

Cub Scout Den Gives Its Dues to March of Dimes

Cub Scout Den 4 of Pack 416 had an idea. The den was debating what to do with its surplus dues which had been piling up for a number of months. The dues were a nickel each meeting, and there was $5.22 in the treasury. The Cubs voted to give it all to the March of Dimes. "It was all their own idea," said Mrs. Lawrence London, the den mother. Members of the den shown above are, front row left to right, Joe Sitterson, Barrett Graham and John Allcott; back row left to right, Jimmy Barron, Alex London, Bob Massengale, Archie Kelly and Tim Curnen.

Proposed School Bond Issue Is to Be Discussed Thursday Evening by P. T. A.

A panel discussion of the proposed $2,000,000 school bond issue will be on the program of the Chapel Hill P. T. A. meeting to be held at 8 p. m. Thursday, February 9, in the Elementary School auditorium. Mrs. Frederic Cleveland will be moderator, and the panelists will be Paul Carr, Orange County school superintendent; C. W. Davis, Chapel Hill school superintendent; Mrs. Arthur Fink, member of the League of Women Voters and the Citizens Committee for Better Schools; Carl Smith, chairman of the Chapel Hill School Board, and Judge William S. Great Newspaper Honors UNC and Town
The Buenos Aires La Prensa, one of the world's greatest newspapers, paid tribute to the University and Chapel Hill Sunday, according to an Associated Press report written by Sam Summerlin, a Chapel Hillian now in Argentina.

The story about the University occupied almost one full page of the rotogravure section and was written by Alfred Casey, an Argentine professor who attended the University here in 1949-50.

The article was illustrated with five pictures. They show the "Old Well" in front of the Administration Building, the bell tower, the library, a dormitory and a picture of Casey conversing with Robert B. House, chancellor of the University, and Sturgis Leavitt, director of the University's Spanish Department.

The article contains this statement: "Among the great universities, which worship the Democratic principles, you can point out the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. There 8,000 students live together in a permanent activity. Within a setting of enchantment, between the pines and oaks, only eight miles from Duke University, the city displays to travelers its imposing edifices of Greek and Carolinian style. Around this live devoted figures of the sciences and letters. Chapel Hill is the most genuine representation of the spirit of progress and of reunion of the North American people, without distinctions between the North and the South."

Chapel Hill Chaff

L.G.
Mr. and Mrs. Herman G. Baity, who, with their two sons, are now living in Switzerland, have the championship, among Chapel Hillians, for far-flung and varied travels. At least, I don't know of any of my fellow villagers who surpass them as gadabouts over continents and oceans. I haven't heard that either of them has gone to the Arctic or the Antarctic, but it seems to me that they have been in every other part of the world.

Here are some passages from a letter, in the nature of an annual report, that I have received from Mrs. Baity (who, as a professional writer, goes under the name of Chesley Baity): "The Swiss Family Baity's new House of Exile is No. 6, Chemin Bizot, Geneva. "For us, the year 1955 began with winter sports' casualties—a broken tooth (Bill) and a sprained ankle (Bill). The elder Baity began it in the lands of the Prophet (HG, Egypt; Chesley, Pakistan). I enjoyed Christmas carols sung by Muslim girls in a Catholic convent in the Sind desert, with camels kneeling outside.

"We, the Literacy Team (World Literature and Christian Literature) went to Peshawar, under the Khyber Pass, on the Northwest Frontier, where our watchmen bristled with cartridges and the green-eyed frontiersmen of the Texas pioneer days that I can almost remember.

"From Aryan-tinged Muslims of Pakistan to ebony ones of deepest Africa was our next hop. The South Sudan was like our South, with leopards rather than (Continued on page 6)

Scholarships to Honor Graves, Johnson and Coffin

LOUIS GRAVES

GERALD W. JOHNSON

O. J. COFFIN

Three $300 scholarships to be known as the Louis Graves Scholarship, the Gerald W. Johnson Scholarship, and the O. J. Coffin Scholarship, have been established in honor of these first three heads of journalism instruction at the University. Norval Neil Luxon, dean of the School of Journalism, announced yesterday.

Income from the Journalism Foundation will finance the scholarships, the number of which will be increased as income from the Foundation grows. The scholarships will be awarded to students who have completed their junior year in the School of Journalism. Candidates will be recommended by the staff of the School of Journalism to the University Scholarship Committee.

Orange County Roads Improved in 1955, State Highway Commission Reports

During 1955 the State Highway Commission accomplished a number of road improvements in Orange County.

One of the highlights was the completion and opening to traffic of the new superhighway from Efland to Thomasville, bypassing Greensboro.

In Orange County only, a total of 2.3 miles of bituminous plant-mix resurfacing, 22 feet wide, was completed on US 15 from the Durham County line to intersection of US 15-A near Chapel Hill.

County road improvements in Orange included 2.78 miles of grading and paving from a point on NC 86 about 6.5 miles north of Chapel Hill, north to old No. Ten, 1.5 miles south of Hillsboro. The newly-paved road is 24 feet wide. A total of 6.81 miles of grading, paving and structures were completed on the Orange Grove-Calvander Road; the newly-surfaced road is 18 feet wide. The work included three structures: one 8 x 9 foot reinforced concrete box culvert, one double 7 x 9 foot reinforced concrete box culvert, and one triple 10 x 13 foot reinforced concrete box culvert; the job was done under contract.

State forces placed a base and paved with a bituminous surface treatment the following county roads, and their lengths, in Orange: New Sharon Road from St. Mary's Road to New Sharon Church, 18 feet wide, 1.9 miles; Greensboro Drive near Chapel Hill from end of pavement north 0.25 mile, a soil base for 856 feet long, paved 18 feet wide, and 438 feet long, paved 12 feet wide; Purefoy Road from US 15-A to Mason Farm Road, soil base, 0.6 mile; Orange Church-Calvander Road, soil base, paved 18 feet wide, 3.3 miles; and Barclay Road from Airport Road to dead end, soil base, paved 12-foot lanes.

UNC's Gonna Tell Mama if Junior Won't Settle Tickets

The University Administrative Board of Student Affairs has decided to clamp down on students who have repeatedly refused to pay parking tickets despite warnings that warrants will be issued for their arrest.

Raymond L. Jefferies Jr., Assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs, announced last week that the board is considering the drafting of a "firm" letter to parents of some 60 students who have received five or more parking tickets and refused to pay their fines.

The letter probably will recommend that the parents prohibit the students from having cars in their possession while attending the University unless the fines are paid promptly, he said.

Several of the students have more than 10 unpaid parking tickets, a few from 20 to 30 tickets. Some of the tickets were given by officers in 1954. Mr. Jefferies said.

The Student Traffic Committee is considering the possibility of requiring the violators to take their automobiles home, he said. However, he added, no definite action has been taken in the matter.

Mrs. Barbara Howdy, town traffic clerk, has been issuing warrants for the arrest of students who hold three or more unpaid parking tickets.

Mr. Jefferies said he believes warrants will soon be issued for the arrest of the 60 students named in the list submitted to him by Mrs. Howdy two weeks ago.

Each of the students will be called in for a conference with him or other administrative officials, he said.

Party Planned for Foreign Students

A Valentine party for a group of foreign students will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday at the home of Mrs. Alfred Linde, 220 Glandon Drive.

Members of the Christian Social Relations Committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Holy Family will be hostesses at the party. They are Mrs. Linde, Mrs. Roland Woodward, Mrs. William Caldwell, Mrs. Allyn Josselyn, Mrs. Robert Barnes, and Mrs. Milo Crawford. Games have been planned and Mrs. Chandra Bose, a native of India, will show movies of her recent nine-month trip to Europe and Asia.

Return to Mexico City

S. H. Hobbs III and his son, S. H. Hobbs IV, flew back to Mexico City last Tuesday after a visit here with Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hobbs Jr. They left here at 8 a. m. and were to reach Mexico City about 10:30 p. m. the same day. Their two-week visit to the States was a business trip for Mr. Hobbs, who is vice-president of Burlington Mills in Mexico. He spent most of the time traveling around, while the little boy stayed here with his grandparents. Mrs. Hobbs and their two daughters, Adriana and Carmelita, remained in Mexico City.

Return From Florida

Mrs. J. Bright Kelly and Mrs. Alfred Linde returned last week from Madeira Islands, Florida. Mrs. Kelly had been there a week and Mrs. Linde a month.
