

Aldersgate Congregation Approves Building Plans; Construction May Start in January

The congregation of Aldersgate Methodist Church fittingly observed its first anniversary Sunday by unanimously approving plans to erect an edifice on a 3 1/2-acre tract of property obtained from the Coker estate on the by-pass highway. It is hoped to begin construction about January 1.

The vote came on a day when 19 new members were accepted into the church which only a year ago was chartered with 70. The present membership is 118.

The chairman of the official board, Dr. William Joyner, presented the church plans prepared by William Van Eaton Sprinkle, prominent church architect of Durham, after considerable ground work laid by Olin T. Mouzon. The plans call for a modest yet accommodating structure seating a maximum of 119 worshipers and providing for educational and recreational facilities. The cost of the structure is estimated at $40,000.

The building fund campaign, to be headed by Gran P. Childress, will open on October 14. During that month, morning worship services conducted by the pastor, the Rev. A. Kimsey King, will be broadcast over radio station WCHL in Chapel Hill.

New members taken into the church Sunday included Dr. and Mrs. David A. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. James Durham, Dr. and Mrs. Carl R. Hartrampf, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hinson, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Houck, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin, Mrs. Homer Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Welsh, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Tyndale.

The congregation had a picnic dinner on the church property Sunday afternoon.

Hodges Says President To Be Picked by Board 'Within the Near Future'

Mrs. Helene Ivey's news-writing for the Weekly has fired her daughter with the ambition to enter the same profession. When seven-year-old Helene Jr. came in from school last Friday she said she had picked up some news that she thought ought to go in the paper. Her mother asked her what it was and she said a man was coming to visit the Graveses; she knew because on her way home from school she had seen him come into the house with suit-cases. Helene's reporting was correct. She had seen one of our student lodgers arriving and, since we like to encourage her relish for news-gathering, here her report is for her to read.

Board of Trustees at a meeting here Saturday.

The Board, gathering in the Faculty Lounge of the Morehead Building to approve the issuance of four million dollars worth of bonds for self-liquidating dormitories in Chapel Hill and at State College, heard the Governor say:

"I have been in touch with the committee to pick a president for the University. The committee has been working very hard, and I expect that within the near future we may call another meeting of the board to take action."

"Within the near future" undoubtedly meant before next February, at least, because the next regular meeting of the board is scheduled for the fourth Monday in February. And the Governor referred to a called meeting to hear reports of the committee, headed by Victor Bryant of Durham.

Governor Hodges gave no hint as to whom the committee might nominate. There has been widespread speculation that William C. Friday, who has been acting president for nearly a year, might get the nod. But it is no secret that the committee has been searching the country for an educator to take the post, and Mr. Friday is not considered an educator.

The purpose of the called meeting of the board Saturday was to ratify resolutions authorizing the University to issue bonds to build two million dollars worth of self-liquidating dormitories for the Chapel Hill campus and a similar sum for student housing at State College in Raleigh.

The motion to approve the resolutions was passed unanimously after University Controller W. D. Carmichael Jr. gave the trustees a brief synopsis of the contents of the 80 pages which made up the two documents.

The board approved a third resolution which empowered the Consolidated University to begin negotiations for the sale of one million dollars in bonds to build student housing at the Woman's College in Greensboro. Actual sale of the bonds will have to be authorized at a later date.

The dormitory building program was approved by the 1955 General Assembly. The delay in getting the program under way was largely created by a decision to change plans last year in the type and number of buildings needed.

University Business Manager Claude Teague told the Weekly last week that construction at Chapel Hill, which will consist

'More Bounce to the Ounce'

Little Miss Anna Louise Houk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Houk, causes merriment from her lunch, as she sees something of interest at the Lemuel Carson's recent reunion. Anna, who is three years old, is the great-niece of Lemuel Carson, who was host to some 80 kinfolk at a big spread at the Carson home. According to Anna's mother, the little girl had a "grand time" and "talked about it all the next day."

Benefit Light Bulb Sale Opens Tonight

The Chapel Hill Jaycees will conduct their annual light bulb sale tonight (Tuesday) and Wednesday night throughout both Chapel Hill and Carrboro to raise money for their Jaycee civic projects.

Members of the Jaycees will make a door-to-door canvass of the two communities between 7 and 9:30 o'clock on the two evenings.

The lightbulbs being sold are guaranteed for 2,000 hours of service, much longer than the ordinary bulb. Laboratory tests support the guarantee, the Jaycees said.

Comes for Birthday And Football Game

Ned Hamilton, who was taken ill several months ago and underwent a serious operation in June, came from Charlotte last Friday to be here for the birthday of his mother, Mrs. Oscar Hamilton, and the Carolina-State game Saturday. His brother Horace flew from Wilmington and brought him here by automobile and they drove back to Charlotte after the game and Horace flew home to Wilmington. Ned has now gone back to his work as personnel director for a Charlotte bank. He played 18 holes of golf last week.

The 100th anniversary of the death of the distinguished scientist, Elisha Mitchell, comes next year and the University is preparing to celebrate it with appropriate ceremonies. He was killed June 17, 1857, by a fall from a cliff when he was exploring the mountain that was afterward named for him. He was 64 years old and had been a member of the faculty here 40 years.

His body was found eleven days after his death. He was buried first at Asheville but the next year, with the consent of his family, he was buried on Mount Mitchell, the highest peak east of the Mississippi.

His name is perpetuated here by the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society, one of the country's most celebrated organizations devoted to scientific research.

It was Elisha Mitchell who had the rock walls built around the University campus—"dry" walls, meaning built without cement. He

Underdog Northern High Topples 'Cats For Their First Loss of Season, 19-13

The Chapel Hill High School football team suffered its first loss of the year Friday night at the Carrboro Lions Park when underdog Northern High School came from behind in the last quarter to defeat the Wildcats, 19-13, in a Class AA District 13-3 game.

After being down 0-12 at halftime, Chapel Hill surged back for 13 points and seemed to have the game won, when Northern began a 60-yard drive in the last quarter which carried it to a well-deserved victory. The win was Northern's second in three tries, while the Wildcats have won two and lost one.

Fumbles set up both of Northern's first-half scores. After Ruffin Harville's errant pitch-back had been recovered by Northern on the Chapel Hill 25, Don Fish passed to Joe Carden for the first down on the Wildcats' four. Fish went over on a quarterback sneak.

Again, in the second quarter, Northern pounced on another Chapel Hill bobble, this time on the 35-yard line. Linwood Veasey and A. C. Kanas alternated in carrying the ball over for a 12-0 Northern half-time lead.

Chapel Hill rushed to after the half to go ahead, 13-12. Starting from its 35-yard line, where it had received a Northern punt, Chapel Hill went 65 yards for its first touchdown with Bob Costello, Guffrich Harville and Tommy Goodrich alternating to the one, from where Costello crashed over for the score.

Early in the last quarter, the Wildcats blocked a Northern

Enrollment Is Below 7,000

The University enrollment for this fall is not as large as earlier predictions and estimates indicated.

Acting President William C. Friday told the Board of Trustees at a special meeting in the Morehead Building on Saturday that enrollment at Chapel Hill has not reached the 7,000 students that everyone expected. The figures he gave to the trustees, which reflected enrollment up to last Friday night: The University at Chapel Hill: 6,969 students, which is 419 over last year's enrollment. State College: 5,505 students, 689 over last year. Woman's College: 2,329 students, 90 over last year.

Civil War Authority to Make Public Address at Carroll Hall on Thursday

One of the nation's authorities on the American Civil War, Professor Bell I. Wiley, of Emory University, will deliver a public address in Carroll Hall Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock. Students, townspeople, and anyone interested in the Civil War are invited to attend.

Professor Wiley's address is the first in a series of three public addresses by prominent historians to be given this year, sponsored by the Graduate History Club, Phi Alpha Theta history fraternity, and the Graham Memorial Student Union. The second will be given by Professor Sidney Painter of the Johns Hopkins University on November 8, and the last by Professor Henry Steele Comager of Columbia University on March 12.

In 1955 Mr. Wiley served as president of the Southern Historical Association. He is currently a member of the Editorial Board of the Civil War Book Club.

His pioneer volume, "Southern Negroes, 1861-1865," won the Mrs. Simon Baruch Prize and was published by the Yale University Press in 1938. In three of his later books, "The Plain People of the Confederacy," "The Life of Johnny Reb," and "The Life of Billy Yank," Professor Wiley, through his vast research and penetrating insights into the spirit of those tumultuous years, has skillfully recreated the great human drama of the common people of both North and South.

Professor Wiley's address in Carroll Hall, entitled "A Time of Greatness," will sum up his years of research into the role of the common soldier of the Confederacy and his views of that tragic conflict.

Information Given On Absentee Voting

People who moved to Chapel Hill too late to register for the November election can vote in that election by absentee ballot if they act immediately, says a reminder from the Chapel Hill League of Women Voters, as follows:

Kansas requires a registration of 90 days prior to election date. Most states require a period of 60 to ten days prior to election. The League of Women Voters can give full information on this, no matter what state the voter is from.

"For any information about regular voting or absentee voting call Mrs. Robert Sager (8-26 79) or write to the League of Women Voters, Box 1083, Chapel Hill."

Jaycees Support PTA Program

Joe Augustine, left, chairman of the athletic committee of the Chapel Hill Jaycees, presents a $250 check to the High School's physical education director and coach, Bob Cullon. The check is a gift to the athletic committee of the Chapel Hill High School Parent-Teacher Association and evidence of community-wide support of the athletic and physical education program. The funds are used to purchase insurance for athletes and provide equipment not ordinarily furnished by the school.

Lt. Col. Kingman Finishes Course

Army Lt. Col. Allen F. Kingman Jr., 32, whose parents, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. A. F. Kingman Sr., live in Chapel Hill, was recently graduated from a refresher course in command and staff procedures at the Army Medical Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Colonel Kingman, a veteran of Korean duty, entered the Army in June 1947 and has since been awarded the Legion of Merit and the Good Conduct Medal.
