

Kids, Get Out Your Crayons, Annual Coloring Contest Is On

All the children shout, "Hooray!"
Jolly old Santa is on his way.
He is bringing Christmas cheer,
And he delivers by reindeer!

Oh, what a wonderful sight to see!
These clever birdies have a tree.
Sally helps them trim it right,
For a Noel so merry and bright.

St. Matthew's Church at Hillsboro to Hold Annual Christmas Bazaar Dec. 8

The annual Christmas Bazaar sponsored by St. Matthew's Parish Guild will be held at the Colonial Inn in Hillsboro on Saturday, December 8, beginning at 2:00 p.m.

The long and honored past is cherished at St. Matthew's but now she must content herself with the present and the future. In the midst of a growing and expanding community, in order to render a full share of service it is necessary that the church have expanded facilities with which to work. So now St. Matthew's is busy building a Parish House and the Ladies of the Guild have high hopes that their Bazaar will materially contribute to this end.

Hey, boys and girls, here's a Christmas coloring contest just for you. That is, if you are not more than 10 years old.

Beginning with this issue, the Chapel Hill Weekly presents the first of 10 drawings about Christmas and Santa Claus. All you have to do is color one, two or all of them with crayon, pencil or paint, and mail them to the Weekly not later than midnight of December 17. The other eight pictures will appear in the Weekly in every issue through December 14.

The best one picture of any group will win for the youngster a $25 U. S. Savings Bond. For the ten next best, handsome world globes will be presented.

You don't have to send in all 10 of the pictures. But if you do send in 10, you have ten chances to win any of the prizes. Too, you can send in any number of versions of the same drawing.

The prizes, in all cases, will be awarded on the basis of neatness, originality and imagination in color selection.

Here are the rules in brief:

1. The contest is open to all Orange and Chatham County children up to 10 years of age.
2. Color pictures with crayons, pencil or paint.
3. Several color versions of the same picture may be sent in on the picture as it appears in the paper.
4. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of neatness, accuracy and originality. The judges' decision will be final.
5. Families of the Weekly's employes and judges will not be eligible to enter the contest.

The first two contest pictures appear with this article.

Carrboro Baptists Get Music Director

Herman Williams has joined the staff of the Carrboro Baptist Church as director of music, working on a part-time basis. He began his new duties on Sunday of this week. A notice about him in the church bulletin says: "We feel fortunate in having secured Mr. Williams, and we believe he has a real contribution to make to the life and work of the church. We will be looking to him for leadership and help in many ways, but immediately we are counting on him for guidance in the music program."

"In this respect, we believe he can help us where we need it most, namely, in the development of real spirit and a sense of mission in our singing. The job, however, is not his alone no matter how able and consecrated he may be. We each must cooperate and be faithful to his leadership. Let us not bury our talents; rather, let us seek to develop them."

PTA Council Will Meet at Carrboro

The Orange County PTA Council will hold its November meeting at the Carrboro Elementary School Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Audiologist To Speak

L. Deno Reed, audiologist of the North Carolina Memorial Hospital and instructor of otology in the University of North Carolina School of Medicine, Department of Surgery, will speak in Raleigh Friday at a meeting of the North Carolina Association of Special Therapists.

Symphony and Chorus in Concert Tonight

The annual fall concert of the UNC Symphony and the Woman's Chorus will be held tonight (Tuesday) at Hill Hall, beginning at 8 o'clock.

It will be open to the public without charge.

Director Earl Slocum has programmed a unique composition for orchestra and women's voices for the concert.

Debussy's "Sirenes" from his Nocturnes is not the most familiar of that famous composer's works. It employs 20 women's voices, in this case a picked group of outstanding singers from Chapel Hill and surrounding communities. The voices are used as an instrumental tool. Each singer has had separate instruction, although each has sung with the entire orchestra for the past three rehearsals only.

Two contemporary compositions, Aaron Copland's "An Outdoor Overture" and "Frederick Delius' Intermzzo and Serenade

Dr. Garvin Boosts Christmas Seals

Dr. O. David Garvin, district health officer, yesterday gave a verbal shove to the sale of Christmas Seals.

Dr. Garvin pointed out that the need for more money to combat tuberculosis was based on this essential fact: While not as many people are dying from tuberculosis now, the number of cases is increasing, and the victims must be cared for. The new drugs now being administered prevent death, but do not decrease the number of cases.

Dr. Garvin said he was urging people to purchase Christmas seals to support the work of the Orange County Tuberculosis Association. "They cooperate with the health department to the fullest. They allocate funds for case finding, case supervision, treatment and educational materials," he said.

Then he gave some figures relative to the work of his department in tuberculosis control during 1956. There were 6,263 persons x-rayed, and 42 tuberculosis suspects discovered. There were 83 non-tuberculosis chest diseases suspected, 180 cardiovascular diseases suspected, and seven malignancies suspected.

"The District Health Department considers tuberculosis one of the major public health programs," Dr. Garvin said.

Orange County people already have received their seals in the mails. All they need to do now is send in the money for them.

Merchants to Hold Meeting on Monday

The annual every-member business meeting of the Chapel Hill Carrboro Merchants Association will be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday, December 3, at the Carolina Inn. New officers will be elected, and two proposed amendments to the Association's constitution will be voted on.

The Association's office has sent cards to all member firms asking them to notify the secretary how many representatives they will have at the dinner, which will be $2.25 per plate, including tax and tips. These cards should be returned by not later than 10 a.m. Saturday, December 1, so the Inn can be notified how many to prepare for.

Community Chest Drive Reaches $14,021; Only 2 Groups Have Completed Reports

Walt Baucom, chairman of the Community Council's annual Community Chest campaign, said yesterday that a total of $14,021 had been received as of that date, with only two of six divisions having reported in full. The goal is $27,975. Complete returns from the other four divisions are expected to be submitted this week.

Mr. Baucom said a clean-up drive to reach people missed in the regular campaign would be held as soon as all reports are in.

$10,000 Christmas Savings to Be Paid

More than $10,000 will be paid out in Christmas Savings checks by the Bank of Chapel Hill next Saturday.

That represents what local residents have saved during the year in the bank's Christmas Savings Club to buy Christmas presents.

Hobby Night Is Set For This Thursday

The Chapel Hill Association for Aging and Community Relationship will hold a "Hobby Night" program at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, November 29, in the assembly room of the University's Wilson Library. It will be open to all who are looking for a new hobby or wishing to share their present hobbies with other people.

Mrs. Raymond P. Kaighn will give a brief talk on hobbies to open the program, which will include the following subjects: "Fun with Driftwood," by Mrs. John J. Wright; "Collecting Seashells," by James Wadsworth; "Collecting Old Books," by Charles Rush; "Chinese Ink Paintings," by Mrs. James Andrews; "Making Things with Cane," by Miss Margaret Blee and James Hendricks; and "Music with Recorders," by the Ballew family.

For further information call 9-3801.

Women Voters to Meet December 3

A general meeting of the Chapel Hill League of Women Voters will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, December 3, in the Wilson Library's assembly room. A panel of guest speakers will discuss "The United Nations and Technical Assistance."

New L.W.V. Members

New members of the Chapel Hill League of Women Voters are Mrs. Wilmar Allen, Mrs. M. J. Bahnsen, Mrs. U. T. Holmes Jr., Mrs. Samuel Magill, Mrs. Myron Sandifer, Mrs. Larry Slifkin, and Mrs. L. L. Vine.

Ask 'Clothes for Hungary'

The emergency "Clothes for Hungary" drive launched last week by the Quaker women of Chapel Hill and the Chapel Hill Community Club is being continued throughout this week. The extension of the campaign was made possible by the Chapel Hill Community Church.

"Every type of clothing is urgently needed, according to a field representative of the American Friends Service Committee in Greensboro," says an announcement of the continuation of the drive, "and the Friends (Quakers) have been asked by the United Nations to enter Hungary to assist in general relief. Layette items and bedding have high priority. Cash is needed to buy powered milk for infants and to defray shipping costs.

"Donated clothing should be in wearable condition and already mended, although some minor repair work may still be done before shipping. Clothing should be delivered in boxes to the former Institute of Government building on East Franklin Street between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. any day this week, from Monday, November 26, through Saturday, December 1. Members of many civic, campus, and church groups will help with the sorting and packaging.

'Adopt a Family' For Yule Cheer

Bicycles - tricycles - wagons - these are children's delights.

This year the Junior Service League wants "rolling stock" for the Empty Stocking Campaign. Has your child outgrown that tricycle? What are you going to do with the bicycle that needs repairs and that Santa just might replace? Let the Empty Stocking have them. If it needs repairs, the League will have it done.

In the past a call was put out for any broken toys. This had to be stopped due to the impossibility of obtaining necessary parts for the various types received. But any good used toys are badly needed.

If you have any repairable wagons, tricycles, bicycles and the like please call Mrs. Donald Stanford, 8-2657, or Mrs. John Crittenden, 8-0275 and arrangements will be made to pick the items up.

If you have not yet adopted your family, read the cases in the Weekly and you will realize how desperate the need is. Then call Mrs. John Crittenden and adopt a family.

Some of the needy families follow:

Mr. S. is an eighty-year-old man who is completely alone. He lost his wife several years ago, and recently his only son died. He used to come to the Welfare Department for companionship and for help with his problems. Recently he became so sick that he was assigned to a nursing home. Having no family, his only Christmas cheer will come from the Empty Stocking Fund.

Mrs. I. and her three grandchildren live together. Their father deserted them, and their mother has been in a mental hospital nearly five years. The children visit her occasionally and hope she may be able to come home some day. They are planning what they can make for her for Christmas. Mrs. I. sends her grandchildren to school dressed as nicely as possible and is careful that they have books, etc. She also takes pride in having them take presents at Thanksgiving and Christmas, "for those less fortunate," when baskets are made up. Mrs. I. wants the children to have some fun things at Christmas and knows that she cannot afford to buy them. Last year she made a special trip to the Welfare Department to thank the Empty Stocking Fund for the Christmas they provided for the children.

Mrs. K. is a withered, drawn little woman of eighty-two who is completely paralyzed. Her strength is failing rapidly. Only one of her four children is still living and he is unable to help her. Out of the assistance she receives from the Welfare Department she pays someone to come in and feed and bathe her. When a nursing home is suggested she smiles and says, "No, I must die here where John and I lived our life together and raised our family." Mrs. K. will spend Christmas alone in her little house. Perhaps some gifts from the Empty Stocking Fund will cheer her for that day as she remembers other Christmases when her husband and family were there with her.

Mr. and Mrs. D. have nine children. Mr. D. works at a laboring job, earning about $35 a

Carrboro PTA to See Book Program

Miss Agnes Andrews, third grade teacher, will have charge of the program at the Carrboro Parent-Teacher Association meeting tonight (Tuesday) at the Carrboro Elementary School, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Andrews will present some of her students and members of the library committee in a program in keeping with National Children's Book Week, which is under way this week.

Block Printing Workshop

The Community Club's Block Printing Workshop will meet at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday) at the home of Mrs. R. C. Bose at 108 Jones Street.

Red Cross Accepts Money for Relief

The Chapel Hill Chapter of the American Red Cross is accepting contributions of money only for Hungarian relief, Chairman J. T. Gobel announced yesterday.

Persons wishing to make contributions to the Red Cross, which is furnishing housewares and foodstuffs to the Hungarians, may send their checks to the chapter office at 138 1/2 East Franklin St.

picked up should call the Community Club office between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. any day this week. Checks made out to the American Friends Service Committee and earmarked "For Hungarian Relief" may be mailed.

Over the past week our AFSC personnel have done an amazing job of assembling supplies destined for Hungarian relief. The following list will indicate the strenuous time they have been having. We thought you would welcome this information which will be followed from time to time with reports of activities to-date.

1. Over 50,000 pounds of clothing and bedding in our Vienna warehouse are being distributed, as well as about 75,000 pounds powdered milk, cheese, butter, butter oil, shortening, rice, beans and cottonseed oil, all of which is surplus food donated by the U. S. Government and previously shipped by us.

2. $22,000 worth of relief supplies were purchased in Vienna by our staff to fill urgent needs.
