Chapel Hill Chaff

By Joe Jones Last week in this space I quoted W. O. Lacock as saying automobiles had knocked hell out of the shoe repair business.

O. J. Coffin was the entire administration and faculty of the University's Journalism Department when I was a student in it in the late nineteen-twenties.

Reading and marking thousands of amateur news stories, many of them on the same subject day after day, must have been a brutal grind.

He once gave me an assignment I began with care and finished in haste. Next day he read it to the class.

I have thus stopped many a time since. Skipper Coffin never did. For uncounted years, until his death last week, his "Shucks and Nubbins" in the Greensboro News and his editorials in that and other daily papers he wrote for poured out of him in a never-failing

Baby Sitters Will Be at Polls Today

Need a baby sitter while you vote today? You've got one at each of the polling places in Chapel Hill. Members of Girl Scout Troop 14 will take their places at 3 p. m. at the various precincts in town to care for tots while parents mark their ballots.

Gist of the Polls

President Eisenhower is leading Adlai Stevenson by a comfortable margin in most straw polls.

Stevenson has continued to score some gains in recent weeks. A George Gallup national poll covering interviews through last Monday reported the Republican President leading his Democratic rival 55 per cent to 45 per cent.

A national "Man in the Street" poll by Kenneth Fink, another professional poller, gave this result: Eisenhower 54 per cent; Stevenson 46 per cent.

Most of the latest available straws were taken before the Israeli invasion of Egypt last week and the subsequent British-French attack on Egypt.

They do not indicate, therefore, just what effect the hostilities might have upon the election. Since the hostilities broke out, some newspapers have made surveys, as distinct from polls, in an attempt to find out.

Republicans Have Only Outside Chance To Get Control of Congress This Year

Poll takers, politicians and election analysts across the country now are reaching a conclusion that astonishes even themselves.

These analysts report that the voting of November 6 may simultaneously elect a Republican President and a Democrat Congress.

They add, however, that a mighty landslide for Eisenhower, one of unforeseen proportions, could pull enough Republicans into Congress to give the party control there.

The forecasters are surprised at their own conclusions because never in modern history has the same election put in office a President of one party and a Congress controlled in both houses by another.

Looking at the Senate and omitting the factor of a huge sweep by President Eisenhower, the political authorities see this situation:

The Republicans, with 30 holdovers—Senators not up for reelection this year—can count 6 seats in safely Republican territory and 9 that election experts say are leaning in their direction—giving the party a total of

$4,200 Chest Contributions Reported

"If everybody continues to increase his or her contribution by 25 per cent more than they gave last year, the $27,937.57 Chapel Hill Community Chest goal will be reached this year," Walt Baucom, chairman of the local fund raising campaign, said yesterday.

With only 116 of the 704 solicitors reporting, Mr. Baucom said yesterday that $4,233.08 of the goal had been collected.

A lot more has been collected but the solicitors are waiting to see all of the people in their area before they make any report, he added. All of the solicitors who have completed their collections are in the advances and residential divisions of the campaign.

Mr. Baucom pointed out that a lot of contributors are increasing their donations by 25 per cent over last year's. If this continues Chapel Hill has an "excellent chance of reaching its Community Chest goal this time," he added.

Business Will Be Good—Regardless

Among bankers from all parts of the nation, meeting in California, there turned out to be nearly unanimous agreement on these points. Regardless of the election outcome:

Business is going to be good again in 1957, probably as good as in 1956, or better. No sign of a real recession is in sight. The boom in spending by business for new buildings and equipment is unlikely to be slowed by any scarcity of money.

Plenty of money will be available to finance the sale of 1957-model cars. Installment loans are very profitable and are not likely to be checked in any drastic way by policies of the Federal Reserve Board.

Real estate, however, is facing some squeeze because of the scarcity of, and high cost of, mortgage money. It is more difficult to sell new or old houses than it was.

Record Vote Expected to Be Cast in Orange Today

Doubtless the largest general election vote in the history of Orange County will be cast today. More than 15,000 residents are registered and eligible to vote for national, state, and local officials while the polls are open at 19 polling places in the county from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. today.

Political observers hereabouts look for a record vote because the registration is greater than it ever has been and because interest in national politics is high. On the national level, the choice will be made between President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson for president, and Richard M. Nixon and Estes Kefauver for vice-president.

In Orange County, George N. Harward is the only Republican candidate and opposing Rep. John W. Umstead of Chapel Hill for the Legislature. The Republicans offered no opposition to Edwin S. Lanier for the State Senate and R. J. M. Hobbs and Donald M. Stanford for the Board of County Commissioners.

Neither is there Republican opposition to J. E. Laws and Vernon G. Burch, Democratic candidates for constable in Hillsboro and Chapel Hill townships respectively.

On the state level, the Republicans have put up only 11 candidates against the Democratic list of 25. In the Sixth Congressional District, Rep. Carl T. Durham of Chapel Hill is without GOP opposition. And while there are 11 candidates under the Republican label, there is apparently no hope for them to come close to a victory because on the state level the vote will be overwhelmingly Democratic.

Mark Ballots Properly

By Mrs. Richmond P. Bond President, League of Women Voters

How does one vote a split-ticket or write-in a candidate in the general election today?

First, the split-ticket. The regulations for voting a split-ticket in North Carolina have been changed, and the simplest explanation is contained in the instructions on every ballot.

But first the ballot itself. The ballot for state offices will contain the names of the candidates arranged in columns by party, with a voting square to the left of each name. The party name will appear at the head of each column, and a circle one-half inch in diameter appears beneath each party name.

Now, the instructions which will be printed at the top of the ballot:

"To vote a straight party ticket, make a cross (X) mark in the circle of the party you desire to vote for." "To vote a split ticket, or in other words for candidates of different parties, omit making a cross (X) mark in the party circle at the top of the ballot and mark in the voting square opposite the name of each candidate on the ballot for whom you wish to vote."

"If you should mark in the party circle at the top of the ballot and also mark opposite the name of any candidate of any party, such ballot shall be counted as a straight party vote for all of the candidates of the party whose name the cross (X) mark is placed in the party circle."

Now, for write-in voting. The Institute of Government Guidebook for election officials gives the procedure clearly. It follows: "If the voter desires to vote in a general election for a person whose name does not appear in the ticket, he must strike out one of the names printed on the ballot as candidates for the particular office, and then, in the space below the deleted name, the voter must write the name of the person for whom he desires to cast his vote for that office. To the left of the name written in the voter must insert a cross mark or similar clear mark to indicate that he has cast his vote for the name written in."

The five Chapel Hill precincts and their boundaries and polling places, are as follows: Precinct 1 at Town Hall; bounded by West Franklin St. and Airport Road.

Precinct 2 at Presbyterian student hut back of Telephone Exchange; bounded by East Franklin St., Durham Road, South Columbia St. to North St., and Airport Road.

Precinct 3 at Woollen Gymnasium; bounded by South Columbia St., Pittsboro Road, the 15-501 Bypass, Durham Road, and East Franklin St.

Precinct 4 at the Cone House at the High School; bounded by West Franklin St., North Columbia St. and Pittsboro Road.

Precinct 5 at Glenwood School; Nagelschmidts Move. The J. S. Nagelschmidts are now residing in their new home at 301 Estes Drive.

Lives of Candidates in a Nutshell

Adlai E. Stevenson When Dwight David Eisenhower attended the U. S. Military Academy at West Point he was older than most of the cadets in his class.

All along the line, he blossomed late in life, just as he was late in getting through West Point. When he started, however, he rose fast.

Eisenhower was still unknown to the general public when, at age 51, he was first named to command American forces being sent to England early in World War II.

When he first entered politics and was elected President in 1952, he was 62 years old. Now, at age 66, he is seeking another four-year term in the White House.

He was born Oct. 14, 1889, at Denison, Tex., the son of David Jacob and Ida Elizabeth (Stover) Eisenhower. Two years later, the family moved to Abilene, Kans. In 1916 he was married to Mamie Geneva Doud, and from that union is one son, Maj. John Eisenhower.

When General Eisenhower returned from Europe at the end of World War II, he thought his public career was over. But, in 1948, he was appointed to the
