police department still is awaiting the arrival of new uniforms which will be worn by three women traffic officers who will be put on duty at school crossings.

Students Who Look on Chapel Hill as Their Domicile Should List Taxes Here

Students attending the University here are not required to list real and personal property taxes for Chapel Hill and Orange County unless they consider Chapel Hill their "domicile" and do not list in their home counties, Town Manager Thomas Rose said this week.

Mr. Rose said he has not been notified officially that a student is required to list property, such as an automobile, here although the student may maintain voting privileges in another county.

A student who does not list his property for tax purposes in any other county, and considers Chapel Hill his "domicile" while attending the University "should" list here, he said.

If a student operates a business or works in the town, or if he is married and lives in an apartment or other dwelling off campus, he should list his property, Mr. Rose added.

Mr. Rose said this is the policy town and county tax collectors have followed in past years. In Raleigh, according to a

University Woman's Club Party
The annual winter party of the University Woman's Club will be held from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Thursday, January 19, in the Morehead Planetarium building. Notices will be sent members who have paid their dues, but all women of the University are invited to attend the party and become members of the club.

Carrboro Bible Study
The Carrboro Baptist Church's annual January Bible Study opened Sunday and will continue through tomorrow at the church. Its subject is the teachings of Jesus as contained in the Sermon on the Mount. The teachers for the study are the Rev. James Cansler of the Chapel Hill Baptist Church, who is teaching the intermediates; the Rev. Max Lindens, pastor of the Lystra Baptist Church, the young people; Mrs. George N. Harward, the adult women, and the Rev. Henry Stokes, pastor of the Carrboro Baptist Church, the adult men.

Carrboro Club Meeting
The Carrboro Civic Club will meet at 3 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday) in its clubhouse near the Carrboro School. Mrs. H. R. Totten will speak on "Plants for Winter Beauty." Mrs. Thomas B. Murray will be the hostess for the meeting. The public is invited.

Palatable Coach
The University's new football coach was literally palatable in Chapel Hill yesterday (Monday). George Livas, the proprietor of the Carolina Coffee Shop, added to his dessert menu a popular name for an equally popular item: "Sweet Tatum Pie."

Laymen's League Meeting
The Laymen's League of the Chapel of the Cross will hold a dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, January 12, at the parish house. The meal will be served by the Woman's Auxiliary.

Polio Vaccine Topic
The influence of poliomyelitis vaccinations in North Carolina will be discussed by two Public Health School speakers before the 525th Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society meeting at the University today (Tuesday) at 7:30 p.m. in 206 Phillips Hall. Dr. Charles M. Cameron, associate professor in the Department of Public Health Administration, and Dr. B. G. Greenberg, professor of biostatistics in the Institute of Statistics and the School of Public Health, will present findings on polio vaccination. A second research report on "Natural Hybridization in Pitcher Plants" will be presented by Clyde R. Bell, assistant professor, Department of Botany.
